A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York Rivers; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in river still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS, Proprietors.

Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 37.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

MESSAGE OF GOV. WOODBURY.—Mr. Woodbury was governor in 1823. Mr. Bell had been governor four years. There was some division in selecting a candidate for a successor. A State Convention for nominating was not known then. Mr. Dinsmore of Keene was supported by many and most earnestly by Isaac Hill of the N. H. Patriot. Others were earnest for Levi Woodbury of Portsmouth.

Mr. Woodbury was a native of Francestown, was educated for the law and commenced practice in Portsmouth in 1813. He was a young man of great promise and at an early age was placed on the Bench as one of the judges of the Superior Court.

When Mr. Woodbury was proposed as governor various influences helped to induce it. A few were desirous of getting him from the Bench. But more were aware of his eminent fitness. He was popular with the people. It was not a time of great party spirit. In 1822 the party called Federalist made no show of opposition to the re-election of Gov. Bell. He was chosen by nearly a unanimous vote. In 1823 that party made no nomination for governor, but somewhat largely supported Mr. Woodbury. In the election he had 16,985 votes, Mr. Dinsmore 12,728 and there were 240 scattering.

The message of the governors previous to that year were generally respectable State papers. They were usually brief.—In a plain way noticing matters of public interest and making such suggestions as deemed advisable. But the message of Gov. Woodbury in 1823 was the most able, dignified, scholarly and business-like documents of any up to that time. Its length was considerable for that period, but none too long for the important subjects treated, and demanding the attention of the legislature to which it was addressed.

At almost the commencement the Governor made known that it was among the most sacred of his principles that knowledge should be diffused generally, that there should be equality of rights; liberty of conscience; and those in office should be held strictly accountable for their acts.

He went into the free school system with great ability, and urged legislation to bring forward the system to greater perfection. He suggested measures for obtaining statistics of the schools as to the books used, studies pursued, the number, sex and age of the scholars. This so far as we know was the first suggestion of the kind, from a Governor or any one else in New Hampshire. Years passed before anything in this direction was carried into effect, but lasting honor belongs to the name of Gov. Woodbury for his wisdom, sagacity and enlightened statesmanship in this matter.

Next in importance, he took a view of the Agricultural interests. Here again he was original. The beaten paths others had trodden were not enough for him. He struck for new and unexplored regions, for progress in right. So he urged an agricultural survey of the State. This he thought would determine what kinds of cultivation would be most useful; also what kinds of grain and stock would be best adapted to different peculiarities of our soil and climate. He closed the agricultural portion of his message by urging the raising bread-stuffs enough for home use. Also the keeping of sheep and thus obtaining wool. Also that the Leghorn for hats and bonnets could be raised here as in Italy. Also that vegetables of our own production might be a substitute for tea and coffee, and help lessen the enormous expense for these articles.

The Governor was aware of the advantages of inland commerce and called attention to a long contemplated canal between Lake Winnepesaukee and Piscataqua River.

The excellent management of the State Prison was commended, but further improvements in the criminal code were needed. The due organization and discipline of the Militia and the importance of the Judiciary were well noticed. He thought there was occasion for rejoicing that measures had been adopted to establish a State Library; and closed by urging the legislature to foster all the great interests of the State and thus it would become grand and prosperous.

Mr. Woodbury was Governor but one year. The State has had a number that could have been better spared from this office than he; but it is a satisfaction to know that in the higher places of Senator in Congress, member of the Presidential Cabinet and Judge of the U. S. Supreme Court he was more useful than he could have been in the highest office of the State.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $6. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of the railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EDEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal ticket offices in the line, and the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

GRAND GIFT CONCERT

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT	$100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT	50,000
One Gift of	$25,000
One Gift of	20,000
One Gift of	19,000

446 Gifts of $100 each	44,600
721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co. for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $498,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,600 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Numbers and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be well protected, as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf8s16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

SUPPOSED MURDER.—The quiet of Plaistow has been again disturbed with the report of a fight and probable murder, although the Coroner's jury could not find sufficient proof of the latter or an attempted murder to hold any one. The circumstances are substantially as follows:—On Friday last, one Michael Howard, of Haverhill, being about to go to Kingston, for a load of wood, asked a Scotchman, three weeks over, to take a ride "for pleasure." The name of the latter was David Cronin. From all that we can learn the wood was got and "the drink," and the time passed pleasantly until the return trip, when trouble arose about a hen that was given Cronin by Mrs. John Jones living near "Hampstead Handle." At what spot on the road angry discussion arose it is extremely difficult to decide; but when the two, Howard and Cronin, got in the vicinity of Sweet Hill crossing on the Boston and Maine railroad, they came to blows. Here, Howard says in his testimony before the Coroner and jury, "the struck Cronin three times and persuaded him to keep still." After this it appears that the latter was quiet and continued so until he died, which was about midnight on Saturday. Evidence went to show that he fell from the load of wood, and that in one way or another he received a severe wound on the head amounting to a facture of the skull which caused his death. But we understand there was no proof that Howard inflicted the wound. Cronin, it is said, remained on the road some four hours after he fell from Howard's cart, no one appearing to care or no one daring to take him up until midnight. He lived nearly twenty-four hours. As soon as possible after death ensued, Coroner W. H. Hills summoned a jury, consisting of Levi B. Tucker, Lowell Emerson and John Bradley, and an inquest was held. After advancing all the evidence possible the jury found a verdict, the exact purport of which we are unable to give. Suffice it that there was no sufficient evidence against Howard to hold him for trial. Cronin was buried on Monday. He was 33 years of age. He held pension papers from the English government on account of services in the army.—Haverhill Bulletin.

VERMONT DIVISION
OF THE
PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG
TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing they combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Eye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the decree of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that whenever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for use, can is quickened into healthful vigor.

In the subjoined testimonials there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalids is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. He philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two agencies with which the disease of the invalid is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up to healthful action from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and impregnates with its food, digestion is now progressing, without its previous torture. Dispeptics, patients, and invalids begin to seem to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the grateful nourishment never yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the finished and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, stops forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a very moderate room, eat well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Dr. Schenck's advice is followed in this section of the country in the fall and winter months, and all the physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they cannot be given quite; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the cure, and is the great point of gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal attendance to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; I could not lay my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week. I then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton, my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer decides the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Prepare these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Or returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats is alone, but in a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

POPERY.

THE FOE OF THE CHURCH AND REPUBLIC. What is to be done. What it is doing and what it means to do. Power. Its despotism. Its infallibility. Its frauds. Its relics. Its miracles. Its idolatry. Its persecutions. Its hatred of our public schools and of our religious liberty. Its startling crimes. Its horrid wickedness, and ITS NEW RIOTS.

A book that is wanted everywhere. We want agents to introduce it in every county at once, and will pay them liberally. Send for circular. Address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 274 Main St., Springfield, Mass. au9 4w

JURUBEBA

IT IS NOT A PHYSIC!—It is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such. IT IS A SOUTH AMERICAN plant that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy as a POWERFUL ALTERATIVE and UNEQUALLED PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the

LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, STRUMOUS OR SCROFULATION OF THE BLOOD, ABSCESSES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

is offered to the public as a great invigorator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system; it gives health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 4w au9

THE CHICAGO EVENING MAIL is a remarkable success, being only a year old and having the largest circulation of any Chicago paper. Its enterprising proprietors have now re-enlarged it and start it on the second year as a two cent paper. We do not doubt its continued success.

A SECRET ORGANIZATION which styles itself "The Union League of the United States of America" has been formed in Cincinnati. It is composed of individuals who are opposed to the Roman Catholic Church, its precepts and practices. To what extent the League is likely to flourish we are not advised. It differs from Know Nothingism in so far that it takes in persons of all nationalities.

POLITICAL.

The Lafayette, Indiana, Journal, speaking of the election in that State next October, says: "The contest will be very hot, as Indiana will be one of the principal battle-fields of the Presidential campaign; but we believe the imbecility and knavery of the last Democratic Legislature—than which there never was a more malignant and puerile public body)—have so opened the eyes of the people that it will be hardly possible for the Democrats to win. The planderers who have been robbing the New York city treasury at the rate of ten millions a year, in the matter of four items alone, will not bleed so freely, now their thievery is exposed and put a stop to, for the benefit of the Democracy of other States, and Indiana will consequently be less a field of political corruption, all of which will redound to the interest of the Republican party."

COUNTY ITEMS.—In Raymond, the hay harvest is completed, and farmers are having some leisure. The crop is much below the average, the high ground falling short at least one fourth or one third. Oats and barley are good, as also winter rye. Of this last, however, but few raise, and what is raised is mostly on burnt ground. Corn promises well, also potatoes. The rust is appearing on the vines of many potato fields. This is prejudicial to their growth and is sometimes followed by the rot. Some are sure the potato bug has come, but no one has satisfied us that the "critter" has been seen.

The Congregational church in Chester, a few days ago, had the installation of Rev. Charles Tenney, late of Biddeford, Me., as pastor. He is the eleventh in the order of succession over that church. The sermon on the occasion was by Rev. S. Tenney, D. D., of Ellsworth, Me.

In Epping some matters of interest are transpiring. A new store near the West Epping Depot has been opened, and goods are selling to such advantage to buyers that many go there to trade. Mr. Stephen Holt, in that neighborhood, has sold this season 70 bushels of huckleberries. The Camp Meeting is to commence in a few days at its usual place. A number of new cottages have been erected and about 30 families are residing on the ground as a place for summer resort, and to enjoy the meeting when it shall be held.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter, by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been inoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill offered for sale.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Medical Mistakes.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a sterling vegetable tonic. So, also, with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economising both cash and health.

Note the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk, and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residences, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old battery, and a light-house beacon. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

SAID A YORK COUNTY REPUBLICAN in our office, Monday,—"I expected to be away from home, at the next election, but since I have learned of the nomination of John E. Messrs. Editors:—You ask in Saturday's Chronicle if the Democratic Aldermen who voted against taking a new census of the City, were afraid it would be found that Wards One and Two would prove to have 2100 rateable polls;—a very pertinent question. Now I would like to have the Republican Aldermen who opposed it give their reasons for so doing. REPRESENTATION.

THE STREET on Noble's Island, between the two bridges, has been a shocking bad affair ever since we can remember, but we are happy to say that a vast improvement has recently been made in that quarter, and that decent wheeling will hereafter be found there instead of the uneven, rocky surface of which all former passers over that route have so vivid a memory. Not a day too soon.

IN RESPONSE to a communication from Rev. George W. Bicknell asking to be dismissed from the pastorate of the Universalist Church, a parish meeting was held on Sunday and the dismissal was granted. Our citizens regret in common with the attendants of the Universalist Church the loss of an esteemed and able man. Mr. Bicknell leaves none but friends behind, who wish him prosperity always and everywhere.

IS THE INCREASED MORTALITY in this city, among children especially, due to the Mill Pond nuisance? If so, are not prompt measures necessary to abate it? We hear that the residents across the North Pond are moving energetically in the matter, deeming their lives in danger. A large petition is to be presented to the City Council to abate the nuisance. Let every citizen join in advocacy of the measure and sign it. We would walk five miles to do so. 'Tis better for the City to act promptly than to await indictment. This one fact is evident—the nuisance must be abated. The longer the delay, the more will be the cost.

FORT CONSTITUTION is as desolate a spot as we desire to see about Portsmouth. The new and unfinished ramparts, erected to be torn down, enclose dwellings old and—not quite so old. Confusion seems to reign, except among the ordnance, which the veteran Sergeant Davidson, who long ago merited a Captaincy in the Army, keeps in apple pie order, neatly painted and artistically arranged. The Sergeant is the hero of Fort Constitution and Government neglects both. As the lady said, "If one feather is so hard to lie on, what would a feather bed be?"—so say we in comparison; if the Sergeant furbishes up what he has in charge and cares for it as his own, what might we expect were he in charge of more? He certainly is capable of using more than one talent well.

THE LAST STONE in the new lighthouse at Whales-back was laid on Saturday. The first was laid in June. Almost as if by magic the structure has arisen from old Neptune's bosom until it is a fixed fact. Capt. A. J. Day, of Portland, the government superintendent, has applied himself diligently to the work, and while our citizens have wondered if it would be finished next summer, lo, he announces the completion of the stone work. The new house is larger at the top and smaller at the base than the old one, and is sixty-two feet in height. It is built of granite and is five feet thick at the base. It is much stronger than the old one, which had given indications of weakness, the foundation settling perceptibly. The new house is firmly cemented two feet into the ledge. The only apparent element of weakness in the new structure is the location of the lower windows, which however, may not be a serious defect, as heavy iron shutters are to be put on. The upper portion of the old house is to be taken down and the basement will be used for a store room, and perhaps for a steam fog whistle. Machinists will soon be at work on a six week's job on the iron work at the top of the new house, when the machinery and light will be put in and the building be ready for occupancy.

THE NICE PLUMBING WORK in the reconstructed Franklin House was performed by Mr. P. A. McCarthy, an excellent artizan in that line.

HAMILTON CAMP MEETING commences to-day. Trains leave the Eastern depot for Asbury Grove at 6.15 and 8.20, A. M., and 6, P. M.; returning at 8.20, A. M., 12.45, 3.50 and 5.35, P. M. Tickets may be purchased at reduced rates at the Ticket office; free return tickets will be furnished at the Camp ground.

FOR MAYOR, to be elected in November, we hear mentioned the names of Messrs. Horton D. Walker, Joseph H. Thacher, Albert A. Fernald, Thomas E. O. Marvin, Frank W. Miller and Thos. S. Nowell. Let us have the man who will poll the largest vote and show our brethren throughout the State what Portsmouth Republicans can do when they make up their minds to do it.

WE ARE OF THE OPINION that the City has its foot rather deeply in the Firemen's Muster, and if $3000 will pay the expenses after the contributions of our citizens have been exhausted we do not propose to mourn, for there is a unanimous feeling that the affair must be carried out creditably to all concerned. It wasn't legal, you know, to appropriate $100 of the City's money for the celebration of the Ninety-Fourth Anniversary of American Independence—but it is very legal to spend from $500 to $3000 for a trial of engines, by charging it to the Contingent Fund. Wisdom and the 19th century are one.

POMPEY is a horse—a gentle, sleepy, good-natured jog-trotter, with a convenient memory as far as the whip-lash is concerned. The easiest thing for him to understand in the English language is the word "whoa!" At work he is a patient, docile quadruped, humble and faithful. By day, he appears as if he would not appropriate a single morsel of food if he thought his master would disapprove of it. By night he practices cunning until he is an adept at feats of dexterity. He has a wide stall and has been kept therein by two stout ropes stretched across it. Sunday night, Pompey was hungry and he managed to loosen his halter, then turn around, untie the knot in the lower rope, crawl under the upper one and he was a free horse. He wandered about from stable to carriage room and finally wandered back to his stall and crawled in under the rope. His master hearing the noise, went into the stable and re-fastened him. Pompey coaxed for hay and got it, but in the morning his nose was covered with mashed potato and meal he had pilfered during the night.

SOME TIME AGO the city sold to the Concord Railroad, at a nominal price, certain wharf property at the North End, saddled with the one condition that the Corporation should build and maintain a suitable public landing for boats. The landing was made—a good one; but the boatmen now complain that it is useless for all practical purposes, as they are prevented access to it by numerous mooring lines stretched from vessels at the wharves across the entrance to the dock where it is situated. We have heard that another landing has been made for their convenience, somewhere in the vicinity, but if so the boatmen have not become generally aware of it, and we failed to find it on enquiry and personal search in the neighborhood. We did, however, see four ropes extending across the dock entrance, in such a way as to make it impossible for a boat to get in or out with the mast stepped, and difficult (and even dangerous, in some states of the tide) for row-boats to manage it. A boat-landing on Market Square would be about equally useful with that one, just now. If there is another, the boatmen should be informed of it; if not, some better plan of securing vessels than running ropes across to distant wharves, should be devised.

WE ARE REQUESTED to state that Representative John Lynch of Maine had nothing whatever to do with the selection of persons for removal, in the recent changes at this Navy Yard, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

AUCTION SALE OF STUFFED BIRDS.—The beautiful and life-like collection of birds on exhibition at the Sales Room of Henry F. Wendell is attracting much attention from our citizens. There is certainly no ornament more elegant or appropriate for the parlor or cabinet, and Mr. Galbraith, the skillful naturalist by whom they were prepared, will no doubt receive the encouragement and patronage his experience and skill so well deserves. The sale opens this morning at 10 o'clock, and will be continued Wednesday at the same hour.

THE CITY CENSUS.—Messrs. Editors: I was much surprised, as were many others, on reading in your report of the doings of the Aldermen last week, that the proposition to retake the census of Portsmouth had been defeated—for that I suppose is what is meant by its indefinite postponement. As the CHRONICLE had approved the measure, I have looked for some editorial comment from you on its defeat, but have seen nothing save an item inferring that it was defeated by the Democratic Aldermen for political reasons, lest a new census should show a larger population, or rather, more rateable polls in Wards One and Two than were acknowledged by the Democrats when they wished to expel a few Republican members from the late Legislature. I have enquired what objections, if any, were made by its opponents; and if the information I received is correct, though there were plenty of objections to the retaking of the census there were no valid reasons.

One objection was that the City could not give a census-taker the necessary legal power for demanding the required information. To this I will attempt but one answer; "I don't believe it."

Another objection was, that it would be an unnecessary expense of money, and the result of no use to the city. Now one of the last places to which a man would go to invest capital, is a city which is going down hill; and a city which is decreasing in population is going down hill, beyond question. If the population of this city has increased, as many others beside myself believe, instead of having decreased, as the late census seems to show, then $150 or $200 would be well laid out in proving it.

A third objection, and a strange one, was that if a new census should show that we have a larger population than we are now credited with, we should have to pay a larger proportion of the State and county taxes. To this I will answer, that no honest man would object to paying his fair proportion of the taxes, and any attempt to shirk a portion by making or allowing false reports as to population would react in a reduction of representation and thus of influence in legislative matters, which no one will pretend is a benefit. Besides, the State and county taxes are apportioned on valuation, not on population.

As another objection, one of the Aldermen from Ward Three drew a pathetic picture of the perils to which the census-taker would be exposed and the maltreatment he would receive, even to the extent of being spat upon and being "kicked off the premises, as he ought to be!" To this one of the Republican Aldermen retorted that possibly the previous speaker's constituents would treat a man in that way if they dared, but he did not believe such savages resided in Wards One and Two. And I answer that a trusty man could be found to take the census and the risk, and that the U. S. census-taker was neither spat upon nor kicked off the premises, during his canvass of the city.

My opinion is—and it is shared by many—that the real reason for opposing the retaking of the census was carefully avoided by the Democratic gentlemen who succeeded in defeating the measure. They and the leaders of their party feared that one of its results would be to show that the expulsion from the Legislature of the Republican members from Wards One and Two, was the high-handed outrage the Republicans claimed it to be.

The "illegal," "expensive" and "perilous" objections were but trumped up to cover the real objection. The Republicans have loudly asserted the right of Wards One and Two to four Representatives each; the Democrats have been louder still in denying that right; and the action on this question shows that however the case may really be, the Republicans are honest in their assertions while the Democrats are not.

FAIR PLAY.

A POLITICAL SUCCESS—On to Washington.

PERSONAL.—Paymaster General Edward T. Dunn, U. S. N., was in town, Monday.

THAT EXCURSION TO WELLS BEACH comes off to-day. It is a nice trip and we hope the Bateman will carry out a boat load. She will leave Long Wharf at 9 o'clock. Tickets $1, for sale by A. W. Odiorne, at the boat.

WE ARE INFORMED by the Secretary that Frank W. Miller, Esq., of this city, has been appointed Chief Marshal of the New Hampshire State Fair, to be held at Dover, Sept. 26, 27, 28 and 29. Edward D. Coffin, Esq., has been appointed an Assistant Marshal.

THE MUSTER.

It is probable that the trial of engines will take place on Wibird or Hawthorn Streets, the water to be obtained from the ice-pond of Mr. Simon Marston, on South Road. It will probably be necessary to sink a tank on Wibird Street.

BASE BALL.—The Rye Beach Nine, composed of young gentlemen stopping at the various houses in Rye, have challenged the Kearsarge Club of this city to play a friendly game of ball at Rye on Wednesday P. M., Aug. 23d, at half past 2 o'clock. The match will take place in G. H. Jenness' field, adjoining his saloon. A good game and a large crowd may be expected.

IT IS NOW THE GENERAL IMPRESSION that Mr. Charles E. T. Yeaton strayed away in the country, and may yet be found. On the evening of the 10th, when he was first missed, several persons from Greenland, with whom he was acquainted, passed a man walking towards this city about 9 o'clock. In the darkness they did not recognize him, but noticed that his dress answered the description of that worn by Mr. Yeaton that night. Returning an hour after, they passed the same man retracing his steps towards Greenland. This seems to be the last time he was seen.

A SLIGHT SMASH-UP came off on Monday, about 6 o'clock in the afternoon, on Richards Avenue, caused by a man seeing (through several glasses, darkly,) a road where there wasn't one, and attempting to follow it. A tree got in his way, broke a shaft of his wagon and one of the traces, and piled the wagon up on top of him. He presented a rueful appearance when he was pulled from beneath the heap by several kindly disposed young men, who nailed a cleat on the shaft, tied the broken trace, stowed the driver in his wagon and sent him on his way, rejoicing not too muchly.

Messrs. Editors:—Do you always receive strangers visiting your city with such a tremendous volume of perfume as was diffused through the atmosphere on Saturday evening? Not knowing the cause of the powerful odor I supposed the train had slaughtered a whole litter of Mephitis chinga, and hoped the pungent flavor would become modified by the progress of the cars through a purer atmosphere. But a short drive through Islington Street, proved the theory wrong, and that it was a miasma, most horribly offensive, pervading the neighborhood. Very few persons expose themselves to a second inhalation of the same if it could possibly be avoided, but for steady respiration it must be an unmitigated nuisance. It is fortunate that cold weather is approaching, or provision would be necessary to combat a pestilence.

A VISITOR.

THAT POPULAR FRUIT, the grape, is already in the market, and will soon be seen in abundance. We wish grapes would last all the year, and the Chinese method is said to be the best way of making them do so. The system involves the procurementocity of a ripe pumpkin. Cut a circular hole in it, large enough to admit the hand, make a pumpkin-shell of the late pumpkin, i. e. withdraw the mushy contents from the inside and deposit the seeds on a board, two feet by forty, exposed to a North-east wind. Thoroughly cleanse the inside of the shell with water obtained from the North pond at low tide. After being cleansed and dried, fill the shell with bunches of ripe grapes, replace the piece cut out and keep the refilled shell in a cool, dry place. Hire a Chinaman one hour each day for several weeks to watch the seeds. When they are thoroughly dried, throw them into the pond from which the water was taken, and—discharge the Chinaman. One year from that date, uncover the grapes and you won't know whether they are beans or quahaugs.

MOUNT SINAI ENCAMPMENT, No. 19, I. O. O. F., have just received an elegant new regalia from the firm of John Raynes & Co., Lowell. It consists of a chapeau, a collar of purple velvet trimmed with gold fringe, gauntlets, belt of purple morocco and sword with gold burnished scabbard. The Encampment was organized April 1st and has now about 60 members.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York Rivers; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel about the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS, Proprietors.

Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. je10

APPLEDORE HOUSE,

ISLES OF SHOALS. Open June 20th. Much enlarged and improved since last season.

The swift steamer APPLEDORE, Capt. Baker, will leave Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, at 11 o'clock A. M., returning in season to connect with the cars.

3mdje17 O. & C. LAIGHTON.

N. B. The Appledore will make regular Saturday evening trips to the Shoals, as in previous years, leaving the wharf at ½ o'clock and returning to the city the same night, commencing on the 1st of July.

GREAT REDUCTION IN SEA SHORE PRICES,

OCEAN HOUSE, Rye Beach, N. H., $3 PER DAY.

New Omnibus Line from Greenland Station, Portsmouth & Concord R. R., connects with all the trains. Only direct line to the Hotel. Fare 50 cts.; Baggage free.

ON THE TOWN.

BY RICHARD HENRY STODDARD.

The lamps are lighted, the streets are full,
For, coming and going, like waves of the sea,
Thousands are out this beautiful night;
They jostle each other, but shrink from me.
Men hurry by with a stealthy glance,
Women pass with their eyes cast down;
Even the children seem to know
The shameless girl of the town.

Hated and shunned I walk the street,
Hunting,—for what? For my prey, 'tis said;
I look at it though in a different light,
For this mighty shame is my daily bread:—
My food, my shelter, the clothes I wear,
Only for this I might starve or drown;
The word has disowned me,—what can I do
But live and die on the town?

The world is cruel. It may be right
To crush the harlot, but, grant it so,
What made her the guilty thing she is?
For she was innocent once, you know.
'Twas love!—that terrible word tells all!
She loved a man and blindly believed
His vows, his kisses, his crocodile tears,—
Of course the fool was deceived!

What had I to gain by a moment's sin,
To weigh in the scale with my innocent years,
My womanly shame, my ruined name,
My father's curses, my mother's tears?
The love of a man!—It was something to give,
Was it worth it? The price was a soul paid down,—
Did I get a soul, his soul in exchange?
Behold me here on the town!

"Your guilt was heavy," the world will say,
"And heavy, heavy your doom must be;
For to pity and pardon woman's fall
Is to set no value on chastity.
You undervalue the virgin's crown,
The spotless honor that makes her dear."
But I ought to know what the bauble is worth,
When the loss of it brings me here.

But pity and pardon? Who are you
To talk of pardon, pity to me?
What I ask is justice, justice, Sir,—
Let both be punished, or both go free.
If it be in woman a dreadful thing,
What is it in man, now? Come, be just:
(Remember, she falls through her love for him,
He, through his selfish lust!)

Tell me what is done to the wretch
Who tempts, and riots in woman's fall?
His father curses, and casts him off?
His friends forsaken? He is scorned of all?
Not he: his judges are men like himself,
Or thoughtless women, who humor their whim:
"Young blood," "Wild oats," "Better hush it up:"
They soon forgot it,—in him!

Even his mother, who ought to know
The woman-nature, and how it is won,
Frames a thousand excuses for him,
Because, forsooth, the man is her son!
Have your daughters, Madam (he told me so),
Fair innocent daughters, — "Woman, what then?"
Some mother may have a son like yours,
Did them beware of men!

I saw his coach in the street to-day,
Dashing along on the sunny side,
With a liveried driver on the box;
Lolling back in her listless pride,
The wife of his bosom took the air.
She was bought in the mart where hearts are sold.
I gave myself away for his love,
She sold herself for his gold!

He lives, they say, in a princely way,
Flattered and feasted. One dark night
Some devil led me to pass his house:
I saw the windows a blaze of light;
The music whirled in a maddening round,
I heard the fall of the dancers' feet:
Bitter, bitter, the thoughts I had Standing there in the street!

Back to my gandy den I went,
Marched to my room in grim despair,
Dried my eyes, painted my cheeks,
And fixed a flower or two in my hair.
Corks were popping, wine was flowing,
I seized a bumper, and tossed it down:
One must do something to kill the time,
And fit one's self for the town!

I meet his boy in the park sometimes,
And my heart runs over towards the child;
A frank little fellow with fearless eyes,
He smiles at me as his father smiled!
I hate the man, but I love the boy,
For I think what my own had lived, would be:
Perhaps it is he, come back from the dead,—
To his father, alas, not me!

But I stand too long in the shadow here;
Let me out in the light again.
Now for insult, blows, perhaps,
And bitterer still, my own disdain.
I take my place in the crowded street,
Not like the simple women I see:—
You may cheat them, men, as much as you please,
You wear no masks with me!

I know ye! Under your honeyed words
There lurks a serpent; your oaths are lies;
There's a lustful fire in your hungry hearts,
I see it flaming up in your eyes!
Cling to them, ladies, and shrink from me,
Or rail at my boldness. Well, have you done?
Madam, your husband knows me well,
Mother, I know your son!

But go your ways, and I'll go mine;
Call me opprobrious names if you will;
The truth is bitter, think I have lied:
"A harlot?" Yes! bet a woman still!
God said of old to a woman like me
"Go, sin no more," or your Bibles lie;
But you, you mangle his merciful words
To "Go, and sin till you die!"

Die!—the word has a pleasant sound,
The sweetest I've heard this many a year.
It seems to promise an end to pain;
Anyway it will end it here!
Suppose I throw myself in the street?
Before the horses could trample me down,
Some would-be friend might snatch me up,
And thrust me back on the town!

But look—the river! From where I stand
I see it, I almost hear it flow.
Down on the dark and lonely pier—
It is but a step—I can end my woe!
A plunge, a splash, and all will be o'er,
The death-black waters will drag me down;
God knows where! But no matter where,
So I am off the town!

600,000 ACRES

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $10 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys and then is paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

By authority of a special act of the Legislature of Kentucky, of March 13, 1871, the Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky will give a

GRAND GIFT CONCERT

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - $100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - 50,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or express, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed; I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 16th, 1870, and turned over $12,600 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the number next drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts in all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100 blank numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizens' Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying out all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfebl6

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the STRENG 'EM UP.

BY V LOSSY FRED.

Of all the arts an' sciences, an' many's mighty curus,
None beats me hafe so bad as that which all the parsons 'sure us
Was 'vented by th' Olmighty in a dofty kind o' way,
For gettin' rid o' them whose record's slightly orf O. K.
This cuttin' throtes an' pisinin', or blowing folks' brains out,
Then sweepin' up an' puttin' straight an' washin' all the stains out,
'S a pecul'ar line o' bisness wot was opened up by Cain;
But, God didn't go a murd'rin' him to set things slick again!
With judge an' jury, prisin grub, an' pedlers o' religin,
The Nineteenth Cent'ry makes a chap as harmless as a pigin;
An' stuffs him for the gallus in a pious sort o' way.
Jes' as a farmer stuffs his turkies for Thanksgivin's Day.
With proclaim', prayin', talkin' to, airly an' late
(A patint system which them airthly sents calls christenin!)
They fix him so he, 'n parson slang, the soul's Bethesda Pool,
That, side 'o him, winged Gabriel 'ad look a puffick fool.
Bethesda Pool! a kin' o' rinsin' ollers done without soap;
Hung out to dry for hafe an hour a danglin' from a stout rope!
En Watt's Hymns there's one, I mind, about a dirty child—
Jemminy! wouldn't this gallus washin' jes' hev' med him riled.
See here now! Ef the streng-piece of a feller's soul's not level—
Why send him on a speshil train, without breaks, to the devil?
An' of yer've med him spick-an'-span like—I don't see no show
In shippin' him to Hev'nly ports: there's markets here below.
The punishment! Wheer's thet, tu, of salvashin's universal,
In 'xpressin' him straight off to wheere he'll find it pack and parcel?
An' of there's no hereafter, nor no hev'nly courts and yards,
Yer's like the chilr wot topples down the house it's built o' cards.
Now, what I want's to know's jes' this: When chaps hev' git a thru' pass
To Heav'n, wot's the hurry fer in putt'n' 'em under blue grass?
The Anglis waitin, at the Gate's got 'tarnity ahead.
Ah' a few years more or less o' waitin' wouldn't kill 'em dead.
I's pose the gran' trunk line o' Hev'n run on a lib'ral tariff,
An' the Comp'ny's Pres'dent wouldn't hev' a very violent scare if
A feller let his pass run out an', used it all the same—
Them cussed soul's conductors 'd be the only folks to blame.

THE REPORTED DISCOVERY of several thousand bottles of very old and rare Madeira wine in a concealed closet in the residence of the late David Sears, on Beacon Street, Boston, will tickle the fancy of many an epicure. The building is about to become the Somerset Club House. In finishing the attics the ceiling was so constructed as to leave a considerable place just under the ridgepole, access to which could be obtained by a locked and concealed door. The workmen found a key by which the door was opened, and discovered in this strange place of deposit one hundred and thirty-two dozen bottles of wine. None of the surviving members of the Sears family have ever known of the use of the place for any purpose, and it is supposed that the late owner put the wine there soon after the house was built—perhaps fifty or sixty years ago, when the cost was but a trifle.

—Mr. Elihu Burritt, figuring upon statistics, comes to the following tremendous generalization: Twenty-six hundred millions of dollars a year for Mars, against perhaps twenty six millions for Messiah.—Exchange.

We have always been of the opinion that Messiah could get along without money. Perhaps Mars cannot, being quarrelsome.

—An old bachelor, having been laughed at by a bevy of pretty girls, told them that they were small potatoes. "We may be small potatoes," replied one of the maidens, "but we are sweet ones."

—As an argument in favor of polygamy, a Mormon father in Salt Lake City shows a child six months old weighing forty pounds and measuring twenty-six inches around the waist.

—A client remarked to his solicitor, "You are writing my bill on very rough paper, sir." "Never mind," was the reply of the latter, "it is to be filed before it comes into court."

—An Irishman, quarrelling with an Englishman, told him that if he didn't hold his tongue, he would break his impenetrable head and let the brains out of his empty skull.

—The New Orleans car conductors talked of getting up a club, but the companies interfered, as they thought the conductors could knock down enough already.

Styled the

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every species of mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on easy payment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Elliot, Newmarket, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. These near and dear to them, friends and kinds are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of every invalid who made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and noxious deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are thrown off. The liver, like a clerk, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsive, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chyification is now perfect. Nutrition takes the previous fortunes. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no more fermentation of the stomach. An appetite is.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an inspired father to a suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once into the blood. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the region throughout that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be guarded against, or there can not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet: they must talk about the weather as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well—and let the doctor do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure is as much evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, as it would certainly be in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty, in my case was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my friends thought that I could not live a week. Then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would cough more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only eighty-five pounds; now I present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He can be seen, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 8 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and your cure will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines neither need nor accompaniments than example instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning healthy hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers and models prepared on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of invention; also, opinions and advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of greatt alent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1871.

THE NEW YORK TIMES has opened its inexhaustible batteries on the Tammany republicans, or the officers of one of the rival republican committees of the city of New York who are in one way or another in the pay of the ring. It charges by inference that this organization is kept up as a sort of cover to the worst extravagances of the ring, and for the sake of breaking the force of the public indignation in an emergency like the present. It also charges by implication that the committee is used as a shield in the election frauds committed in the Tammany interest, Mayor Hall selecting from its ranks all the inspectors of elections whom the law requires him to take from the republicans. Its direct charge that this organization is largely composed of and influenced by the stipendiaries of Mayor Hall and his associates, the Times offers to prove, and for that purpose challenges the production of the rolls, which are kept as secret as the Tammany pay-rolls themselves.

THE GREAT TUNNEL through the Sierra Nevada is to be 5 miles long, 19 feet high, and 21 feet wide. Its cost is to be $15,000,000. The contractor for the work, Colonel von Schmidt, is an engineer of some renown, whose principal works in this country have been the excavation of the famous San Francisco dry dock, blasted in a ledge of solid rock, and the demolition of Blossom Rock, San Francisco Bay, by submarine excavation and blasting. The Sierra tunnel will permit the passage of the Central Pacific Railroad track and a canal to supply San Francisco with water from Lake Tahoe.

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY has loaned the ships Delaware and Albany to the New York quarantine commissioners, to be stationed at quarantine, in the lower bay, for the detention of persons exposed to cholera.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

Amherst rejoices in a white and tuneful bobolink.

James Kaine fell dead while at work in a factory at Hooksett, on the 15th inst. He was thirty years old.

Salem has experienced a frost every month in the year thus far.

Two saw-mills have lately been erected on the eastern slope of Kearsarge Mountain, near its base.

W. E. Potter is arranging to introduce a party of Swedes into Manchester, in order to supply a demand for domestic help and for factory work.

There is a natural cave in Effingham which fills itself with ice in winter and affords a convenient supply for farmers in summer. It rarely gives out, except in long droughts.

On Sunday, at Newbury, Mr. J. P. Ely committed suicide by hanging himself to a tree in his pasture, where he went to catch a horse.

A Hampton correspondent of the Haverhill Bulletin says the son of Mr. Thaddeus Perkins who was crushed by trunks falling from a stage coach, is not dead, as reported, but on the contrary there is strong hope of his recovery.

The house and outbuildings of Mr. A. Marden, in Hill, were burned on Thursday night. Loss about $2000 and insured for $1200.

The National Eagle, published at Claremont, is now printed in an enlarged form. It has been published for thirty-six years.

The house of T. L. Pickering in Wakefield was burned a few nights since. There was $600 insurance on the property.

The examination of Michael Howard of Haverhill, Mass., on the charge of murdering David Cronin, was closed at Plaistow on Saturday afternoon. The evidence seemed to show that Cronin was drunk and fell off the cart, dying of his wounds. Howard was bailed in the sum of $2000. The Bulletin says he appeared in such a manner as to disarm suspicion. His testimony was clear and candid and he wore the appearance of a man who would rather save than take the life of any man. It is very doubtful if any indictment of any kind can be found against him.

Mr. Phineas W. Pettingill of South Acworth has recently built a new house. In the lumber used were four sticks sawed from a pine tree which was trimmed twenty-nine years ago with a jack-knife. As some of the sticks were thirty-seven feet long, the man whose jack-knife did the business deserves sympathy, even at this remote period, says the Patriot.

—If it is a small sacrifice to discontinue the use of wine, do it for the sake of others; if it is a great sacrifice, do it for your own.—Samuel J. May.

U. S. STEAMER GUERRIERE ran ashore on Vado Shoals, 16 miles southeast of Leghorn, on the afternoon of July 26th, in broad daylight. The officers and crew, assisted by two Italian men-of-war, worked incessantly to get the ship off until the afternoon of the 29th, when their efforts were rewarded with success. The vessel labored very hard for the twenty-four hours after running ashore, but the remainder of the time remained as if in a dry dock. The Guerriere is the vessel that ran ashore on Nantucket Shoals with the remains of Admiral Farragut on board. She is commanded by the officer who was then in charge. A letter in the Boston Post says the ship had a chart furnished at Washington, which stated that there were 13 fathoms of water where the Guerriere went ashore, when in reality there were but 13 feet of water there. The damage to the Guerriere is estimated at $75,000, which it seems should be charged to a mistake in the Navigation Department.

ONLY EIGHT MILES OF TRACK remains to be laid on the European and North American Railroad, which is between Danforth and the bridge in Bancroft. On the Vanceborough end, two trains are ballasting, aided by the steam shovel, which is located in the Dudley gravel pit, a short distance from the Calais road. On Tuesday night, the iron was laid through the village of Danforth, and the engine waked up the natives with its screams. All hands turned out and a general jubilee was had in honor of the arrival of the steam horse. On the other end the iron is laid to the bridge across the Mattawamkeag, in Bancroft. The piers and abutments for the bridge will be completed within a day or two, and the bridge will be immediately put in place.

THE BOARD OF INSPECTORS appointed by Secretary Boutwell to investigate the cause of the explosion of the boiler of the ferry-boat Westfield, in New York, have reported. They find that the engineer was guilty of carrying more steam than the inspector's certificate allowed, and make the superintendent of the ferry company share with him the blame for the accident. They recommend that each steamer have on board a supervising captain and engineer.

FORTY ACTIONS for damages have already been commenced in Brooklyn against the Staten Island Ferry Boat Company by the relatives of those who were either killed or injured by the Westfield explosion. It is expected that many of the cases will come up for trial in October, and little doubt seems to be entertained but that heavy damages will be recovered in every one of them.

KENTUCKY.—The official returns from all but six counties in the State give Leslie, Dem., 124,326, and Harlan, Repub., 87,907. The majorities for the Democrats thus far are as follows: Leslie, governor, 36,419; Carlisle, lieutenant-governor, 39,028; Rodman, attorney-general, 39,247; Smith, auditor, 39,520; Tate, treasurer, 39,163; Henderson, superintendent of public instruction, 39,655.

THE CORONER'S JURY in the case of George Williams, killed by the explosion of the boiler of the tug boat G. H. Starbuck, brought in a verdict of manslaughter against E. Clark Stratton, government inspector of boilers, and also against Engineer G. H. Mills. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Mills and Stratton.

A WOMAN passed through one of the streets of New Bedford, on her knees, one evening recently, bearing three lighted candles in each hand, and accompanied by a woman on each side, the operation being a religious penance in fulfilment of a vow for the safe return of her husband from a whaling voyage.

DR. H. T. HELMBOLD denies that he attempted to commit suicide at Long Branch recently as reported. He says, that while gunning, having discharged one barrel, he put his mouth to the barrel to clear it, and accidentally discharged the other barrel by touching the stock with his knee. His injuries are slight.

—They will joke in New York even about the swindles on the city treasury. One item complained of is $8000 for hatchets, and it is defended on the ground that they were ordered for the purpose of "cutting down excessive appropriations."

THE PRINCIPAL FAULT of the New York city Democracy is that each one is too Tam-many on election days.

DOLLIE BIDWELL is playing at the St. James theatre, Boston.

—Theodore Tilton having been requested by a Roman Catholic newspaper to publish a certain article "on the condition of the damned in hell," for the "benefit of the Puritans," declines to do so for the want of a reason. He says: "The Puritans know as much as there is to be known about hell. They were among the original founders of it."

—Mr. Micawber, a conspicuous personage in one of Dickens' works, was a great financier, in his way; for he paid his debts by simply appending his name to an oblong piece of paper, called a note. And the process afforded him infinite satisfaction. The Democrats propose, if afforded the opportunity, to liquidate the national debt in the same manner; but the Republicans not being able to perceive that a debt is paid so long as the proofs of its existence are afloat, are destroying those evidences at the rate of about eight million dollars a month.—Exch.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter, by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been innoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill offered for sale.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N. Y.

Medical Mistakes.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a sterling vegetable tonic. So, also, with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economising both cash and health.

Note the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk, and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

THAT DELIGHTFUL SEASIDE retreat known as the WOODMAN FARM, containing forty acres of land, a commodious, new and imposing house and convenient outbuildings, situated on the easterly side of Great Island, (Newcastle,) within a stone's throw of the ocean, and in full view of the "Isles of Shoals."

Also adjoining the same, "POINT JERRY," embracing ten acres of arable land extending far out into the sea, being the nearest point of land to the "Isles of Shoals," and forming the outside boundary of what is known as Little Harbor.

This is the most desirable spot on the seacoast for summer residence, possessing all the advantages of the world renowned "Isles of Shoals," in bracing atmosphere, deep sea fishing and surf-bathing on one side, while on the other is a smooth, hard beach and still water. There is also upon it a never failing pond of fresh water, an old apple orchard, and a light-house keeper. Roads always good and scenery unsurpassable.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds.

CAPT. BAKER'S BENEFIT comes off to-morrow in Steamer Appledore. Give him a good one; he deserves it.

DR. GEORGE HILL is again ensconced in the old locality so long occupied by the late Brackett Hutchings. The stores of Messrs. Hutchinson, Hill and Thacher have been thoroughly renovated and are among the finest in the city. Market Street feels the onward movement of prosperity and improvement and brightens up for a coming reunion of the Sons at some future day.

A CITIZEN thinks the liquor shops should be closed during one if not both days of the Firemen's Muster, which raises the inquiry—If the sale of intoxicating liquor can be suppressed one day in the year, why may it not be suppressed three hundred and sixty five days in the year?. And again—if liquor selling is dangerous during one day of the year, is it less dangerous for the other three hundred and sixty four days? A friend thinks of writing an essay:—Subject, The Liquor Law Made Intelligible, or Every Drinker Made A Travelling Rum Dispensary! Who'll buy?.

A DISPATCH FROM DOVER to the Boston Herald says a strong feeling is springing up there against the proposed building of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, and a mass meeting of the citizens will soon be called to discountenance the project.

We presume the effect to discountenance the project is mainly the work of the Boston & Maine corporation, which is very anxious to prevent the building of the P. & D. R. R. No sane man doubts that the citizens of both places desire it built. They have once voted in its favor and would do so again, if necessary. In the meantime, we often hear the inquiry "Why do the Directors of the proposed Road delay action?" As a conundrum, we give it up.

A FRIEND is of the opinion that good may come from the greatest evil, and that though the North Mill pond be the source of woe, it may be changed to a thing of beauty. He suggests that the City might purchase it, have it partially filled in, build a large sewer through it and lay out a public park which would be an ornament to the City, with a pond in its centre encircled by driveways. In the course of time, noble trees would throw their grateful shade over the promenaders who would throng there in the warm summer months, e'en as Boston Common is the rendezvous of all residents of the Hub. Children might be seen sailing diminutive boats across the limpid waters. In the winter skaters might traverse the bridge of ice safely and the park be as popular as in summer. The land surrounding this park would be worth a great price and might be sold to help pay the cost of improvements. An objection to this mode would be the land damages claimed by owners of abutting property.

A prominent citizen encourages us to continue the agitation of this matter and we find the sentiment of all classes unanimous for an abatement of the pond nuisances. The gentlemen refered to states that there is a rich deposit of mud in both ponds, averaging three feet in depth. He hauled a number of loads of it several miles and had it spread on a portion of his farm five or six years ago, and he considers it as good as barn manure. The portion of the farm on which it was spread shows to this day marked improvement from this source.

Here, then, may be the solution of the question. It is proved that it will pay to dredge the ponds. Thousands of loads of some of the best of fertilizing material lie almost at our doors. Its presence is a nuisance. It is liable to breed a pestilence. It can be made useful and profitable. Let it be made so at once and our ponds will become objects of beauty rather than disgust. Let the city take the matter in hand and have them dredged, procure engines and scows and bring to the shores the manure which farmers and gardener's may take away and profitably use. Or, let the City guarantee no loss to any who will engage in cleaning out these "sloughs of despond." Why not have a citizen's mass meeting to consider and discuss the matter and by all means have the farmers present to give their views? It is a matter of vital importance that the nuisances be abated. Already we hear that there is to be a concerted movement for the indictment of the City for maintaining a nuisance. Can the final settlement be at less cost by recourse to law than by voluntary action? Can the law relieve our citizens more speedily than they can relieve themselves?

THE MUSTER.

The following hand companies are entered; Piscataqua, No. 4, 60 men, and Fire King, No. 1, 40 men, of South Berwick; Torrent Engine No. 1, Watertown, Mass., 100 men, Metropolitan Band.

Liberal donations of provisions are being made by our citizens. Those not receiving cards may leave word at the City Rooms.

THE Kearsarge base ball club of this city, go to Rye to-day to play the Rye Beach nine. The Ivanhoe will leave the Kearsarge engine house on Court street at 12 o'clock. Those desiring to see a good game should go down.

THE WORK of staking out the land for the new buildings of the Eastern Railroad has commenced at Hale's Point. Some 800 perch of stone and 1,500,000 bricks are to be used in constructing an engine house, sheds, &c. There are to be accommodations for 15 engines. A large turn-table is also to be built. Mr. Cate of Peabody, Mass., is the constructor.

TWO WORTHLESS FELLOWS, one a marine named Brady and the other a personage named Gray, had a fight in the Union House on Fleet Street, Monday evening. Brady was badly cut about the head, and says the other fellow struck him with a brick. Brady ran away, took to the water at the mast yard, and swam to Noble's Island, where the police caught him. Dr. Whittier dressed his wounds, which bled terribly. He is very quarrelsome when drunk. He certainly made a fearful howling in the Police Station. Gray's record, too, is of the worst.

THEY'VE BEEN AT IT AGAIN—"prominent Republicans" writing to the local democratic organ, to get that paper to regulate the CHRONICLE and the Republican party! This time the "prominent Republican" is one Mr. "Independent," who closes his little piece as follows:

From this standpoint, there is no power on earth to prevent Ward One from electing a Democratic delegation in the Board of Aldermen in November.

Prominent Republican? Bah! The dull ring of the base metal is too plainly to be heard. Some good Democrat, conscious that "the party" dared not have the census taken, is mad because Republicans say so,—that's what's the matter. The Democrats sland a much better chance of being struck by (Jersey) lightning than of carrying Ward One next November.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

A NICE GIRL.—Though that desirable class of girls is by no means extinct, still they are not so numerous as might be wished. There is nothing half so sweet in life, half so beautiful, or delightful, or so lovable, as a nice girl. Not a pretty or a dashing girl; but a nice girl. One of those lovely, lively, good-hearted, sweet-faced, amiable, neat, natty, domestic creatures met within the sphere of "home," diffusing around the influence of her goodness, like the essence of sweet flowers.

A nice girl is not the languishing beauty, dawdling on a sofa, and discussing the last novel or opera, or the giraffe-like creature sweeping majestically through the drawing room. The nice girl may not even play or dance well, and knows nothing about using her eyes or coquetting with a fan. She never languishes, she is too active. She is not given to sensation novels, she is too busy. In public she is not in front showing her shoulders; she sits quiet and unobtrusive at the back of the crowd, most likely. In fact, it is not often we discover her. Home is her place.

Who rises betimes and superintends the morning meal? Who makes the toasts and theies, and buttons the boys' shirts, and waters the flowers, and feeds the chickens, and brightens up the parlor and sitting room? Is it the languisher, or the giraffe, or the "elegante?" Not a bit of it; it's the nice young girl.

Her maiden toilet is made in the shortest possible time, yet how charmingly it is done, and how elegant her neat dress and collar! Not presenting her cheek or brow like "a fine girl," but an audible smack, which says plainly, "I love you ever so much." If you covet anything, it's one of the nice young girl's kisses.

Breakfast over, down in the kitchen to see about dinner, and all day long she is up and down, always cheerful and light-hearted. She never ceases to be active and useful until day is gone, when she will polka with the boys, or read, sing old songs and play old tunes to her father and mother for hours together. She is a perfect treasure, is the nice girl. When sickness comes it is she who attends with unwearying patience in the sick chamber. There is no risk, no fatigue she will not undergo; no sacrifice that she will not make. She is all love, all devotion. I have often thought it would be happiness to be watched by such loving eyes and tended by such a fair hand.

One of the most strongly marked characteristics of a "nice girl" is tidiness and simplicity of dress. She is invariably associated in my mind with a high frock, plain collar, and the neatest of neck-ribbons, bound with the most modest little brooch in the world. I never knew a "nice girl" who displayed a profusion of rings and bracelets, or who wore low dresses or a splendid bonnet.

I say again, there is nothing in the world half so beautiful, half so intrinsically good, as a "nice girl." She is the sweetest flower in the path of life. There are others far more stately, far more gorgeous, but these we merely admire as we go by. It is where the daisy grows that we like to rest.

COULD NOT FOOL THAT HORSE.—The Iowa City Tribune relates how a horse got even with a cruel hostler: "A few days ago the hostler struck it an unprovoked blow. Three or four days afterwards, as the hostler went into the stall, the horse, watching his motion, placed itself in an appropriate attitude, and keeping an eye out for the exact time, threw its foot into the hostler's face with just force enough to make it tingle and then ache. For the time being they were even, the hostler being too much hurt to retaliate at that time. An altercation occurred shortly after, however, of a severe character. The hostler, while taking the air with the horse, became dissatisfied with some of his ways, and gave it a blow, whereupon the horse took his fore arm in its mouth, and, holding it with a firm grip between the incisors, bent him over until he lay upon the ground; then, without letting go his 'hold,' picked him up again; then downed him; then picked him up; then shook him to and fro; then shook him again; then laid him down and and picked him up, and followed that discipline with another shake. When, after repeated shakes and the levelling discipline, the poor fellow finally succeeded in extricating his arm, it was severely mangled with the teeth of the vicious chastiser, and the aid of a surgeon was called in requisition to dress the wounds."

BLIGHT AND INSECT COMPOSITION.—Twenty-five ounces Liverpool salt, five ounces copperas, three ounces blue vitriol, one and a half ounces saltpetre, one ounce oil of vitriol, one pound concentrated lye, five pounds hard soap or one gallon soft soap. The manner of preparing and applying it to apple and fruit trees is as follows: Take an old iron pot and put in the salt with a sufficient quantity of water, then heat. Pound up the blue vitriol, then the balance of the compound; if too hard put in harness oil until it is thin enough to brush on. Clean the roots of the tree and cut out the borer; have a small brush something like a marking brush and cover the wound. Then take the body and limbs. On the largest parts of the body and limbs use a small white-wash brush, four or five inches wide and not very thick. This will make the varnish regular and kill every insect. To every man that owns an orchard, this receipt is invaluable.—Gardener's Monthly.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $5 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and competent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fractions, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary the tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 25,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate. The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. lyrdawf6b16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

BETSEY AND I ARE OUT.

A NEW VERSION.

Go 'tend the door, there, Bridget, and mind what you're about,
For Betsey's mother's comin', and Betsey and I are out;
I've stood the dear old lady as long as I ever can,
And the more I've tried to stan' in the more I've had to stan'.

Since first we two got married, and came down here to live,
She's had no end of orders and free advice to give;
There's nothin' I hand is put to, outside of the house or in,
But she has her way about it that's always sure to win.

From nursin' babies to cleanin', from hayin' to milkin' cows,
We've give her her way entirely, as much as the law allows;
There's hardly a child or critter, a field, or a fence, or stone,
She hasn't a fault to find with, or even can leave alone.

Perhaps I might stan' that much, if Betsey so should did,
And let the old lady boss it the same as she always did;
But now that her tongue has taken to waggin' another course,
I've got to be up and doin', or look for a cheap divorce.

If I but say she's a-meddlin', she tells my wife I drink;
If ever I look at a woman, she gives my wife the wink;
And comin' from meetin', Sunday, when Betsey was taken ill,
She said that for half the symptoms, a woman could die a bill!

So 'tend the door, there, Bridget, and keep your wits about,
And tell the dear old lady that Betsey and I are out;
And then in case she threatens to come some other day—
Just add to the statement, Bridget, that out we intend to stay!

THE SQUIRE'S INDIGESTION.—Old Squire H——— was a very successful and substantial farmer in an interior town in Massachusetts, and a more amazing eater never lived in any town anywhere. And especially much did he eat when fresh pork was to be his nourishment. Well, at a certain time one of his hogs had been killed. The next morning there was to be fresh pork for breakfast, and the old man ate most wondrously. In the course of the forenoon he ate his luncheon, consisting of bread and butter, mince pie, and cheese. At noon his dinner consisted of fresh pork, pickles, mince pie and the usual accompaniments. His afternoon luncheon was like that of the forenoon. When he came home to supper, his favorite dish had not been prepared, as a part of his meal. The old man fretted and scolded till fresh pork was added to the substantials. He ate voraciously as usual. In the evening he toasted some cheese, buttered and ate it. Just before going to bed, he roasted a couple of apples and ate them. In the night he was taken with a severe colic, the doctor was with him till morning, and nearly wrought a miracle in the old man. The next day Bolles W———, one of his neighbors, went in to condole with the old squire.

"Faithful Bolles," said the old Squire, "I liked to have died last night. I'll never eat another roast apple as long as I live. I never did love them very well; and last night I ate only two and they most killed me."

— The Baltimore Bulletin learns, from private and confidential sources, that Bret Harte is about to undertake the erection of a new poem, to be entitled "The Outlaw of Cholera Gulch." It will relate, in touching terms, how the outlaw, a rude but benevolent man, poisoned his benefactor and carried off his two daughters for wives; how he smote one of those wives with a stick until she inconsiderately died, and then expended for whiskey the money she had left for a coffin; how he disposed of the other one to the Piegans for a pumpkin-colored horse; how he extinguished that horse's eyes with a hot poker because it got beaten in a race; and how he was finally caught by an angel on Saturday afternoon and translated to Heaven, where he received a crown of glory. The story is well told, and abounds in such expressions as the following: Wall stregger! Little cuss! What, you? Yuba dam! Wa'l that! Derned fool! Got the keards? The ——you say! We are permitted to give the last verse for the benefit of a gasping public:—

"As he riz up from out of the Gulch,
And scooted onward H— propelled,
And felt a bangin' throb of joy,
Slapping his comrade on the back
He yelled,
Old angel, you're a bully boy!"

—A large mass of error is easily embalmed and perpetuated by a little truth.—Mackay.

Horace Greeley has proved that Mackay wrote wisely and well.

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lake George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quill, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

☞ They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

☞ They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver cloth or the finest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

The above celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the fatal one of known and indubitably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid made in representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-supporting, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cause of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. In this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the combined action of the Seaweed Tonic, and the Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's robust purgatives, Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. (Digestion is now powerful.) Healthy blood is the great nutritive. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent Providence to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of pulmonic ripe it prepares them for expectoration, and off it is very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of Northern Ohio in the fall and early season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course are murderers of their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well, and take a good relish to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To debility and want of appetite, evidence of pulmonic debility in the worst form, and moral certainty in all others, is awful. Dr. Schenck's pulmonic syrup, during the long time, I was in the last stage of pulmonary consumption, confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week. I then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my lungs. They seemed to ripen the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside; my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "and I looking like a skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-six (226) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health." 3

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who with a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligent mind of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Or rectifying health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the disposing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup, $1.50 per bottle, or $8.50 a half dozen. Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Elevate, Reissues, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent published by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency is the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved to inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1871.

THE TAMMANY FRAUDS. — Mayor Hall and his dishonest clique have been attacked from a new quarter. This time it comes from Mr. John Foley, who was elected in the Board of Supervisors in 1869, as an Independent Democrat. He has written a letter to Mayor Hall, which is printed in the New York papers, and which will be an unpleasant document for the Mayor to meditate upon. After calling the Mayor's attention to that section of the law, which says that "all liabilities against the County of New York, incurred previous to the passage of this act, shall be audited by the Mayor, Controller, and present President of the Board of Supervisors (William M. Tweed), &c," Mr. Foley demolishes Hall's argument, that the responsibility of the accounts rests with the old Board of Supervisors, as follows:

"What this interim Board accomplished under cover of the authority thus conferred upon it, we have, certified to under the signatures of both yourself and the Controller, in your message and accompanying accounts, dated June 12 of the present year. You there admit that you, the Controller, and Tweed, went through the form of auditing and allowing claims made against the County for the modest amount of $6,312,541.37. When you completed this audit, which report says you did at one sitting, you raised the full amount by revenue bonds payable in 1871, and thereupon signed the warrants under which the entire sum was taken from the Treasury. The Controller's accounts of June 12 made known the further important fact, that it was out of this sum of $6,312,541.37 that he paid all the claims made against the County during the year 1870 for work done on furnishings supplied, except the sum of $370,650, on account of the Court House Building.

Here, therefore, is the evidence conclusive that the responsibility does rest with you, and the Controller and Mr. Tweed, for all the payments made to Ingersoll, Garvey, Miller, Keyser, the Smiths, and others, during the year 1870, and that these claims amount in the aggregate to the enormous sum of $6,312,541.37."

Mr. Foley then adds, after showing that the claims so audited and paid by the issue of bonds were illegal—the Board having been expressly forbidden to contract such debts by statutes passed in 1868 and 1869:

"You allowed the claim—you passed them all—you paid them—and, having done so, now turn round and attempt to throw off the responsibility, and place it upon a Board composed half of Republicans and half of Democrats. But, sir, this will not do. It is not a matter of politics, but of honesty and fair dealing; and the sooner this is realized by you the better. It must be admitted—and I, a life-long Democrat, do admit it—that not even a nominal Republican had anything to do with the passing and paying of the $6,312,541.47 of fraudulent claims paid in 1870; and, when you publish the accounts you have promised, I undertake to show that, under the operation of the accumulated debt bonds, both you and the Controller are equally responsible for all similar claims paid in 1869."

THE COREAN EXPEDITION.—Further details of the second engagement with the Coreans state that the American force, consisting of 644 officers and men in the land force, and 301 men afloat, left the anchorage on the morning of the 10th of June. All the land forces were in light marching order. Each man had been served with one hundred rounds of ammunition.

The party moved up the river preceded by steam launches. After having shelled and demolished two forts on the way, situated on small islets near the shore, they arrived at the place of operations about 2 P. M. The ships began to shell No. 1 fort on Kangkoa Island, now called the marine redoubt, while the land forces cast off from the Palos in boats to effect a landing, covered by the fire of the flotilla. They found it very difficult to draw their artillery through the mud flat before reaching the shore, the mud being waist deep; but energy at last overcame all obstacles, and the little force arrived safely on dry ground.

Having arrived in position the force at once deployed and, preceded by skirmishers, advanced on fort No. 1. This having been effectually shelled by the Monocacy the enemy left it without a struggle, only now and then firing a stray shot while retreating. While one party of the land forces was engaged in demolishing the fort and destroying the guns, another portion advanced toward fort No. 3, leaving fort No. 2 on their right, which was being shelled by the flotilla, and soon silenced it, its garrison beating a retreat. A part of the land forces which had pushed forward in advance soon arrived near the cemetery, on a wooded knoll, from where they could see fort No. 3—since called Fort Monocacy—as also in the distance a citadel over which waved the yellow flag of the Corean commander-in-chief. The Monocacy had during this time steamed up to fort No. 3, and began to greet the enemy with some American shells, when the Palos got fast on a rock. She was only got off with much difficulty on the next day, leaving a hole in her bottom, which made her leak seriously. The fort responded briskly to the fire of the Monocacy, doing, however, no other damage than cutting some of her standing-rigging. Night having come on now, both the flotilla and land forces ceased active operations for the night, holding everything in readiness to prevent a surprise. The next morning the Monocacy took up her position within five hundred yards of fort No. 3, and renewed the attack. This, with the advance of the land force in the rear, made the Coreans beat a hasty retreat, and so this stronghold was taken possession of without shedding of blood on the American side.

Now came the real struggle for the citadel which had fired on the surveying party on the first of June. A party remained behind as rear-guard, and to demolish the fort, the remainder advancing rapidly on the next stronghold. It was hard labor to drag the guns over hill and dale, but the pioneers proved themselves up to their work, so that all obstacles were removed without much difficulty. The flotilla in the meantime moved up toward the citadel, and the Monocacy, having taken up a position within two hundred yards of it, began to open fire, dropping her missiles among the enemy in fine style. But she had not alone to contend with the citadel, as a battery on the opposite shore, on the main land, also opened fire. The fire of both the citadel and battery of the Coreans was silenced by hours of severe shelling of the Monocacy, when the land forces advanced to storm the place. Having arrived at the foot of the hill, the storming party stopped a moment to breathe, after which they made a bold rush for the fortification above them. A hail of bullets and other missiles greeted the party, but nothing could stop them. With the greatest pluck and courage they advanced until the desired object was gained. Lieutenant McKee was the first to enter, followed by some of his men, but no sooner had he got over the wall than he was struck by a ball and pierced by a spear, which killed him. In a few minutes the place was cleared and the enemy routed. The interior of the citadel was in a frightful condition. Numerous dead and mutilated bodies lay in and around the fortifications, 243 being counted in a small space. This was, however, not the whole loss, for hundreds ran into the water and were drowned, among whom was the commander-in-chief, who when in the water, cut his throat. On the American side, besides McKee, two others, Seth Allen and a man named Hanrahan, were killed, and the following wounded: Surgeon Wells, Corporal W. H. Merton, Alex. McKenzie, Michael E. Ormes, Samuel F. Rogers and Wm. McGoulin. In all the Americans destroyed five forts and the citadel, with 481 guns.

THE GREAT BOAT RACE at St. John, N. B., between the St. John and Tyne crews was marred by the death of Renforth, the celebrated English oarsman. The race was started promptly at 7.26 A. M., the St. Lawrence crew winning the toss and taking the lead at the very start. The St. John crew would evidently have held their advantage, but the Tyne men were pulling nobly, when, just opposite Appleby's wharf, Renforth fell heavily upon Kelley and the Tyne crew at once arrested its progress. After some exertions to restore Renforth the others rowed directly to the shore, where about one thousand persons rushed into the water, and by their movements hindered the removal of the dying man for some time. At last two men took him out of the boat and Kelly and the others rowed back to the starting point. The St. John crew continued its course, turned the stake-boats, and arrived at the point from which they started in 39 minutes and 20 seconds, having made the three miles up in 18 minutes.

POLITICAL.

It is now said that the programme of the Republicans who do not agree that the renomination of Gen. Grant is wise, is to nominate Schuyler Colfax. The movement is said to be under the especial patronage of Mr. Greeley, and its friends are only waiting for the opportune time to spring his name before the country. We doubt it Horace has so much political wisdom, however.

Brookline, Mass., has chosen four Rice delegates to the Republican State Convention. Beverly has chosen four Butler delegates. Gen. Butler is to speak in various parts of the State.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter, by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been innoculated for the kine pock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill offered for sale.

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Medical Mistakes.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a sterling vegetable tonic. So, also, with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economising both cash and health.

Note the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk, and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

Don't Leave Your Horses unhitched in the street during fly time. It cost a gentleman sixty dollars last week to repair the damage done to his vehicle by a small fly.

Personal. — Vice-Admiral Stephen C. Rowan and family are at the Rockingham House. The Vice-Admiral visited the Navy Yard on Wednesday, and received the usual salute.

The Niobe.—This barque from Boston, yet in our port, is said to be the first vessel with an entire cargo of United States railroad iron around Cape Horn, for this coast. Considering the danger always attending the transportation of such a cargo at sea, the great distance travelled, and the misfortune of her two cotemporaries who sailed from New York for San Francisco, some two weeks before her, we think she must be a staunchly built vessel, and well adapted for the trade in which she is engaged. She was built about four years ago at Portsmouth, N. H. Credit is also due her skilled navigators for her safe arrival at Kalama without accident.—Kalama Beacon, Washington Territory, Aug. 4.

Police Court, Wednesday,—Bufford, —Judge.—David Cudy, for being drunk, was fined $8.76, which he paid.

Mary A. Crowley, one of the commonest and noisest of drunkards, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction and to pay costs of prosecution, $6.43.

William Noland, another drunkard, was sent to the House of Correction, not having $8.76, which is the price of a musical spree such as he often indulges in.

Charles E. Gray, a bad character, for an assault on John Brady, a great deal worse one, was fined $10. Brady is said to be very violent when drunk, and drunk whenever he gets a chance.

Thomas Falon, another specimen of what the beneficent rum traffic does for its supporters, was fined $8.76. Paid.

—Every man of sense knows that a census would not show how many rateable polls there are in Wards One and Two. Hence this talk is all moonshine. —Democratic Organ.

The purpose of taking the proposed census of Portsmouth was not simply to ascertain the number of rateable polls, but to make known the actual number of inhabitants the city contains. It is believed that the census as taken by Mr. Adams was not full and correct, owing to his failing health. And as the increase or decrease of population is a question of vital importance to a city that would live, we desire to have the matter settled. According to the return rendered by the officer who took the census, we have lost in number since the previous count. We don't think it true, and believe it worth two hundred dollars (the amount specified in the defeated resolution) to correct the disastrous error, which tells mightily against the business prosperity of the place. Let it be known that Portsmouth is growing and real estate will naturally rise in value and financial and commercial enterprises may increase here. Encourage the fatal supposition that our population is decreasing, and the result is certain decrease and disaster. Do men put merchandise into sinking ships, or invest their money in decreasing towns?

Capitalists seeking business locations do not inquire concerning a city or a town, "is it big!" but "is it growing?" If the place is lively, there they pitch their tents, if it is big but dying they don't undertake it, but leave it to the "sexton old and grim." Upon the whole we wish the census had been taken, even if it had necessitated a counting of polls in Ward Three. The proposal to recount was not introduced in the Common Council (nor intended) as a political affair; but we are confident that the opposition to it in the Board of Aldermen was entirely political—at least on the part of the Democratic members, who feared that if its object was not political, its result would damage their party none the less. Of one objection to its being done, viz: that the City Government are not vested with full powers under the charter to do it, we may quote the paragraph at the head of this article, "this talk is all moonshine." The charter does not say the City Government may take a census, neither does it say they shall not; but they can legally do anything for the good of the city that does not conflict with the laws of the State and the United States, and we question if counting the inhabitants of Portsmouth would conflict with either.

Tickets to Lowell and Return, including a ticket of admission to the New England Fair, which is to be held in that city Sept. 5, 6, 7 and 8, will be sold at the Concord Railroad ticket office in this city at $3.20, and will be good for the whole Fair week. Full fare will be collected in the cars, from those not having tickets.

Capt. Baker's Benefit Excursion comes off this evening, if pleasant. The Appledore, with the Portsmouth Cornet Band, will leave Pier Wharf at 7 o'clock, and furnish a beautiful moonlight trip to the Shoals and back to those who are willing to pay 50 cts. for it. Great attractions, a popular beneficiary and cheap fare—there should be a crowded boat.

Base Ball. — The new Kearsarge club played a not very brilliant game with a nine made up from Beach visitors, Wednesday afternoon, near G. H. Jenness' Saloon, and were defeated by a score of 35 to 20. The Kearsarges ran their score up to 1 on the third inning, the Beach nine then having 11; but the former played much better towards the close of the game, as the score shows..

The Good-Natured Paper patronized by "prominent Republicans" calls our attention to some "very interesting facts" which it would "be glad to have the Chronicle" take notice of. One of these interesting facts is that "there are more than one hundred thousand loud-mouthed shriekers for the Radical party who have become millionaires during the last six years"—which is interesting news, that's a fact. $100,000,000,000 in six years! That is, the Radicals have stolen $14,444,444,444 every year for six years past, which is rather running the thing into the ground. As the entire national debt is less than $2,300,000,000, what the Radicals steal in two months would more than pay it off; and as the entire revenue of all the separate States and the United States put together for six years does not begin to amount to as much as the Radicals have stolen each year, these Radicals must be very expert financiers—unless our contemporary loads the Radicals as he did those 390-pounds-of-sole-leather-to-the-pair boots awhile ago, with more than they are entitled to. If our brother of the quill has not made a rash statement wholly unsupportable by evidence, merely for effect, or made a little "mistake," as the most careful editor is liable to do, the mere interest on his sum total of Radical stealings, at 10 per cent. per annum, would pay the national debt in less than three months,—or in other words, the sum total of the national debt would pay but 2 3-10 per cent. on the Radical stealings, for a single year. Evidently, there is a screw loose somewhere.

Communicated.

Messrs. Editors:—A "prominent Republican," after the fashion which "prominent Republicans" everywhere have of laying their woes at the feet of sympathizing Democratic editors, has been writing a letter (signed "Independent") to the local copperhead sheet —at least it is said so. Independent accuses me (I suppose I am one of the "census grumblers") of personal animosity and ill will towards Ald. Wendell and Hatch. I am too courteous too follow the example of the New York Tribune, and say, "Independent, you are an ass," (though he is one, if I may judge by his letter,) but will simply refer him to my former communication, in which he will find that the objections to taking the census are alone attacked, as being frivolous and insincere; and this opinion of them I still hold, and shall hold until some more weighty reason is offered for changing it than I find in Independent's letter. This prominent Republican is very anxious to have some one assail the Republican Aldermen who voted against the measure, Messrs. Mendum and Annable. If he wants them assailed, why don't he go ahead and assail them himself? I don't know of anybody who will care to take the job out of his hands, and he seems to have no trouble in imputing unworthy motives to others—let him go ahead. I do not know that anyone suspects Messrs. Mendum and Annable of having sold out to the Democracy; certainly I do not suspect them; and, assuming that they are satisfied that they voted for the best interests of the city in voting against the resolution, I shall not assail them, not even to please the prominent Republican who is continually writing to copperhead newspapers. I think they did not vote for the best interests of the city, however, whatever their motives; and I feel certain that the opposition of the Democratic Aldermen was purely political, and that they must have enjoyed a good laugh in secret over the huge sophistry of their own reasoning.

Fair Play.

A Case of Small-Pox has appeared at Kittery Foreside. The man came from Lowell a few days ago, where he had been at work.

Our Lyrical Neighbor is so fearful that the rateable polls of Wards One and Two will be found to exceed 2100 that he prefers to smell the mill pond stenches continually, hoping enough citizens may leave town to reduce his adopted city's representation. When he sniffs the suffocating atmosphere which sickens every decent person it encounters, he imagines himself in a Democratic mass meeting surrounded by the bold b'ys from Limerick.

Communicated.

Dear Chronicle:—A "prominent Republican" and contributor to the Democratic organ, disapproves the resolution which originated in and passed the Common Council but met its death in the other Board; he don't want the census taken, but has taken a stand himself. Hear him: "From this standpoint there is no power on earth to prevent Ward One from electing a Democratic delegation in the Board of Aldermen in November." Heretofore Ward One has elected its delegations (not Democratic) in its own appropriate Ward Room. The Board of Aldermen is elected in the city building, and would object to having Democratic delegations located in it. "A prominent Republican" speaks for himself, and for what he claims to be a majority of the best class of Republicans in the city, through a copper mouth-piece. Are we to infer from this that the "best class" is about to graduate? Yours, ?

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

First Mortgage Bonds, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work, the bonds offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $500 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size,
Look at the host, he ones was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,

YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equaled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and beautiful localities on the coast, it hopes to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,

Proprietors.

☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. je10

APPLEDORE HOUSE,

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

The September number of "Oliver Optic's Magazine" has a host of good things. "Bivouac and Battle" has four chapters in continuation. "The Sophomores of Radcliffe" is continued; as is "The Doctor's Daughter." There are stories by R. P. Shillaber, Vere De Vere, and other popular writers; a continuation of "Vacation in Petrolia;" two dialogues, a declamation, and several poems. Illustrations and full-page pictures are given in profusion. Lee & Shepard, 149 Washington Street, Boston, publishers. Terms, $2.50 per annum.

The Radical, for September, opens with a vigorous article in defence of the Commune by W. J. Linton. Some of the other articles are "The New Protestantism," by William J. Potter; "The Scepticism of Boyle," by C. C. Shackford; "What the Birds Say," by C. A. Bartol, and a bit of translation from Goethe, by J. W. The "Notes" are unusually pointed and interesting.

The Phrenological Journal for September has the following suggestive titles of contents:—Hon. John A. Bingham, M. C.; Under the Surface, or Universal Law; Miss Burdett Coutts, the lady philanthropist; E. H. Rulloff, the philological murderer; Life in a head only, a remarkable case of paralysis; Human Locomotion, or How we Stand, Walk, or Run; Have Children no Rights? A New Social Proposition; Hunting a Servant; Social Reform, where it should begin; The Powder and the Bullet; Geological History of Man; Love's Victory—a poem; More of the Marvelous. Most of the articles named are illustrated, some elaborately. Price 30 cents. $4 a year. S. R. Wells, publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

ASTRONOMICAL QUESTIONS.—A few questions under this head have been inserted, and answered to profit. Perhaps there is a considerable class of readers that may be benefitted by answers to a few more questions. They relate to the changes of the moon, and the effect on the weather.

1. It is common to speak of the moon's changing. Does it ever change in reality, save in its motions in its orbit?

2. Is it not changing all of the time, that is, in its apparent size, or the light part which we see?

3. Is the weather more likely to change at what are called its first or second quarters, or full moon, than at other times?

4. Is it liable to be cold at the full moon; if so, what is the cause?

5. Does the hanging down of the horns of the new moon, like the present, indicate wet weather? J. Y.

CHOICE IOWA LANDS.

This Company is now offering for sale about six hundred thousand acres of the finest agricultural lands in the West. The Company sells only to actual settlers, and the prices are exceedingly reasonable, ranging from $3 to $15 per acre—the average being about $8. The greater part of these lands are situated along the line of its railroad between the cities of Des Moines and Council Bluffs, and are in the most accessible and fertile region in the State.

Sales made for cash or on credit long enough to enable any industrious man to pay for the land out of its crops.

These lands are held under a title direct from the General Government, and are not mortgaged or encumbered in any way. Full warranty deeds given to purchasers.

For maps, pamphlets, or any other information respecting them, address EBENEZER COOK, Land Commissioner, Davenport, Iowa.

EXPLORING TICKETS are sold at the Company's ticket offices at Chicago, and all other principal stations on its line, and if the purchaser buys land the amount paid for the ticket is applied on the purchase money.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

UNDER A BURNING SUN, where Bilious affections and Fever of various descriptions so generally prevail,

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

has been successful beyond all parallel. Hence the physicians of the tropics give it their emphatic sanction, prescribing it in preference to every other aperient in use. The patients, of course, gladly acquiesce, for this preparation is one of the most delightful, as well as mild and cooling cathartics, chemistry has yet devised, and possesses every medicinal virtue of the far-famed German Seltzer Spa. It is a powder that only requires the addition of water to produce in an instant a delicious, effervescent beverage, as well as an invaluable medicine. Ask for and accept none but the genuine.

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	$100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	50,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to witness the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,900 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the second box, with amount of the gifts plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected, as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold, or 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 65,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—to 50,000 being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health or the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

WHAT A THREE YEAR OLD BOY IS GOOD FOR.

To punch his fat finger in sister's blue eye,
To burn his sweet "monthy" "iy doose berry" pie,
To throw papa's old boots on "his little" low bed,
And poor some "dood lasses" on "brover's" tow head,
To pay "iv" the fire when mamma's not in,
And "dit some dood toal to guk in a tin."
To blindfold the pup "iv" a mitton or sock,
And "jive" him to "watty" and "den jive he" back.

To hitch up the calf "iv brover's big yoke,"
And "dit in the tubbard" and eat some soft soap,
To let the "old haming" fall on his wee toes—
And before he'd quit crying poke beans up his nose.

To beg uncle's knife and tell him he "dot" it
To "tut" out a fish hook that was fast in his "potts;"
To pull all the roses in "nanty's" front yard,
To "fro" tabby "titen' in a firkin of lard,
To pull the young radishes just coming up,
To pull "dos" enough to fill "he's" red cup;
To go home from church with his cousin Davy,
And baptise him again "iv" aunt Sally's gravy;
To rob all the hen's nests he can find in the barn,
To make "he" a whip out of old "stotten" yarn,
To cram Davy's "potet iv turdit" and thistle,
And take Johnny's revolver to make him a whistle;

To tiptoe to a table too high for short legs,
And pull down in his "lacy" a plate of fried eggs,
To beg bread and "butty" and "sugy" and plum,
Not 'cause he's "hungy" but "tissy" has some,
To pinch his white "hany," the one that is sore,
With the leaf of the table or "nassy" old door;
To pour all the "vinegar" in mamma's milk pail,
And while papa's praying pinch the cat's tail.
To do nothing right, but everything wrong,
From morning till night, all the day long,
Always in mischief—never found still;
Vexing us sorely and thwarting our will.
But, one "title" kiss, one little embrace—
With white dimpled hands smoothing our face,
Will pay us for trouble, yes, more than repay,
For watching and waiting and toiling all day.
And when he lays me down to "coop,"
In night dress of white as snow,
We pray the Lord "his soul to keep,"
Because "we love him so!"

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders—cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $500 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Stocks will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure resort thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. These must and do lie heavily on the friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, laid they calmly adopted and availed themselves of the wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalids made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia, and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid condition of the liver. Hence comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are expected. They liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is going to get well.

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Civilization is now progressing, without its previous torpiers. Digestion becomes perfect, and the pale face is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no constipation, no sour stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the great blood purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to determine functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the immortised and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gathering it prepares them for expectoration. Nature lol in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well. It is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but a cold ripens the disease and a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are fatal. Dr. Schenck knows from experience that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must take cold. Without cold they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, or they will not get the circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest paragraphs:

"I was voluntarily drafted after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health.

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, can still consulted at the Rooms at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 8 A. M. to 3 P. M. Patients who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and these can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

Those taking the medicines are advised to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no change, no adjustment than the ample instructions that accompany them. Fine, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, eat it with zest, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once begins to flow, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these cardinal symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents by all druggists, and dealers.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1871.

THE FATAL BOAT RACE.—We copy a portion of the Boston Advertiser's account of the race between the St. John and Tyne crews at St. John, New Brunswick. It says the boat of the St. John crew was towed down early, and the men walked down along the shore and getting aboard the judges' boat waited for their opponents. The latter appeared with their boat on their shoulders at five minutes past seven, launched her, and going to their float took their places. The Tyne men were bare to the waist, while the St. John men wore their pink shirts, all having their heads bare. "Gentlemen, are you ready?" said Mr. Jones. "Ready," replied the two strokes, as they dipped their oars in the water. "Go!" cried he, two or three seconds later: and they went off splendidly, St. John getting the water first. Those alongside noticed that the Tyne stroke was a queer one, and it seemed as if the men had never sat in the boat together. Nevertheless, the Tyne went ahead, Renforth settling down to thirty-nine to the minute, two quicker than usual, and Fulton gaining slowly at forty-four, the same rate at which he started. The stroke of the Tyne was still uneven, Renforth evidently intending to show his stern to the New Brunswickers as soon as possible. With this view he spurted up to forty-three some time before reaching the grand stand, a mile up the course, but without shaking off his pursuers. This was only for a few seconds, however, when Renforth was seen to drop an oar, look over his shoulder, throw up his arms and fall back into Kelley's lap. The excitement was awful. The Tyne boat lost headway. The St. John men shot ahead and the Tyne headed for the shore. Cries and shouts of "Sold out," "Foul play," "Fraud," "Pull ahead," and "Go it, St. John," were heard. When the crew reached the stand, with Renforth a dead weight in the boat, it seemed as if the dying man would be mobbed. There was hardly a person who believed it possible that such a muscular and powerful man could have even fainted or sustained any accident. The crowd on the judges' boat were in a state of the wildest excitement, not knowing what was the matter.

Meanwhile the others had put the dying oarsman in a carriage, and while Chambers accompanied him to his quarters, Kelley and Percy, with a long, clean, beautiful stroke, very different from any they had shown in the race, rowed back to the starting-point and reported that Renforth had fainted. While he was being put on shore the people were cheering as if their throats would burst. Every steamer was whistling, and Fulton was setting his men steadily on the stake-boat at forty-one strokes to the minute. Without a spurt or hardly a sign of a change they turned in eighteen minutes and two seconds, and started back at forty-two. The boats kept encroaching on the course, and only with a great deal of trouble was it kept clear enough for a single boat. Within half a mile of the end of the six, Fulton increased the stroke to forty-four, and came in amid shrieks, cheers, hat waving and a chorus of steam-whistles, the time for the full six miles being thirty-nine minutes, twenty and three-fifths seconds.

When Renforth was raised from the boat he had evidently been suffering greatly. He looked around a few moments, staring wildly. He was placed in a barouche and driven rapidly to the Claremont House without covering or medical attendance. It is reported that he said while in the carriage, "We are beaten, and beaten badly; the St. John crew is the best crew in the world." Upon reaching his quarters he was at once attended by five physicians, who bled him, but that afforded but little relief. The body was cold and the blood driven inward so that little more than a gill flowed from the open parts. He at one time threw up considerable mucous matter, and during the whole examination articulated but very little, breathing very hard. A second time he choked and discharged some matter of a pinky hue. He spoke to his companions shortly before his death. He spoke to his crew of his approaching end, and one of the last words he spoke was "wife," although it could not be made out what he wished to say. He died at ten minutes before nine o'clock, of congestion of the lungs, brought on by over-exertion and nervous excitement. The sight of that strong man lying dead on the bed, with his companions, who could not restrain their tears, around him, was a sight long to be remembered. Renforth was never in better health, than in the morning. He danced and sang at breakfast time, and sprang lightly over the fence while talking.

PRESIDENT GRANT ON THE NEW YORK RIOT.—A New York Herald reporter visited the President, recently, at Long Branch, and the following colloquy ensued:—

Cor.—Mr. President, what do you think of the great hubbub among the democrats in New York?

Pres.—The Tammany frauds?

Cor.—Yes, and the Orange riots.

Pres.—Well, I think they will certainly defeat the democratic party in New York. Either one of them ought to.

Cor.—Do you consider the so called exposures of Tammany frauds bona fide—that they can be established?

Pres.—Of course.

Cor.—Well in regard to the riots, Mr. President, I see General Butler thinks the militia should not have fired until the riot act had been read.

Pres.—Well, I believe there is law for that; but, after all, it would have been a rather injudicious proceeding, I think. The mob knew they were violating law without having it formally quoted to them. Our late rebellion was a riot on a big scale and I think it lasted as long as it did just because we wanted to read too many riot acts at the beginning.

Cor.—Do you think, Mr. President, that the Republican party will be able to harmonize in New York in time to take advantage of these troubles among the Democracy?

Pres.—Well, I don't think there is any real lack of harmony among the Republicans in New York. Some men there who are Republicans in name claim that there is discord, and they try to make discord, but they don't amount to much. When it comes to an election the discord always clears up. It's only in peace that soldiers grumble about rations. When it comes to battle against the common enemy they have something else to think about.

CARELESSNESS. — Young Scott, the water boy on the express train for Boston, passed the station at Plaistow on Wednesday evening, swinging in the baggage car door, his feet and legs extending in a horizontal position some distance outside the car. When the train reached the brick yards, a short whistle, the signal to set brakes, indicated that there was some trouble; and in a few moments a messenger for a physician brought the news that the boy had struck the target, near the freight station, had been knocked from the car to a side track, and was then lying in a bruised and insensible condition. The train was moving at the rate of fifty miles an hour at the time, and how the boy escaped instant death is inexplicable. He was living Thursday morning, and is likely to recover. His residence is in Reading, where he has a mother.

A BRIDGEPORT GENIUS who cannot afford the luxury of ice, has made a water cooler on the following plan: Drive a two-inch pipe into the ground about twenty-five or thirty feet, then connect this tube in the two-inch upright pipe, running to within six inches of the bottom, and then the water is dawn from the small pipe, with faucet. The water is cooled by passing into the large and through the small pipe, about twenty degrees, as has been demonstrated by actual experiment. The large pipe is tight, and the theory is that the water by passing into it and falling so many feet below the surface cannot but be cooled.

WE HAVE RECEIVED from Sower, Potts & Co., of Philadelphia, The Normal Elementary Algebra, containing the first principles of the Science, developed with conciseness and simplicity, for Common Schools, Seminaries and Normal Schools written by Edward Brooks, A. Prof. Peirce of Harvard College says he would be glad to have Brook's Algebra studied in all the schools that send students to Harvard.

THE STEAMER CLOTILDA.—This iron steamer, now lying at Union wharf, which was wrecked at Wells Beach last winter, has been discharged of the remainder of her cargo and a survey directed upon her by order of the U. S. District Court, to satisfy the claimants for salvage, etc. The Clotilda has been cleansed by direction of Capt Pitman of New York, who represents the English Lloyds, the insuring party. The steamer will go into the dry dock today and tomorrow a survey will take place and an appraisal of her value will be made.—Portland Press, 22d.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Edward Bayer, Esq., Horton, Kings Co., N. S., writes that an astonishing cure has been effected on his daughter, by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, she lost the use of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a bow, in consequence of taking cold after having been vaccinated for the kindpock. She is now well.

We pledge our reputation on the assertion that any educated physician, after a careful examination of the recipe, will say that Parson's Purgative Pills possess more merit than any other pill offered for sale.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Half enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Medical Mistakes.

It took the faculty about a thousand years to discover that the best way to cure disease was not to render the patient too weak to contend with it. Within the last twenty years, however, the whole system of medical practice has been changed for the better. In diseases or complaints caused by excessive heat, for instance, the doctors no longer recommend the reduction of the invalid's strength by prostrating medicines. The vast success which has attended the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for debility, has given even the most prejudiced members of the old school an insight into the only true and rational theory of cure. Cantharides, calomel, and overpowering doses of opium, are now among the obsolete nostrums of another age. The lancet, once as much the legitimate weapon of the physician as the sword is of the soldier, is seldom drawn from its case. The principle of life is no longer drained from the veins by the quart, and water-gruel for the strengthless invalid has ceased to be considered an appropriate diet. Vigor is the motto of the rational members of the profession, and they understand, at last, the value of a genuine vegetable tonic. So, also, with the people at large; and without consulting medical men at all, they have adopted the bitters as a household remedy, thereby economizing both cash and health.

Note the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only, never in bulk, and that the abortions springing up in various parts of the country, and sometimes offered as substitutes for the great national specific, are all utterly worthless.

POLITICAL.

The Republicans carried the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky in the recent election by nearly 3,000 majority, on the Governor's vote. And they reduced the Democratic majority in the Seventh District to 2,181, an actual gain of 1,215 votes.

Lee County, which the ex-rebels of the Kentucky Legislature named in honor of Robert E. Lee, was carried by the Republicans at the late election.

Removal—Wm. H. Rollins.
House to let.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD CORPORATION have been negotiating for a few days past for the purchase of the North Mill Pond, and through the agency of Hon. Ichabod Goodwin a bargain has been closed for the purchase of the pond from its owners, Messrs. John G. Moses and Edward S. Wendell. This result has been arrived at after mature deliberation, the Corporation preferring to purchase the whole area of the pond, comprising 70 acres or more, rather than be troubled with a lawsuits for a portion of it. We understand that the title is perfectly clear and that the Corporation may do as they choose in the matter of filling the pond, subject to an easement which Moses H. Goodrich & Co. possess, by which the latter are allowed a sufficient flow of water while the water is at a certain height, to be used for the sole purpose of grinding bark for their tannery. The present filling going on from Hale's Point to the engine house can in nowise interfere with the privileges of Messrs. Goodrich.

We, in common with our citizens generally, feel especially pleased that the sale of the pond to the Railroad Corporation is to be consummated, and hope it may result in a joint movement of the Corporation and the City, at no distant day, for the abatement of the horrible nuisance which our people unanimously complain of. The Railroad owns the land on both sides the pond at the westerly extremity, including the residence occupied by Mr. Ham. We opine that it will be easier for the City to act for the protection of our citizens directly with the Eastern Railroad Corporation rather than with individuals. It is not supposed that the Railroad authorities will fill the pond beyond the point they deem necessary for their own operations, but they are to own a nuisance and we hope their operations may be extended until the most obnoxious portion of the pond,—from Hale's Point westward—will be filled. The question of sewerage will of course be a matter for further reference and discussion, involving the responsibility of parties using the pond for drainage, the owners and the City. The purchase of the pond by the Corporation does not release the City authorities from their duty, however. The nuisance exists; it must be abated, and its purchase by a Corporation makes the task an easier one.

A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT, attended with serious and perhaps fatal consequences, took place at about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, in Hampton. Mr. Fred. Giddings, Mrs. A. S. Peirce and two daughters of Mr. Wm. H. Dennett, all of this city, were returning from a drive in a double team, when the yoke by some means slipped over the pole of the carriage, allowing the vehicle to run forward upon the horses. The animals reared and kicked, breaking the dasher and terrifying the ladies, one of whom, Mrs. Peirce, instantly jumped out, breaking her ankle and being bruised into insensibility, The horses started on a furious gallop, and Mr. Giddings advised the others to remain in the carriage until all hope of quieting the frightened animals was gone; but Miss Fannie Dennett soon sprang out, receiving such severe injuries that up to noon on Thursday she was still senseless, and bleeding from the nose and ears. Her sister soon followed the example of the other ladies, but though she also was rendered insensible by striking the earth, she soon recovered and is but little injured. Mr. Giddings soon after succeeded in turning the horses into a farm-yard, where they stopped, and he alighted unhurt.

Procuring another team, Mr. Giddings returned and the ladies were conveyed to the house of J. W. Berry, where everything possible was done to alleviate the sufferings of Mrs. Peirce and to revive the insensible girl. J. P. Morse, Esq., who happened to be driving in that locality, rendered every assistance in his power, and brought Mr. Giddings into town; the latter, accompanied by Mr. Dennett, returned in another conveyance and removed the ladies to their respective homes.

Mrs. Peirce, though bruised, suffers but little save from the fractured bone; but grave apprehensions are felt concerning Miss Dennett. The latter probably caught her clothing on some part of the carriage when jumping out, and struck head foremost on the ground. The driver appears to have acted with courage and coolness throughout, and no blame attaches to him for the accident. His advice to the ladies to stick by the carriage was judicious, but they were unfortunately too terrified to heed it.

City Council, Thursday, Aug. 24th.

On motion of Alderman Marvin, Aldermen Marvin and Annable were appointed a Committee to report an ordinance regulating the letting of sail boats, that no boats should be let that will sink when capsized.

Mayor Fernald reported that he had been notified by the Eastern Railroad that the Corporation desired to confer with the City in regard to the extension of sewers in the North Mill Pond. The Kearsarge Mills propose to extend their sewer at their own expense.

Alderman Giddings moved a reconsideration of the vote indefinitely postponing the matter of taking the census. The Mayor ruled the motion out of order, as Ald. Giddings did not vote on the question, having been absent from the last meeting.

The various bank watchmen were appointed special police without pay.

A communication was received from the Muster Committee of Arrangements, asking the Board to secure if possible 150 tents from the State of Massachusetts.

The resignation of Thomas Moore, Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department, was referred.

The Committee on School Houses reported a plan to alter the upper room of Hanover Street School House at a cost of $1000, for the accommodation of the school taught by Miss Fitts. Report accepted and recommitted, with instructions to Committee to report the cost of fitting the State Street Ward Room for Miss Fitts' school.

Aldermen Marvin, Wendell and Annable were appointed a committee to ascertain the cause of the stench from the North Mill pond, and to report what action should be taken to suppress it.

A preamble and resolution authorizing the guaranteeing of interest on a part of the shares of the Stock of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, were presented by Alderman Marvin and laid on the table. It was ordered that the preamble and resolution be published in the daily papers and in the Portsmouth Journal, and the citizens notified that the Board will hear all parties who desire to be heard on the subject, next Thursday evening.

Samuel C. Whittier, John Campbell and William Nowell were appointed Health Committee.

IF THE ORGANIZATION occupying the rear end of the lower floor of the City Building cannot keep their establishment a little more quiet, we shall be tempted to have them indicted for maintaining a disorderly house near our office. Nearly every evening they harbor some objectionable person in there, and the savage yells of rum-maddened maniacs or the pitiful wailings of some poor wretch writhing in the agony of "the horrors," resound through the neighborhood; and we don't like it. However, we are well aware that men who don't drink or sell rum have no rights which the rum-sellers and drinkers are bound to respect; but we would really like to know what kind of rum they are making nowadays, which causes the rum drinkers to yell so? Our police would earn their wages listening to them, if they did no other duty.

THE MUSTER.

Deluge Co. No. 4, of Saco, with 60 men and drum corps, have entered, and will be escorted by Mousam Engine Co. No. 3, of Kennebunk, 25 men, from Saco to this City. Deluge Engine Co. No. 3 of Bath, Me., with 60 men, and the Bath Cornet Band, 17 pieces have entered and will arrive in this City on the 3 o'clock train on the morning of the 6th from the East.

A CARD.—Messrs. Editors:—Allow us through your columns, in behalf of the Kearsarge B. B. Club, to return our sincere thanks to the Boston Juniors of Rye Beach for the bountiful repast we received at their hands at the Sea View House, on the 23d inst.

REV. W. L. GAGE, of Hartford, Conn., stepped Sunday evening in the dark from a piazza of the Gosport House, Isles of Shoals, and fell with his whole weight a distance of five feet upon the ledge. Fortunately he broke no limbs, but is suffering severely from the great strain of the fall, and the jar of the whole system.

CHARACTERISTIC—For a bummer to drink ale at an oyster saloon at the expense of the proprietor, and then abuse him through his paper.

Communicated.

Messrs. Editors:—Allow me through your columns to explain the reasons of so much bad playing on the part of the Kearsarge Nine at Rye Beach on the 23d inst., it being the first time that the nine has ever been together since its organization. Some of the players are green at the game, and the ground being very poor for green hands to run on, the nine I think did nobly for a new nine—and are in hopes of showing our citizens some good playing some time next week, as I understand there is a partial agreement between the Boston Juniors and the Kearsarges to play on the Plains. We understand that Hackett of the Athletics made a home run on a full stomach and another prominent member of the same club, who wore a "diamond" ring, did not have a dollar in his pocket.

Scorers—J. E. Hennessey, H. Dodd.

We understand that a new nine is forming in this city, to include some of the best players here.

THE DEMOCRATIC ORGAN which discovered that the Radicals have stolen $100,000,000,000 in six years, admits that it "jumped at an estimate." If "jumping" at estimates and conclusions was a little less common with that paper, its statements of what purport to be facts would more readily be taken as facts, and would carry much more weight with them than they do. When a paper makes such statements as bear the evidence of their falsity within themselves, merely to give weight to an attack on its opponents, people will be apt to credit all its stories with having an equally airy foundation. It says it jumped at an estimate, "and if that estimate was a little too high it detracts nothing from the force or value" of its statements—which is our opinion, exactly. It also says that the articles on the census question, signed "Fair Play" and published in our columns, are evidently the work of Alderman Marvin, though our own impression was that that gentleman knew nothing about them till he saw them in print. The editor certainly "jumped at" the conclusion that Mr. Marvin is their author, though we suppose that "will detract nothing from the force or value" of its statements.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!
Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size,
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,
YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.
Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. The run across will occupy but about one hour. je10

APPLEDORE HOUSE,
ISLES OF SHOALS. Open June 26th. Much enlarged and improved since last season.
The swift steamer APPLEDORE, Capt. Baker, will leave Piser Wharf, Portsmouth, at 11 o'clock A. M., returning in season to connect with the cars.
3mdje17 O. & C. LAIGHTON.
N. B. The Appledore will make regular Sunday evening trips to the Shoals, as in previous years, leaving the wharf at 7½ o'clock and returning to the city the same night, commencing on the 1st of July.

The Edinburg Review for July, (Am. reprint,) from Leonard Scott Pub. Co., No. 140 Fulton Street, New York: $4 per year. The present number contains an array of unusually interesting articles, viz: The Military Policy of Russia, O'Flanagan's Lives of the Irish Chancellors, Swinburne's Poems, Burton's History of Scotland, The Vatican Council, Suppressed and Censured Books, Darwin on the Descent of Man, Scandinavian Politics, Communal France and a Letter from Earl Grey.

CALIFORNIA'S latest curiosity is a rooster with two sets of legs, one on his back. When he is weary of standing in his natural position, it is gravely asserted, he turns a somersault, and walks off upside down, and when he takes a drink, he immediately turns over, so as to swallow it more easily. But it is in a free fight that he shows to the greatest advantage. For he is a terrible fighter, and when thus diverting himself, looks like a revolving wheel turning somersaults incessantly, and kicking in every direction. Enterprising State, California.

PROTECTION OF LIFE ON STEAMBOATS. Mr. William T. Steiger has presented to Secretary Boutwell the following plan for the protection of life on steamboats. It is understood that the Secretary has referred the subject to the head of the board of steamboat inspectors at New York. The plan is as follows: "To have separate independent water and steam gauges on a conspicuous part of the passenger deck plainly labelled 'safety-gauges,' 'water,' and 'steam,' surrounded with a case or cases under lock and key; the latter to be kept by the inspector, whose duty it should be to examine them carefully; to see to it that they are in perfect working order, especially should there be any disagreement with the engineer's gauges. They should show by a sliding indicator the pounds of pressure allowed and the minimum waterline of safety, so that any passenger may see at a glance when his life and limb are in danger and raise the alarm."

MR. JOHN A. WALSH, one of the gentlemen whose characters were so darkly depicted by Governor Warmoth in his late speech at New Orleans, has issued a card, the following extract from which goes to show that Mr. Walsh's standard of virtue is not high, whatever may be his veracity: "Mr. Warmouth states in his speech delivered in Turner's Hall, Aug. 10th, that I offered him $50,000 cash if he would sign the bill known as the 'Nicolson Pavement bill,' and that he refused the same. His Excellency, in the excitement, no doubt, of the moment, omitted to state the whole matter as it occurred, and, in order to place the subject in a proper light, I will go on to relate the facts in the premises. The Governor was of the opinion that his signature to the bill, considering the large profits, was worth $75,000 to me and a promise to pay him the further sum of two and a half per cent. of the net profits. In this we differed, and hence his Excellency's refusal."

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS is the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

is its duplicate. Letters attesting its wonderful Tonic Aperient and Anti-Bilious qualities swarm in from every source. The question has been settled whether artificially medicated waters may not be equal to those which burst sparkling from the earth itself. They can; and the Seltzer Aperient, when undoubtedly pure and genuine, proves the fact.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed than sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $468,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,600 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for anyone to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent free. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. lyrdawfebl8

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsome and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at reasonable wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINTS, in the City. Also Dealer in GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS,

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

Scribner's Monthly for September is for sale by E. G. Adams. It is an unusually good number, the poetry especially being of a high quality. The most striking contribution in the number is perhaps Mr. E. C. Stedman's midsummer carol "The Songster," which celebrates the vocal power of a favorite canary. Mr. Henry T. Tuckerman writes a stately pentameter over "The Elms of Old Trinity." Also a gem in its way is "A Woman's Execution,' a little poem by Edward King, the incident of which appears to have been drawn from something besides the writer's imagination. In the shape of prose there are articles by J. T. Headley, W. L. Alden, Wm. F. G. Shanks and others. The editorial departments are full and fresh.

The Little Corporal for September presents an excellent variety of Stories, Poetry, Natural History, Pictures, etc. The publisher offers to send the remaining numbers of this year free to all whose names and money are sent in before October first. Terms, $1:50 a year. Address John E. Miller, Chicago, Ill.

—Mr. Ralph A. Palmer, of Meriden, Conn., has had a child dangerously sick with cholera infantum, and all the skill of physicians was unable to stay the progress of the disease. It was noticed however, that the babe immediately stopped crying or moaning on hearing a car whistle, or rumbling of vehicles, so taking a cue from this fact, the mother has given the little one several trips to New Haven, going over on one train and back on the next, with marked benefit to the patient, who is now out of danger.

—An enterprising scissors-grinder propels about Philadelphia a machine that is protected by a gable roof from which waves the stars and stripes. Every revolution of the wheel causes one of several bells to strike, producing a sound resembling that of a miniature church chime.

—A devoted little wife in LaSalle, seeing her husband blowing in the muzzle of a gun while holding back the hammer with his foot, tripped down to ask a milliner about the cost of mourning, and whether it would be becoming to her complexion.

—Edwin Forrest is irreverently called "old piano legs," and sometimes "superfluous Lags, the veteran." The latter is in perversion of Shakspeare's line, "superfluous lags the veteran on the stage."

—A man who was driving a cow through the streets of Wapun, Wis., was so much flustered by a sudden bow from a lady, that, in return, he made a bow to the cow, and threw a stone at the lady.

—The True Woman, published at Baltimore is a cheerful sheet. Its original poem in the last number is headed "Lines to a Not Beautiful, but Very Good Woman in Her Coffin."

—On one of the late terribly hot days a little boy of three years and a half, who was perspiring very freely, ran in to his mother, saying, "O, mamma, I's leaking all over."

—A gentleman who has been rowing in a paper boat this summer, has ordered a paper cutter of his stationer for the sleighing next winter.—Commercial Bulletin.

—"Auntie" said a little three-year-old, one day, "I don't lite mine aprons tarched so dreful. So much tarchness makes the tiffness tratch my bareness."

—Men spend their lives in civilizing their circumstances; it would be infinitely better were they to civilize their lives.—Charles Mildmay.

— Cattle still browse pleasantly around Wabash avenue, and ask terrified children if they will take a horn, —Chicago Republican.

—The potato bug throws up the sponge in the presence of a Pennsylvania fly bearing the name of thyridopterix epemœriformis.

—Wachtel, the German screamer, is again reported as about to visit America. But wacht'l you bet he don't?—Chicago Republican.

—Ladies of Newport complain that the gentlemen sit on the beach with opera glasses to their eyes during the bathing hour.

—The Apaches are said to fight with golden bullets. Who wouldn't be a surgeon after an engagement?

—Wisconsin bigamists are punished with thirty days' imprisonment.

—Children in English brick yards tote clay sixteen hours a day.

—A Cairo woman has announced herself as candidate for Mayor.

—It took fourteen shots and two stabs to kill a Texas cow.

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Mempremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widely known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

FOUR PER CENT.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons which the skillful hand of the physician lays in readiness for the attack when the citadel of life is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. The stomach, freed from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and acts upon the blood, while digestion is now progressing, without its previous torures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulency. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulency. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent the lungs from being affected, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Nine out of ten dying with consumption in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course have sent their patients off their feet badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not stir, even a quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of some wonderful cures made by Schenck's new offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and I have ever enjoyed unintermpted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination of their lungs by respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can really learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and the medicines will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptoms. When it comes, as it will come, let the inquiring at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, and the Seaweed Tonic, as a bitter, against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Extensions, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.'

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

POLITICAL.

The Memphis Avalanche says that Brick Pomeroy is "no exponent of Democracy." The New York World declares that Alexander H. Stephens is "no exponent of Democracy." We should like to know, says the Cincinnati Commercial, whether Brick Pomeroy regards the Avalanche, or Mr. Stephens regards the World, as an "exponent of Democracy."

The New York Herald thinks New Hampshire will elect a Democratic Senator next June. The Herald isn't well posted.

The Wisconsin Democrats have nominated Ex-Senator James I. Boolittle for Governor. They will do little with such a candidate.

The New York Republicans have had a gathering at Niagara to settle the quarrels in the party. It's time they did. The most satisfactory arrangements that can be made seem to be a union for the renomination of President Grant, the nomination of Senator Fenton for Vice President and the re-election of Senator Conkling. The Republicans can carry the New York Legislature, united.

Election returns from West Virginia indicate the defeat of the proposition for a constitutional convention.

Secretary Delano opened the republican campaign in Ohio, by a speech in Sandusky.

The republicans of Savannah have held a mass meeting and adopted resolutions indorsing General Grant's administration, and pledging their utmost exertions to secure the State delegation for his renomination.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S GREATEST TRIUMPH.—There can be no doubt that the effort of Mr. Boutwell to place the funded debt at a lower rate of interest in the European market has been a great success. Dispatches from the London house of Jay Cooke announce that $75,000,000 of the United States five per cent. loan were taken in London, Tuesday. A dispatch from the London house of Mr. Clews confirms this, adding that the "Syndicate" of London bankers has taken $80,000,000.

SHIP BUILDING IN NEWBURYPORT.—Messrs. Charles H. and George Currier are building two three-masted schooners at their yard, one of 300 tons, which is already planked, and one of 260 tons, of which they are now getting out the frame. Messrs. Colby & Lunt are getting out the frame of a schooner of 130 tons, and have the sloop, Belle of Cape Ann, which has been undergoing repair, now ready for sea. Mr. John Currier is building, and has well under way at his yard, a ship of some 1300 tons. Eben Mason has a schooner partly finished of 180 tons, and has a contract with Messrs. Yates & Potterfield of New York, to build a barque for the African trade. Messrs. Atkinson & Fillmore are building a ship of 700 tons, the work on which is well advanced. The steamer Metropolis, lately launched from Ring's Island, now lies at Cushing's wharf, the spars having been put on board and she is now being rigged and will be ready to go to Boston to receive her engine and machinery by the last of next week. Work is being pushed on all these vessels with vigor.

FEARFUL MISERY prevails in southern Hungary. At Barnat one-third of the country is under water. The dams have been suffered to fall into the river, and thus became flooded extensive tracts of land reclaimed during the reign of Maria Theresa and made fruitful with grain fields. Added to this are the unusual storms this season and the excessive severity of the government in collecting the arrears of taxes. Hailstorms have destroyed gardens, fruits, vineyards, grain fields, and trees even have been stripped of their leaves. Government is seizing for taxes the cattle of peasants. Some villages owe arrears greater than the value of their own property. Agriculture, trade and industry in general are ruined and famine is impending.

STEAMSHIP GOLDEN RULE, which was lost on Roncador reef, in the Carribean Sea, in May, 1865, was wrecked to cover the robbery of over a million dollars of United States treasure. William B. Wood says the money was stolen by Montgomery Gibbs, but that Captain Dennis, of the Golden Rule, was connected with the plot. Gibbs was on the vessel as a passenger, under the assumed name of Gibson, and had two women to help him. This is denied.

STEAMER LODONA has been wrecked, and twenty lives lost.

COUNT SCHWAB, the mysterious gatherer of heroes' pictures, has invented a new club, the Elysium, to be opened on Worcester Street, Boston, in September, for the Germans. A novel feature is a saloon on the first floor, where ladies will be received twice a week as in some European clubs.

A DRAWING ROOM CAR on the Erie Railroad recently went at full speed down an embankment of 16 feet, and turned bottom up. The frame work of the car was so strong that it did not break and no person was killed.

—One day last week a gentleman residing on Washington street, the possessor of a favorite canary bird, hung out his cage (the bird inclosed within safely, as he supposed) on the piazza adjoining an opened screen window, in which his favorite cat, five years old, was lying half dozing. A short time after proceeding down to his work, the attention of a child in the room was called to the cat making a strong endeavor to get through the lattice work of the door, which was opened by the mother present, the cat disappearing at once from view. In less than three minutes she returned with a canary in her mouth, which on close inspection proved to be "our bird," as expressed by the mother, who called to the cat to bring it to her, which she did, laying it at our feet unharmed. The little wanderer, panting excessively through fear from the novelty of his position, was placed on the table, and in a few minutes, having recovered from its fright was put back into its little bed in his wicker-work prison, with no injury from the sharp claws and sharper teeth of old "Tabby." It seems that the cat had observed the sudden escape of the bird, and, knowing it to be a member of the family, had gone out, capturing the escaped prisoner at once and bringing it safe home again. Dover Gazette.

YORK COUNTY.—William Forand of Biddeford had three fingers of his right hand chopped off by a fellow workman, while cutting logs, recently.

The Advent people will hold a tent-meeting at Wells Beach, Aug. 27th, and continue one week. Eminent preachers from the west, New York and Boston are expected to be present.

THE PORTLAND PRESS, speaking of the steamer Clotilda, says she is "now lying at Union Wharf, which was wrecked at Wells Beach last winter." Served it right; the Portland wharves have no business cruising about off Wells Beach in the winter time, anyway.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

LEWIS RICE for more than thirty years has stood in the foremost rank of hotel keepers in New England. The high fame of the AMERICAN HOUSE, Boston, will suffer nothing by comparison under the supervision of Lewis Rice & Son, for they are ever alert to the wants of the public, and supply all modern improvements for the convenience of guests.

The most astonishing cure of chronic diarrhœa we ever heard of is of Wm. Clark, Frankfort Mills, Waldon Co., Me.; the facts are attested by Ezra Treat, Upton Treat, and M. A. Merrill, either of whom might be addressed for particulars Mr. Clark was cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Hon. Joseph Farewell, Mayor of Rockland, Me., Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., Bangor, and Messrs. Pope Bros., Machias, Me., lumber merchants, fully endorse the Canadian Dairy Condition Powders, and have given the proprietors liberty to use their names in recommending them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WANTED.—The most active and wide-awake Man in this State,—a man who thoroughly means business and can do business, to take the General Agency of New Hampshire for one of the oldest and largest Life Insurance Companies in America. STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of billiousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label, name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

ELDER J. COUCH, of Boston, will preach in the Advent Chapel on Hanover Street, Sunday.

REV. DR. POLLARD, of Taunton, Mass., is expected to preach at the Middle Street church on Sunday.

PERSONAL.—May Mannering, one of our native authors (the author of the "Helping Hand~Series, or God helps those who help themselves,") is rusticating at Kittery Point.

A TAME BEAR, caught in Maine, is on exhibition at Rutledge's Saloon on Vaughan Street — a good chance to study natural history from the living subject, without danger.

SOME IDIOT in this city has found an occupation; he ties old boots and tin coffee pots to the tails of such inoffensive dogs as he can catch; and then sends the distracted creatures on a wild race through the streets.

SUPERINTENDENT JEREMIAH PRESCOTT, who recently resigned his position as superintendent of the Eastern Railroad to accept a similar position on the Northern Pacific Railroad, has been presented with a $100 clock by the association of railway superintendents.

TWO MEN DROWNED AT HAMPTON BEACH.—Mr. Austin L. Dailey of Bradford, Mass., while bathing in front of the Ocean House about 11 o'clock, Thursday morning, was drowned. At about the same time another gentleman, Mr. Henry Martin, Treasurer of the American Watch Co., venturing out too far was drowned, also. The bodies were recovered.

BASE BALL.—The Minie Club of South Berwick won a game with the Piscataqua club of Kittery at the former place, Thursday, by a score of 67 to 20.

The old Rockingham club of 1866 has been reorganized and will play their first game this year at the Plains, this (Saturday) afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, with the Kearsarge club.

Communicated.

Messrs. Editors: — The Democratic organ says: "'Independent' sends us another communication in reply to 'Fair Play' and others whose fulminations appear in the Organ, but we opine that our readers will not care to read a column of argument, which though spicy and sharp, only proves what everybody knows already, that the clique are unhappy because they cannot have everything their own way." What I would like to ask is, would not "Independent" have employed his time more profitably in writing a "spicy and sharp" column to prove that it would not have been to the benefit of the City to have had the census retaken? Sufficient reasons have been given, showing the desirableness of having a full and accurate census taken by authority of the city, but not the first reason has been advanced why it should not be done. The Democrats say the Republicans favor it as a political measure, which is a virtual acknowledgement that the Democratic opposition to it is but a partizan scheme.

CENSUS.

THE GATES at the North Mill Bridge were opened on Friday to drain the water from the pond, that the sewer of the Kearsarge Mill might be extended to a line outside the Eastern Railroad filling. The process of laying the pipes is well under way. When the pond was nearly free from water it presented an unusual sight and allowed our citizens an opportunity for inspecting it. A committee from the Board of Aldermen visited the premises and we took a stroll in the vicinity to watch them and prevent if possible any attempt at suicide on the part of any member. The smell from the flats between the Eastern Engine house and Hale's Point was not at all disagreeable, but when we reached the latter place the odoriferous perfume which assailed us gave ample evidence that the stench which robs many citizens of sleep at night came from the portion of the pond west of Hale's Point. We don't know what the report of the Aldermanic committee may be—as they had counsel to do their smelling for them, but the cause of the smell was shown to be the washings from the breweries. The wind was blowing from the Northwest, so that it had the sweep of the pond before encountering the pedestrians who were "doing" the investigation. The odor at the easterly end was hardly perceptible. Is the City responsible for the creation of a nuisance by any of its citizens?

NAVAL.—Chf. Engr. Thomas Williamson is ordered to relieve Chf. Engr. Thos. A. Shock on the 1st of September, as Inspector of Machinery afloat at this Navy Yard.

WE SAW A GENUINE PHILOSOPHER one day recently,—an easy-going individual who evidently believed in taking the world coolly, and accommodating himself to circumstances as they came along. His ancestors were from Newfoundland, though he was black enough to have passed for a native of the Slave Coast; and he answered readily to the name of "Carlo." Our attention was attracted to him by a peculiar tin-kettle sound, which we found was produced by the scraping and bouncing along the brick pavement of a two-quart tin dipper which dangled from his bushy caudal appendage, having probably been tied there by some enterprising boy in blissful anticipation of seeing the frightened Newfoundlander tear off up street at a fearful rate, yelling hideously, though the enterprise had evidently resulted in an ignominious failure. Carlo didn't scare worth a cent; and as he trotted leisurely along with a gait the least bit one-cornered, his expression was one of good natured satisfaction with himself and all the rest of the word, and utter unconsciousness of the tin-pot continuation he had been fitted with. We called the old philosopher to us, intending to remove the tin ware about which he was so unconcerned, and he looked in our face with a grave seriousness most comical to behold as we patted his head, the wagging of his tail causing the tin pot to rattle louder than ever. While we were feeling for our knife to cut the string, a cat ran into the middle of the street and there stopped; and Carlo unceremoniously left us, and trotted off to make pussy's acquaintance. Pussy waited till he was within a short distance, when she espied the terrible tin dipper; and the spectacle of a dog engaged in the tinware business being apparently too much for her nerves, she went across the street like a flash, followed by Carlo. The cat disappeared under a gate, and the dog went half under it in pursuit; and the last we saw of him was the part with the tail on projecting out from beneath the gate to the sidewalk, with the tin pot swaying gently back and forth like a pendulum, giving out a subdued rattle as it scraped the bricks at each oscillation of the old philosopher's tail.

DURING THE DISCUSSION on the subject of reconsidering the vote indefinitely postponing the resolutions for retaking the census, in the Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, Alderman Mendum stated that he was opposed to it because he thought it involved an unnecessary expenditure of money. He was open to conviction, if it could be proved that retaking the census would in any way benefit the city. He did not consider the matter a political one, nor did he understand that it was a party measure. Other Republicans with whom he had talked held similar views.

The Alderman from Ward Three, whose chief enjoyment seems to be to squander and dilute talk, spoke at some length on the matter, declaring that his motives had been impugned in the papers. He had not thought of its political bearing and had voted against retaking the census from having the best interests of the city at heart. He did not represent his constituents as a partizan but would protect the interests of the minority as well as of the majority. The ludicrous solemnity with which he declared that politics did not govern his actions as an Alderman was worthy a vender of nostrums on Market Square. To make the matter more amusing, he sank into his chair with an air of satisfaction which seemed to indicate that those who had listened believed what he said.

Alderman Marvin replied in a manner refreshing to his Republican constituents. He declared that he was there as a Republican Alderman, and did not make any pretentions to being above, beyond or independent of the party which elected him. It was charged that political considerations influenced him in the action he had seen fit to pursue in regard to the census resolution. His idea was that politics was the science of government, and applied to countries, states, and towns. And for a municipal officer to declare that political motives did not actuate him in the advocacy of public measures, was to admit that either personal or partizan considerations did influence him. For one he was not ashamed to acknowledge allegience to the party which he was there to represent. And in allusion to the Democratic Alderman's statement that he would not understand him, replied that he did comprehend him too thoroughly to be deceived by his sophistry, or moulded like wax to his will.

U. S. Steamer Kansas will sail from this port to-day.

STEAMER DEARBORN has been repaired and was shipped to this city on Friday.

ALDERMEN were in bad odor, Friday. They visited the locality of the creek stench hole.

At a meeting of Kearsarge S. F. E. Co., No. 3, held Thursday evening, it was voted to join the other companies in a grand torch-light procession on the evening of the 5th of September upon the arrival of Independent Co. No. 1 of North Providence, which company will be the first to arrive. They will be accompanied by the American Brass Band.

THE CASE OF SMALL POX in Kittery creates quite a sensation there. The house in which the sick man is, is quarantined; it is nearly opposite the Methodist church,—as a correspondent informs us, "in the centre of civilization, on Rum Hill." Another correspondent says: "He (the sick man) has just returned from Lowell, where there are over two hundred cases of this disease, and he came from Portsmouth to Kittery in a crowded wagon. His travelling companions on that occasion may be pardoned a little reasonable uneasiness; but I hear that the case is a mild one of varioloid. It was much better, however, to be frightened into taking precautions before the disease gets a foothold, than to fight it over so boldly and energetically after it becomes an epidemic."

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full details of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

Portsmo. & Dover Railroad.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH,
In Mayor & Aldermen, Aug. 24, 1871.

ORDERED, That the Preamble and Resolutions authorizing City Aid in the construction of the PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD be printed one time each in the daily newspapers and in the Portsmouth Journal, and that notice be given that this Board will on THURSDAY EVENING next hear any citizens who desire to be heard on the subject of said resolution.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Clerk.

Joint Resolution authorizing City Aid in the Construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad.

Whereas, there exists no sufficient, direct and convenient route of travel and transportation between Portsmouth and the City of Dover, and the places lying in that direction; and whereas the best interests of the City of Portsmouth, and the convenience and necessity of the people, as well of Portsmouth, as of other parts of the State, require additional and better means of public communication between Portsmouth and Dover, and from the interior of the intervening country; a suitable road cannot be constructed in the ordinary method nor by private enterprise without public and municipal aid. And whereas the construction of said Road will increase the property and valuation of the City, and will afford the public facilities for travel and transportation which the good of this City and the necessities of the people of the State require. And whereas the General Court, at its last session did, by an Act entitled "An Act to aid the Construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Rail Road, approved July 15, 1871, authorize any Town or City, interested in the construction of said Rail Road, to guarantee the payments of dividends upon the stock or of interest upon the bonds of said Road to a limited amount upon certain conditions and within certain limitations.

Resolved by the City Councils, That the City of Portsmouth will guaranty, and promises said Railroad, and any person or corporation holding the shares, hereafter designated, in the Capital Stock thereof, to pay, or cause to be paid, semi-annual dividends upon Three Thousand and Sixty-nine shares of the Capital Stock of said Railroad, at the rate of Three Dollars and Fifty cents upon each share, on the first day of next, and on the first day of every and thereafter succeeding, for the term of one hundred years. Whenever said Railroad shall lawfully issue Five Thousand Four Hundred and Sixty-one shares of stock in all, of the par value of One Hundred Dollars each, and provided said Railroad shall not issue the full Number of Five Thousand Four Hundred and Sixty-one shares of Stock, but a lesser Number, then said city guarantees and promises to pay, or cause to be paid, as aforesaid, like semi-annual dividends upon a proportional number of the shares of the Stock of said Road, upon the terms and conditions following, that is to say:

First.—Stock of said Railroad amounting to four hundred thousand dollars shall first be subscribed, in good faith, by responsible persons, and the subscription list having been examined, shall be approved by a Committee of the Aldermen of this City, to be appointed for the purpose, and a copy of the subscription list shall be lodged with the City Clerk.

Said Railroad shall not hereafter increase its Capital Stock beyond seven hundred thousand dollars, and if it does increase its stock within said limitation, then said new issue of Stock shall be subscribed for, approved and a list thereof lodged with the City Clerk as hereinbefore provided.

Second.—Upon the issuing of the Certificates of the Stock of said Railroad to the amount of five thousand four hundred and sixty one shares, three thousand and sixty-nine shares thereof, of one hundred dollars each, shall be designated by the Directors of the Railroad as the Stock to be guaranteed by this city. And upon the issuing of a lesser number of certificates ten shares and five thousand four hundred and sixty-one (5 per cent, of valuation of both cities,) shares, a proportional number of shares shall be designated as aforesaid. And upon said certificates shall be written or printed these words: "The City of Portsmouth, under the authority of the Act of the General Court of New Hampshire, entitled 'An Act to aid the construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad' approved the 15th day of July, A. D. 1871, guarantees the payment of regular dividends of three dollars and fifty cents a share on each share of the Stock named in the within certificates, to the holder thereof, on the first day of and the first day of in annual, for the term of one hundred years from the date hereof, according to the terms and conditions of a contract between said Portsmouth and Dover Railroad and said City of Portsmouth, dated A. D. 1871, and recorded in the records of said City, which is made part of this guaranty."

Third. The construction of said Railroad shall be commenced and completed with all reasonable economy and despatch. The whole net earnings of the Road shall be applied first to payment of the City, and to the other towns and cities which shall make similar guarantees, the money which may have been by them advanced with interest, and the remainder shall be divided semi-annually among the stockholders, until said advancement to the cities with interest, and said semi-annual dividends of three and one half per cent. shall have been paid in full, and then any surplus may be disposed of as said Corporation may lawfully direct. The Railroad shall never shall not be sold, let or leased to any person or corporation without the consent of the city expressed by vote of the City Council.

Portsmouth, A. D. 1871.
MAYOR,
CITY CLERK.

Each of which certificates shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk. And said endorsement shall be taken to be a pledge of the faith and credit of the city for the performance of the said promise.

Fourth. A committee of three citizens of Portsmouth shall be appointed annually by the Board of Aldermen of the City, to act in conference with similar committees of any other towns or cities which may guaranty the payment of dividends upon stocks or bonds of said Road, and it shall be the duty of the Committee to advise with the Directors of the Railroad in the construction, equipment and running of said Railroad, and all the financial affairs thereof. All contracts relating to the Railroad shall be submitted to the Committee for their advice and approval. All books, accounts and vouchers of the Railroad shall at all times be open and subject to the inspection of the Committee or their Agent. Once every six months the Committee shall make careful examination of the affairs, resources and condition of the said Railroad Corporation, and shall report the same to the Mayor and Aldermen of this City at least three weeks before the time of the semi-annual dividend, with the estimate setting forth how much, if anything, it will be necessary for the City to advance to make good their guaranty aforesaid. And if at any time the money or property of the Railroad shall be diverted from its proper use, or the terms and conditions of the compact with the City shall be violated, or if the Directors of the Railroad shall fail to pay the same within a reasonable time, or to make the best practicable use of the same so that the dividends on the stock may as far as possible be paid, or cannot recourse to the City, it shall be the duty of the Committee to apply forthwith to the Court or to the Legislature for relief, and if it appears in the opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court it may be found necessary for the protection of the interests of said City and the other towns and cities, that may give in similar guarantees of the bonds of said Railroad, said cities and towns may by order of the Court take possession of said Railroad and its franchises, and occupy and operate the same to their own use, provided said cities and towns shall thereupon pay to the holders of the stock guaranteed by them such sum as above described the par value thereof with interest semi-annually from the date of the guarantee at three and one half per cent. semi-annually, deducting all dividends that may have been paid thereon. And thereupon and after the expiration of one month from the public announcement of such order of Court and determination of said cities and towns, and possession taken under the same, the guaranty above described shall cease, and instead thereof the said cities and towns shall become the owners of the stock by them guaranteed severally upon making the payment above required.

Fifth. In like manner the stockholders of said Railroad by three-fourths vote at any meeting called for that purpose, may with the consent of said City terminate the contract with the City. And thereupon, and upon payment to the City of all sums by them advanced under the contract, with interest, the obligation of the City over said Railroad shall cease, and said guaranty and the responsibility of the City thereupon shall terminate.

Sixth. The said Committee acting with similar committees of any other town or city that may guaranty dividends upon stock in said Railroad, or with majority of them, and with the consent of said City, shall be to draw up a contract in writing according to the terms of this Resolution, and to carry out the same, and shall take such security by mortgage of the Railroad or otherwise as they may think proper, for the performance thereof as they may think proper, which contract being signed by the President and Directors of said Corporation, duly authorized, and by the Mayor of the City of Portsmouth, and recorded in the records of the City, shall be valid and binding upon the City.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size,
Look at the host, once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

Over the Hill to the Poor-House.

Over the hill to the poor-house, I'm trudgin' my way—
I, a woman of seventy, and only a trifle gray—
I, who am smart an' chipper, for all the years I've told,
As many another woman that's only half as old.

Over the hill to the poor house—I can't quite make it clear!
Over the hill to the poor-house—it seems so horrid queer!
Many a step I've taken a toltin' to and fro,
But this is a sort of journey I never thought to go.

What is the use of heapin' on me a pauper's shame?
Am I lazy or crazy? am I blind or lame?
True, I am not so supple, nor yet so awful stout:
But charity ain't no favor, if one can live without.

I am willin' and anxious an' ready any day
To work for a decent livin' an' pay my honest way;
For I can earn my victuals, an' more too I'll be bound,
If any body is willin' to have me 'round.

Once I was young and han'some—I was, upon soul—
Once my cheeks was roses, my eyes as black as coal;
And I can't remember, in them days, of hearin people say,
For any kind of a reason, that I was in the way.

'Taint no use of boastin' or talkin' over free,
But many a house an' home was open then to me;
Many a han'some offer I had from likely men,
And nobody ever hinted that I was a burden then.

And when to John I was married, sure he was good and smart,
But he and all the neighbors would own I done my part;
For life was all before me, an' I was young an' strong,
And I worked the best that I could in tryin' to get along.

And so we worked together; and life was hard but gay,
With now and then a baby for to cheer us on our way,
Till we had half a dozen, an' all growed clean and neat,
An' went to school like others, an' had enough to eat.

So we worked for the childr'n, and raised 'em every one;
Worked for 'em summer and winter, just as we ought to've done;
Only perhaps we humored 'em, which some good folks condemn,
But every couple's childr'n's a heap the best to them.

Strange how much we think of our blessed little ones!
I'd have died for my daughters, I'd have died for my sons:
And God let he made that rule of love; but when we're old and gray,
I've noticed it sometimes somehow falls to work the other way.

Strange another thing: when our boys an' girls was grown,
And when exceptin' Charley, they'd left us there alone;
When John ha'd nearer an' nearer come, an' dearer seemed to be,
The Lord of Hosts he came one day an' took him away from me.

Still I was bound to struggle, an' never to cringe or fail—
Still I worked for Charley, for Charley was now my all;
And Charley was pretty good to me, with never a word or frown,
Till at last he went a-courtin', and brought a wife from town.

She was somewhat dressy, an hadn't a pleasant smile;
She was quite conceity, and carried a heap o' style,
But if ever I tried to be friends, I did with her I know,
But she was hard and proud, an' I couldn't make it go.

She had an education, an' that was good for her;
But when she twitted me on mine 'twas carryin' things too far;
An, I told her once 'fore company—(an' it almost made her sick),
That I never swallowed a grammar, or at a 'rithmetic.

So 'twas only a few days before the thing was done—
They were a family of themselves, and I another one;
And a very little cottage for one family will do,
But I never have seen a house that was big enough for two.

An' I never could speak to suit her, never could please her eye,
An' it made me independent, an' then I didn't try;
But I was terribly staggered and felt it like a blow,
When Charley turned ag'in me an' told me I could go.

I went to live with Susan, but Susan's house was small;
And she was always a-hintin' how snug it was for us all;
And what with her husband's sisters, and what with children three,
'Twas easy to discover that there wasn't room for me.

An' then I went to see Thomas, the oldest son I've got,
For Thomas' buildings'd cover the half of an acre lot;
But all the childr'n was on me—I couldn't stand their sance—
And Thomas said I need'nt think I was comin' there to boss.

An' then I wrote to Rebecca, my girl who lives out West,
And to Isaac, not far from her—some twenty miles at best;
And one of 'em said 'twas too warm there for any one so old,
And t'other had an opinion the climate was too cold.

So they have shirked and slighted me an' shifted me about—
So they have well nigh soured me, an' wore my old heart out;
But still I've borne up pretty well, an' wasn't much put down,
Till Charley went to the poor-master, an' put me on the town.

Over the hill to the poor house—my childr'n dear, good by!
Many a night I've watched you when only God was nigh;
And God'll judge between us; but I will always pray
That you shall never suffer the half I do to-day.

—Geo. Alfred Townsend writes thus of Cape May: "Here is a crowded place full of shivering people. The Atlantic, foggy and showery, lies on the wide flat beaches, trying to come in out of the wet. The people peep at it now and then as if it were a disagreeable ocean, and go on with their cobbler-drinking and unsatisfactory flirting."

$1,000,000!

By authority of a special act of the Legislature of Kentucky, of March 15, 1871, the Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky will give a

GRAND GIFT CONCERT AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - $100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - 50,000

One Gift of	$25,000

445 Gifts of $100 each	44,500
721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders addressed by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488 000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary the tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 6 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy lovers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold, only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Merchants has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfebl9

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. S. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

—Geo. Alfred Townsend writes thus of Cape May: "Here is a crowded place full of shivering people. The Atlantic, foggy and showery, lies on the wide flat beaches, trying to come in out of the wet. The people peep at it now and then as if it were a disagreeable ocean, and go on with their cobbler-drinking and unsatisfactory flirting."

TO JOHN HAY.

By a plain spoken man, whose eyes somehow water when he reads "Little Breeches" and
"Jim Bludso."

I've heard of you much of late, John Hay,
And from what the papers tell,
You're hand in glove with Satan himself
A marching our souls to hell--
I own I'm a trifle scared at that,
For I thought your head was level,
And in what I'd read of your rhymes I found
Precious little smell of the devil.

Well! 'tim't for men like you and me
To run asnag of belief:
It's a mighty ticklish thing, you know,
If one of us comes to grief.
But I'm bound to speak my mind in this—
Out loud, John Hay, like a man—
More faith sprouts ready-made in the heart,
Than by "studying out God's plan."

I've read my Bible often enough—
There ain't no dust on that shelf!
And some o' things in it drive home
As if He clinched 'em Himself—
The sinful woman that washed His feet
With her tears, and was forgiven—
And the crucified thief that slept by His side
And awoke with him in Heaven.

They didn't make any speeches to Him
That they didn't half understand;
His human nature felt what they felt,
And he pardoned 'em then, off hand.
He was man enough to feel for men,
And God enough to forgive,
And that's my sort of belief in Him—
It's the humanest way to believe.

'Taint Orthodox, but I can't help that I don't know how, but I know
That there ain't much left for us to do,
It was all done long ago;
And I'd rather die in a child's dumb faith,
And feel that it met my needs,
Than trust to reason to help me right
In fountering through the creeds.

And so, John Hay, I re'ly don't see
Wherein you're very far wrong;
You can't forget He was man on earth,
And it crops out in your song;
And if He left loopholes here and there
To snake the last sinner through,
The man in Him yet won't be too rough
On the men that think like you.

Home Journal.

A FIRE TO POKE.—How can a person be attached to a house that has no centre of attraction, no soul in it, in the visible form of a glowing fire, and a warm chimney, like the heart in the body? When you think of the old homestead, if you ever do, your thoughts go straight to the wide chimney and its burning logs. No wonder that you are ready to move from one fire-placeless house into another. But you have something just as good, you say. Yes, I have heard of it. This age, which imitates everything, even to the virtues of our ancestors, has invented a fire-place, with artificial iron, or composition logs, in it, hacked and painted, in which gas is burned, so that it has the appearance of a wood fire. This seems to me blasphemy. Do you think a cat would lie down before it? Can you poke it? If you can't poke it it is a fraud. To poke a wood fire is more solid enjoyment than almost anything else in the world. The crowning human virtue in a man is to let his wife poke the fire. I do not know how any virtue whatever is possible over an imitation gas log. What a sense of insincerity the family must have, if they indulge in the hypocrisy of gathering about it. With this centre of untruthfulness, what must the life in the family be? Perhaps the father will be living at the rate of ten thousand a year on a salary of four thousand; perhaps the mother, more beautiful and younger than her beautified daughters, will rouge; perhaps the young ladies will make wax-work. A cynic might suggest as the motto of modern life this simple legend—"Just as good as the real." But I am not a cynic, and I hope for the rekindling of wood fires, and a return of the beautiful home light from them. If a wood fire is a luxury, it is cheaper than many in which we indulge without thought, and cheaper than the visits of a doctor, made necessary by want of ventilation of the house. Not that I have anything against doctors; I only wish, after they have been to see us in a way that seems so friendly, they had nothing against us.—Scribner's Monthly.

—The New Castle (Pa.) Guardian says: "There is a good deal of sneering at the idea of disappointment in love killing anybody, but such an occurrence happened in our immediate vicinity not a week ago. A young lady was engaged to a young man, who, giving ear to slander, abruptly broke off the engagement and married another. From that time, though she had previously been a strong, healthy girl, she declined rapidly, and on Saturday last she was buried—a victim of crushed hopes."

—The great difference between men—between the feeble and the powerful—the great and insignificant, is energy, invincible determination—a purpose once fixed upon, and then death or victory. That quality will compass anything that is possible in life, and no talent—no circumstances—no opportunities—will make a man without it.

—A new style of obituary item has been invented. Here is a sample: "Francis Bohle, of New York—third story window."

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there is no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputable, level headed means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, laid they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his simple guide to the Toilet, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this, statements there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the great two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered LIVER. His medication into the minutest tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the mental action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It atoms from its torpidity. The stomach acts responively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Digestion is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the great Blood Purifier—not yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It discriminates and expels the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and so I in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps out to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Pulmonic diseases are prevalent in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the throes of death, they lay down quietly. Rather walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the approach, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its availability in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's pulmonic medicines are the Ægis of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and have been given up by physicians to die. I was induced to try your medicines, and I am now in good health. I feel that I owe my life to them, and I feel it my duty to expend the matter in my lungs, and I would gilt up more than a price of fifty dollars to any sufferer every month for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite came so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. Eating gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "when I found I lacked a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who think they have consumption with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in larger doses; but the medicine need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abate, and in a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup, $1.50 per bottle, $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the patentability and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of patents furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

AT REVERE, ON THE Eastern R. R.

22 DEAD-50 WOUNDED.

Passengers Crushed and Scalded.

FOUR CARS BURNED.

A PORTSMOUTH MAN BADLY HURT.

Early Sunday morning, rumors were afloat that a serious accident had occurred at Revere, seven miles out of Boston, and on the arrival of the Pullman train some of the details were obtained. The camp meeting at Asbury Grove, Hamilton, attracted many thousand visitors on Saturday, and the Eastern Railroad was taxed to its utmost to convey them to the grounds. Conductor Noland's train for Beverly, which usually leaves Boston at 7.30 P. M., was delayed on account of the rush to the camp meeting, and left at 7.40. It waited at Everett for a train over the Saugus Branch and was fifteen or twenty minutes behind time at Revere. The train consisted of two engines, baggage car, smoking car and three passenger cars. Every available seat was taken and the cars were crowded with standing passengers.

[By Western Union Telegraph.]

BOSTON, Aug. 27.

The Pullman express train for Bangor, due in Portsmouth at 10 o'clock, left Boston on time at 8 o'clock. It consisted of the locomotive Newburyport, (William Brown, engineer,) a baggage car, two passenger cars and the new Pullman cars. Being an express, this train only stopped at Somerville, and was under full headway at Revere. The Beverly train was just starting from Revere when the engineer of the express train discovered it within 60 rods. He whistled down brakes and with his fireman jumped off. Singular to relate neither was hurt.

The engine Newburyport, went clear into the rear car of the Beverly train, leaving about 8 feet of the tender only out of it. The smoking car next to the rear car telescoped half way into the baggage car. When the collision occurred, the connecting pipes of the engine broke and in an instant the wretched sufferers were shrouded in a cloud of blinding, hissing steam, and deluged with boiling water, which brought instant death to many of the wounded and will prove fatal to others. Lamps in the cars broke, set fire to the wreck and four cars were burnt to the trucks.

Mr. Jefferson Rowe, the baggage master of the Pullman train, was crushed under the end of his car, but remained conscious, telling others how to release him. He showed the best of courage and was as cool as if his life was not in danger. By the use of jack-screws the car was lifted off him and he was taken to Boston. After being released from the car he begged some one to shoot him to put him out of his agony.

As soon as the accident became known, Chief of Police Savage of Boston detailed a large force to proceed with stretchers to the scene of horror. A corps of physicians soon collected and as soon as the sufferers could be extricated from the ruins, their wounds were cared for. There were 20 dead bodies in the Revere depot during the night and two wounded persons died while being conveyed to Boston. Some forty persons were wounded, most of them severely. It is thought others may be found under the engine.

Latest.

[By International Line.]

CHELSEA, 5 P. M.

Rev. S. Gannett, of the Arlington St Church, Boston, has been recognized among the unknown killed. He was about 80 years of age and much beloved and respected by all, and especially endeared to the people of his charge.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

The trustees of the New Hampshire Orphan Asylum met in Concord, Thursday, 24th inst., and decided to locate the asylum at the Webster place in Franklin, by a vote of ten to four. The following executive committee was chosen: G. W. Nesmith, George A. Pillsbury, Isaac K. Gage, Mrs. N. White and Mrs. Onslow Stearns.

Herbert F. Nourse, formerly of Newport, who was recently tried for murder at Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory, and convicted, has been granted a new trial on the ground that one of the men on the jury which convicted him was a foreigner, and not being naturalized had no right to sit upon a jury.

An accident occured at Andover Centre last Wednesday afternoon. A through freight train coming south with thirty-eight cars, all filled with butter, ran into a way freight train standing on the main track. The shock was very severe, demolishing its engine and destroying twelve cars on both trains.

A singular affair was reported at Manchester on Tuesday, by a man calling himself Isaac Anderson, He says that as he was walking upon the Concord Railroad, between Hooksett and Martin's Ferry, he saw a man about 50 years old upon the bank of the river. The stranger asked Anderson to deliver to the editor of the Manchester Mirror a lot of shoemaker's tools, a memorandum-book and some other articles, and as soon as Anderson had taken them, the stranger slid off the bank into the river and was drowned, Anderson trying ineffectually to save him.

The Concord Patriot states that Prof. Hitchcock's geological surveying party have discovered one of the Twin Mountains to be a solid mass of jasper. A new lake, about the size of Profile Lake, has been found on Mt. Kinsman, between the Flume and Landaff, 3800 feet up the mountain. In Waterville, Prof. Hitchcock made a discovery which he regards as not only interesting, but extremely important, and going far to determine the age of the mountains of the State. He found the Labrador spar formation, which is next to the oldest rock, in ledges. This rock has never before been found in New England, but is that which is found in connection with the rich ores of iron among the Adirondack Mountains of New York. No iron was found, but strong indications of it.

THE VOLCANO RUWANG.—A Batavia paper gives particulars of the calamity which occurred a few months ago at Taguandburg Island, of the Sangir group. It appears that on the third of March an outburst took place from the volcano Ruwang on that island, accompanied by a seaquake. The sea thereupon rose to a great height, and a gigantic wave about forty Dutch yards high suddenly rushed on the island, sweeping away before it human beings, cattle, horses and everything else. The number of inhabitants destroyed was 416. Another account says that 300 persons perished, among whom was the Rajah of the island, and only three houses were left standing. Almost all of the survivors fled to the bush, where they still were by the last accounts. The bodies of the dead were lying about making the air foul, from the want of hands to bury them. On the 14th of March the volcano cast out flames and lava which destroyed most of the cultivated lands. The wretchedness and distress of the surviving population is great and the need of help pressing.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The most astonishing cure of chronic diarrhœa we ever heard of is of Wm. Clark, Frankfort Mills, Waldon Co., Me.; the facts are attested by Ezra Treat, Upton Treat, and M. A. Merrill, either of whom might be addressed for particulars. Mr. Clark was cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Hon. Joseph Farewell, Mayor of Rockland, Me., Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., Bangor, and Messrs. Page Bros., Machias, Me., lumber merchants, fully endorsed the Sheridan Cavalry Condition Powders, and have given the proprietors liberty to use their names in recommending them.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label, name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

The Proposed Railroad Aid.

At first glance, we do not like the bill presented in the Board of Aldermen last week, for aiding the construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad—but we are very desirous that the Road should be speedily built. We have heard no arguments in favor of the scheme as presented and as it is a subject of vital importance to every citizen, we offer the use of our columns to those disposed to discuss the matter, pro or con. It should be considered with due deliberation and no hasty action taken. If the City is to be made liable for the payment of seven per cent. interest per annum on $306,000 for one hundred years, our tax-payers may well pause before assenting to the scheme. A tax of $21,483 each year, or $2,148,300 during one hundred years, is certainly a heavy burden, and before the City assumes it, it is best to ascertain whether our citizens will gain or lose by the operation. Those having it in charge do not appear to risk any money in the matter, while we do not see that the City is sufficiently secured for the money it is proposed to advance. This would seem to be a singular transaction among business men; but perhaps the explanation of its movers may put a new phase on the matter. As it is, it would seem that it would be better for the city to own and control the Road in conjunction with the city of Dover, than to be made responsible for the payment of more than two million dollars which might never be returned to the city treasury.

Communicated.

THE EXTRAORDINARY RULING of Mayor Fernald that Alderman Giddings' motion for a reconsideration of the vote indefinitely postponing the census resolution was improper and could not be entertained because he was absent and did not vote on the questions so disconcerted that gentleman that he did not appeal from the decision of the Chair. In the absence of any rule to the contrary it has been the custom for any member of the Council to move a reconsideration in all deliberative bodies in this country; where there is no adverse rule on the subject, a motion to reconsider must be considered in the same light as any other motion, and as subject to no other rules. The peremptory declaration that the motion was "not according to the rules of Parliament" provoked Alderman Marvin to the inquiry, "Is this the House of Lords, your Honor?"

BASE BALL.—The match at the Plains, Saturday afternoon, was a good one, it being the first appearance this year of the reorganized Rockinghams, and the second game of the Kearsarge nine. The fielding on both sides was poor, but the batting equalled anything of the kind ever seen there. The nines were very well matched, and we hope our citizens will witness many interesting games in the future. The individual who umpired the first half of the game was evidently not thoroughly posted in the new rules, giving erroneous decisions in several instances. Game was called at the close of the 5th inning, the Rockinghams being victorious by a score of 41 to 31.

STEAM FIRE ENGINE DEARBORN, No. 1, arrived on the cars from Boston, Friday evening, and was tested Saturday afternoon on Haymarket Square, in presence of members of the Board of Engineers and the City Government. A stream of water was thrown higher than the steeple of the Middle Street church, and we are informed that the trial was in every way satisfactory, and that the Board of Engineers consider the engine in better condition than ever before.

THE BODY of Master Clarence Moses floated ashore at Peirce's Island, a few feet from the place where he was drowned, Saturday morning, having been in the water just one week. It was discovered by Mr. Wm. Lear, who has been grappling for it every day since young Moses was drowned. His face and hands were eaten by fishes, the other parts of the body not being exposed. The funeral services took place Sunday afternoon.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD will take passengers to and from the Hedding Camp Meeting for 60 cts., (30 cts., each way,) throughout the present week, commencing this day, Monday. Trains will leave this city at 7.55, 9 and 11.30 A. M., 12, M. and 1.45 and 5.40, P. M., and will leave Epping at 9.25, 9.57, 10.30 and 11 A. M., 12 M., and 4.40 and 5.38 P. M.

A PORTSMOUTH LADY had her pocket picked in the Grand Trunk depot at Portland.

POLITICAL.

Official returns from 113 of the 115 counties of Kentucky foot up 88,556 for Harlan and 125,779 for Leslie; majority for Leslie, 37,223. The two counties (Letcher and Wolfe) from which returns have not yet been received will increase Leslie's majority to about 37,500. Harlan gains about 32,000 votes on the aggregate received by the Republican candidates for Congress last year, while Leslie receives about 10,500 more votes than were cast for Seymour in 1868.

Says the Louisville Courier-Journal: "Some of the Bourbon papers charge that we have 'swallowed the amendments.' We have done nothing of the sort. They were thrust down our throats, and we simply declined to blow ourselves up with nitro-glycerine to get rid of them."

MR. C. E. T. YEATON, who disappeared from his home in this city recently, was of a religious turn of mind, strictly temperate, and is supposed to have been suffering from partial insanity induced by fatigue and sunstroke. No tidings have yet been heard of the missing man, whose description is as follows: height, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches; age, 47 years; hair and beard black with some gray—beard usually worn full, but had shaven chin and upper lip; had on when he left, Panama hat, blue frock over white shirt, and light woolen pants. Papers in this State and Massachusetts, by giving circulation to the above description of Mr. Yeaton, may render a generous service in restoring him to his distressed family.

THE OPPOSITION ORGAN (of course) disapproves of the "cat and dog literature," of the CHRONICLE. How very cutting! Now if it could only coax that "prominent Republican" who resides in its editorial ink-bottle, to come out and announce that "the great body of the best class of Republicans are dissatisfied with the CHRONICLE'S conduct" concerning the cat and dog question, it might do some good. We tremble every time the "prominent Republican" sticks his head out of that copper inkstand.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full detail of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

J. F. ADAMS, UNDERTAKER, Residence 2 Washington St., Portsmouth.

Portsmo. & Dover Railroad.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH,
In Mayor & Aldermen, Aug. 24, 1871.

ORDERED, That the Preamble and Resolutions authorizing City Aid in the construction of the PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD be printed one time each in the daily newspapers and in the Portsmouth Journal, and that notice be given that this Board will on THURSDAY EVENING next hear any citizens who desire to be heard on the subject of said resolution.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Clerk.

Joint Resolution authorizing City Aid in the Construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad.

Whereas, there exists no sufficient, direct and convenient route of travel and transportation between Portsmouth and the City of Dover, and the places lying in that direction; and whereas the best interests of the City of Portsmouth, and the convenience and necessity of the people, as well of Portsmouth, as of other parts of the State, require additional and better means of public communication between Portsmouth and Dover, and from the nature of the intervening country a suitable road cannot be constructed in the ordinary method nor by private enterprise without public and municipal aid; and whereas the construction of said Road will increase the property and valuation of the City, and will afford the public facilities for travel and transportation which the good of this City and the necessities of the people of the State require. And whereas the Legislature of the State of New Hampshire, by an Act entitled "An Act to aid the Construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Rail Road, approved July 15, 1871, authorize any Town or City, interested in the construction of said Rail Road, to guarantee the payments of dividends upon the stock or of interest upon the bonds of said Road to a limited amount upon certain conditions and within certain limitations.

Resolved by the City Councils, That the City of Portsmouth will guaranty, and promises said Railroad, and any person or corporation holding the shares, hereafter designated, in the Capital Stock thereof, to pay, or cause to be paid, semi-annual dividends upon Three Thousand and Sixty-nine shares of the Capital Stock of said Railroad, at the rate of Three Dollars and Fifty cents upon each share, on the first day of next, and on the first day of every and thereafter succeeding, for the term of one hundred years, whenever said Railroad shall lawfully issue Five Thousand Four Hundred and Sixty-one shares of stock in all, of the par value of One Hundred Dollars each; and provided said Railroad shall not issue the full number of Five Thousand Four Hundred and Sixty-one shares of Stock, but a lesser number, then said city guarantees and promises to pay, or cause to be paid, as aforesaid, like semi-annual dividends upon a proportional number of the shares of the Stock of said Road, upon the terms and conditions following, that is to say:

First.—Stock of said Railroad amounting to four hundred thousand dollars shall first be subscribed for, in good faith, by responsible persons, and the subscription list having been examined, shall be approved by a Committee of the Aldermen of the City, to be appointed for that purpose, and a copy of the subscription list shall be lodged with the City Clerk.

Said Railroad shall not hereafter increase its Capital Stock beyond seven hundred thousand dollars, and if it does increase its stock within said limitation, then said new issue of Stock shall be subscribed for, approved and a list thereof lodged with the City Clerk as herein before provided.

Second.—Upon the issuing of the Certificates of the Stock of said Railroad to the amount of five thousand four hundred and sixty one shares, three thousand and sixty-nine shares thereof, of one hundred dollars each, shall be delivered to the Directors of the Railroad as the Stock to be guaranteed by this city. And upon the issuing of a lesser number of certificates than said five thousand four hundred and sixty-one shares, a proportional number of shares shall be designated as aforesaid. And upon said certificates shall be written or printed these words: "The City of Portsmouth, under the authority of the Act of the General Court of New Hampshire, entitled 'An Act to aid the construction of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad' approved the 15th day of July, A. D. 1871, guarantees the payment of regular dividends of three dollars and fifty cents a share on each share of the Stock named in the within certificates to the holder thereof on the first day of and the first day of every thereafter, for the term of one hundred years from the date hereof, according to the terms and conditions of a contract between said Portsmouth and Dover Railroad and said City of Portsmouth, dated A. D. 1871, and recorded in the records of said City, which is made part of this guaranty."

Portsmouth, A. D. 1871.

MAYOR,
CITY CLERK.

Each of which certificates shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk. And said endorsement shall be taken to be a pledge of the faith and credit of the city for the performance of the said promise.

Third. The construction of said Railroad shall be commenced and completed with all reasonable economy and despatch. The whole net earnings of the Road shall be applied to the payment of the City, and to the other towns and cities which shall make similar guarantees, the money which may have been by them so advanced with interest, and the remainder shall be divided semi-annually among the stockholders, until said advancement by the towns and cities with interest, and said semi-annual dividends of three and one half per cent. shall have been paid in full, and then any surplus may be disposed of by said Corporation may lawfully direct. The Railroad or its franchise shall not be sold, let or leased to any person or corporation without the consent of the city expressed by vote of the City Council.

Fourth. A committee of three citizens of Portsmouth shall be appointed annually by the Board of Aldermen of the City, to act in conjunction with similar committees of any other towns or cities which may guaranty the payment of dividends upon the stock of said Railroad. It shall be the duty of the Committee of the City with the Directors of the Railroad in the construction, equipment and running of said Railroad, and in all the financial affairs thereof, and all matters relating to the Railroad shall be submitted to the Committee for their advice and approval. All books, accounts and vouchers of the Re ilroad shall at all times be open and subject to the inspection of the Committee or their Agent. Once every six months the Committee shall make a thorough examination of the affairs, resources and condition of the said Railroad Corporation, and shall report the same to the Mayor and Aldermen of the City at least three weeks before the time of the semi-annual dividend, with an estimate setting forth how much, if anything, it will be necessary for the City to advance to make good their guaranty aforesaid. And if at any time the money or property of the Railroad shall be diverted from its proper use, or the terms and conditions of the compact with the City shall be violated, or if the Directors of the Railroad shall fail to build the same within a reasonable time, or to make the fullest practicable use of the same so that the dividends on the stock may as far as possible be paid without recourse to the City, it shall be the duty of the Committee to apply forthwith to the Supreme Court or to the Legislature for relief. And whenever in the opinion of the Supreme Judicial Court it may be found necessary for the protection of the interests of said City and the other towns and cities, that power is in similar guarantees of the stock of said Railroad, said cities and towns may, by order of the Court take possession of said Railroad and its franchises, and operate the same for the same to their own use, provided said cities and towns shall thereupon pay to the holders of the stock contemplated by the guaranty, as above described, the par value thereof with interest semi-annually from the date of the guarantee at three and one half per cent. semi-annually, deducting all dividends that may have been paid thereon. And thereupon and after the expiration of one month from the public announcement of such order of Court and determination of said cities and towns, and possession taken under the same, the guaranty above described shall cease, and instead thereof the said cities and towns shall become the owners of the stock by them guaranteed severally upon making the payment above required.

Fifth. In like manner the stockholders of said Railroad by three-fourths vote at any meeting called for that purpose, may with the consent of said City terminate the contract with this City. And thereupon, and upon payment to the City of all sums by them advanced under the contract, with interest, the contract of the City over said Railroad shall cease, and said guaranty and the responsibility of the City thereupon shall terminate.

Sixth. The said Committee acting with similar committees of any other town or city that may guaranty dividends upon stock in said Railroad, or which may have been built by the Railroad, shall cause to be drawn up a contract in writing according to the terms of this Resolution, and to carry out the same, and shall take such security by mortgage of the Railroad or otherwise for the performance thereof, as they may think proper, which contract being signed by the President and Directors of said Corporation, duly authorized, and by the Mayor of the City of Portsmouth, and recorded in the records of the City, shall be valid and binding upon the City.

THE TOMATO VINE, it is stated by the New York Evening Post, is covered with a colorless dust or dye, perfectly undistinguishable by the eye, and only to be recognized by immersion in water, to which it communicates a dark green color. After picking a few tomatoes, the hands, though in contact with the vines, will appear perfectly clean. If the hands, however, be washed, the water, it is stated, will exhibit a decidedly green shade.

COD LIVER OIL BUTTER.—An ingenious pharmaceutist has lately adopted the method of making cod liver oil into a butter, for the purpose of being administered to such patients as find an objection in the taste of the oil itself. This is done by combining the oil with a concrete or butyraceous fat, thus bringing it into a form in which it can be used as butter on bread, or made into pills.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS is the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

is its duplicate. Letters attesting its wonderful Tonic Aperient and Anti-Bilious qualities swarm in from every source. The question has been settled whether artificially medicated waters may not be equal to those which burst sparkling from the earth itself. They can; and the Seltzer Aperient, when undoubtedly pure and genuine, proves the fact.

Be cautious. Accept none other.

$1,000,000!

By authority of a special act of the Legislature of Kentucky, of March 12, 1871, the Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky will give

GRAND GIFT CONCERT AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift warranted to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF	$100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF	50,000
One Gift of	$25 000
One Gift of	20,000
One Gift of	18,000
One Gift of	17,000
One Gift of	16,000
One Gift of	15,000
One Gift of	14,000
One Gift of	13,000
One Gift of	12,000
One Gift of	11,000
One Gift of	10,000

Forty Gifts of $200 each	10,000
446 Gifts of $100 each	44,600
721 Prizes in all	$350,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the Concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $458,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them; Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the most scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf6b16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

"COULDN'T, COS HE SUNG SO."—Leaning idly over a fence, a few days since, we noticed a boy amusing himself in the grass by watching the frolicsome flight of the birds playing around him. At length a beautiful bobolink perched upon the drooping bough of a tree, which extended to within a few yards of the place where the boy sat, and maintained his position, apparently unconscious of danger. The boy seemed astonished at his impudence, and after regarding him steadily for a minute or two, obeying the instinct of the baser part, he picked up a stone and was preparing to throw it. The little arm was reached backwards without alarming the bird, when lo! the throat swelled and forth came nature's plea: "A link—a link—a l-i-n-k, bob-a-link, bob-a-link! a-no-weet, a-no-weet! I know it, I know it! a-link—a-link! don't throw it!" And he didn't. Slowly the arm subsided to its natural position, and the stone dropped.

Anxious to know why this sudden change, we inquired;

"Why didn't you stone him, my boy? You might have killed him and carried him home."

The little fellow looked up as though he suspected our meaning, and with an expression of half shame and half sorrow he replied:

"I couldn't cos he sung so!"

Who will aver that music hath not charms to soothe the savage breast? Melody awakened humanity, and humanity—mercy.

HAIR TEA.

A LADY WRITES: — "About six months ago my hair was coming out so badly that every dressing I used to get a handful, which, not wishing to throw away, I laid by in a box. I have used two bottles of your Hair Tea, and now I do not get enough to tie the ends of my braids, and have to go to the box for a few hairs for that purpose. I think every lady ought to know what a remarkable Hair Preserver you make."

DR. KENNEDY'S HAIR TEA, a complete Toilet Article to beautify and invigorate the Hair, is sold by Druggists everywhere at $1 per bottle.

NEW ENGLAND SECURITIES.

FIRST MORTGAGE JOINT BONDS OF

Three New England Railroads,

Principle and Interest Payable in Gold,

FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX,

Styled the

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quill, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

☞ They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

☞ They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

☞ These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newmarket, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably simple and certain means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines they would have lived to tell the tale.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines, can be made to do for their aid, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In the stomach and liver, nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first medicines which, in combination, the invalid may be assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It regains healthful mobility. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Digestion is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Dispirition becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more distress, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the grand test. Food never ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and expels the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is exploded, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm, comfortable room, get well at it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Keep the bowels regulated, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they want to be quiet; they must not walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patient must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is unjust to Dr. Schenck. Subjoined are statements to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption, and was given up by my friends and some time my physicians thought that I could not live a week. I then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seems to me sometimes I could further penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, which was so troublesome that it began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "and was then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is one hundred and twenty-five (125) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., will continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a Medical Opinion with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the state of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting in those in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hungeris the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of those morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in France, Britain, Canada and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form favorable for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

EXTRA

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS

OF THE

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

From the Boston Advertiser we extract the following additional particulars of the accident on the Eastern Railroad:—

At East Boston the centre of the attraction is the engine-house of the Eastern Railroad, where the engine "Newburyport" and what remains of the shattered car are to be seen in the exact position in which they were at the time of the disaster. The roof of the car, one of the monitor kind, is lying on top of the engine, the forward part of which is resting on a portion of the car-floor and partly on the rear trucks of the car. The cylinders are apparently broken inside, and it was probably from these that the scalding steam escaped and wrought such terrible destruction. The smoke-stack was thrown back upon the boiler, while the cab was crushed by the car-roof, and rested on the tender, which was intact. The trucks of the engine are gone, the driving wheels having leaped over them in the force of the shock. The forward end of the car was thrown apart, but a portion of the frame work remaining, and the paint was scorched and blistered by the heat of the burning cars.

A citizen of Revere thus describes the scene shortly after the disaster: "On arriving at the spot from which the sounds proceeded a shocking sight was presented. The engine of the express train had plunged into the rear car of the accommodation train about three-fourths of the length of the car, the floor of which was entirely demolished, while the sides continued to cling to the roof, the latter resting on the top of the engine. From the midst of this confused mass of wood and iron the screams and groans of the wounded and dying were issuing, partially deadened by the noise of the steam escaping from the boiler, which permeated every part of the ruins, scalding all with whom it came in contact. The passengers who had escaped uninjured, and such citizens as had gathered, immediately set to work to rescue as many as possible from the wreck. A few persons were taken from the windows of the cars, but many were so crowded between the boiler, the broken seats and floor timbers, and the sides and roof of the car, that they could not be reached. In order to get at them the sides were torn from the roof of the car and the latter left on the top of the engine. The dead and wounded were then exposed to view, and could be seen lying and hanging in whatever position they had happened to be caught. Some of the passengers dropped to the ground as soon as the sides of the car against which they were jammed was removed, and one of them, a young man who had been forced into the upper corner of the car, escaped without any injury, except such as he sustained in falling upon the track. Several were crushed between the broken timbers in such a manner that death must have followed immediately, but the number of these was small, death in most cases being caused by the inhalation of steam." The dead were carried into the station, and the wounded were placed in the cars of the express train to be taken to Boston.

From some cause the departure of the train containing the wounded was delayed for a long time, and three of the wounded who were on board died from the effect of their injuries, and were carried into the station. The accommodation train consisted of four cars, and the passengers in the three forward cars receive a severe shock but none of them were severely injured. The concussion, however, shook down the kerosene lamps in the car next to the rear car, and also in the smoking car, and breaking when they struck the floor, the oil ran out, ignited and set the wood-work on fire. This gave additional cause for alarm, as several persons were jammed in between the two cars in such a way that they could not be extricated without a good deal of labor and the lapse of considerable time. It was feared therefore that they could not be got out before the flames would reach them, which would pile horror on horor's head, truly. But fortunately, by the use of jackscrews and other machinery, the cars were raised, separated and torn to pieces sufficiently to permit all to be taken out in time to escape further injuries than those they had already suffered. The fire spread rapidly, and very soon the three cars comprising the train were enveloped in flames, and although the alarm bells were rung and the fire department of Revere were called out, the cars were entirely consumed. The prompt action of several gentlemen who speedily reached the scene of the disaster, and the willingness and energy with which all took hold to rescue the injured, resulted in the saving of lives and great relief to the suffering. The bodies in the station were not mangled, but most of their faces were covered with blood from slight injuries, and the hands were badly scalded, in some cases so severely that the flesh had dropped off. Only one person remains unrecognized; a large man apparently about forty years of age.

The front end of the Pullman car was somewhat damaged, but the occupants of the car received only a severe shock.

William Brown, the engineer of the Pullman train, as he was going to his home on Austin Street, in Charlestown, at about midnight, stated to a police officer of that city, that at the time of the collision he was running his train very slowly. He said that he left Boston five minutes late, and that he lost five minutes more in going to Everett. From this point he ran his train still more slowly, as the night was so dark and the air so thick that he could see but a short distance ahead, and thought it well to use more than ordinary caution. He did not discover the accommodation train until he was close upon it, and seeing that it was too late to avoid running into it he reversed the engine and jumped to the ground. He received no bodily injury except a slight bruise on the nose. The fireman jumped at the same time, and escaped unhurt.

Revere was the scene of many affecting incidents Sunday forenoon. A few indivuals at a time were allowed to enter the rooms where the bodies were lying for the purpose of recognition. Some came very much excited, and the sigh of relief when no loved one was found among the dead was often heard. As the bodies were recognized by friends they were taken from the station, wrapped in blankets and conveyed in carriages to their former homes.

The Herald says the rear car of the Beverly train had stopped exactly abreast the depot. Axes and lanterns were brought in a trice. The axes were applied vigorously and soon a rope was applied to the sides of the car and all the remaining framework was pulled asunder. Some were pinned with splinters, some had arms and legs broken, while others were mangled beyond recognition. Many, in fact the majority of the dead, were apparently free from bruises, but the peeling skin and the deathly pallor which overspread the flesh told plainly that steam and scalding water had been frightful and effective agents of death.

Supt. Prescott says that he gave express orders to the conductor of the Bangor express train to run the train slow between Boston and Beverly because the accommodation train was behind time, and that the conductor said, "All right; I'll run slow."

The Post says:—

As the people were hurrying to and fro in the station, the bells ringing and lights flashing here and there, and just as the "clang! clang!" of the gong announced to travellers that the hour had arrived, Superintendent Prescott called the agent, Mr. Lunt, to his side, and said:—

"The Beverly accommodation train was ten minutes late."

"Yes, sir."

"Then tell Brown (the engineer of the express) to look out and not run into it."

And Mr. Lunt did as directed. But not satisfied with that, the Superintendent again called him just as the train staated.

"Did you see Brown and tell him?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," was the answer.

From various Boston papers we glean the following incidents:—

All night long wrecking trains were running back and forth between Boston and Revere, and all night long the work of clearing away the debris was proceeded with. Superintendent Prescott, who had been sent for to Somerville, arrived on the spot at an early hour, and taking charge of affairs hurriedly did all in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded and care for the dead.

One tearful-eyed woman asked for her husband. Another was looking for her sister. "George was coming," said a fair, well-dressed young girl to a policeman, "and I am afraid he is—is—there," she finished, her voice choked with sobs, pointing to the depot, where, stark and stiff lay the corpses of the victims.

What was his name," asked the officer, kindly; and she told him as best she could. "No," he said, "he is not here."

It was a heavy load lifted from one heart; but even as the poor girl turned away, assured that he, at least, was safe, she could not forbear to weep.

One of the wounded victims who was removed to a neighboring house, sat upon a chair and while speaking in an apparently rational manner of the disaster, suddenly dropped to the floor stone dead. The shock had killed him.

Sitting on opposite sides of the aisle in one of the cars were two brothers named Jeffries, residing in Lynn. One was killed outright, and was afterwards recognized among the bodies in the station, by his brother, who was uninjured.

A boy in one of the cars started to go out the rear door, but found himself surrounded by fire. With presence of mind he threw his coat over his head and dashed through the flames, escaping with only his hands burned slightly.

The whistle for down brakes and the collision were almost instantaneous. The crash was distinctly heard all over Revere and Chelsea.

A young man, supposed to be Richardson of Central avenue, East Boston, was taken from the cars with his leg broken and face scalded very badly, and while being seated on the platform until some one went for a stretcher, he fainted and fell backward and while in this unconscious state some villain rifled his pockets of $100.

Among the passengers was a party of three, consisting of a young wife with her infant in her arms, and her aged mother. The young woman was killed outright, the grandmother lost one of her eyes by the scalding water, while the child escaped with but slight injury.

On a heap of rubbish from the shattered car was seated a colored woman, who appeared very calm and collected. She was seated in the rear car, at the forward part. The train had just stopped at the Revere station, when she heard a scream at the rear end. Turning around, she saw a bright glare, heard a terrible crash, saw a locomotive enter, a gentleman before her throw up his arms and sink through the floor; then darkness, a hot breath of air, and then the front of the car seemed to gape open and a grateful cool breeze followed. Crawling through the opening, she found herself in the open air and unhurt.

A gentleman who was in the smoking-car stated that when the crash came he could not tell whether it was from the front or rear. With others he was thrown from his seat into the centre of the car, and then the people began to run for the door. He was the last one to leave the car, not supposing anything serious had occurred. He immediately returned to obtain a bag he had left in a corner, but on attempting to enter he found the car filled with smoke and was compelled to withdraw.

A boy by the name of Charles Hutchinson was severely though not seriously scalded. He states that he was standing on the rear platform of the last car, and at a station before reaching Chelsea the Pullman train was seen approaching and signalled to stop by waving a lantern from the platform where he was standing. It stopped a short distance from them and they proceeded. When they stopped at Revere he saw a headlight of the other train approaching rapidly around the curve. With a scream he rushed inside the car, a lady near the door exclaiming "My God," and before he had passed half way to the other end he heard the crash, and knew no more till he found himself crawling out of the wreck, and was seized and drawn to the platform.

Some of the passengers had a considerable quantity of valuables and money about their persons. Mr. Ericsson had a gold watch and chain and quite a number of valuables. Mr. T. F. Bancroft had $500 in one of his pockets.

Rev. Dr. Gannett was on his way to Swampscott to exchange with Rev. Dr. Ware of Baltimore, who has been preaching in Swampscott during the summer. His body was not reconized until about one o'clock, when a young man who was washing the blood from the face of one of the deceased thought he looked like Dr. Gannett, and on examining his watch-pocket the name "E. S. Gannett" was found. His relations in Boston were immediately informed of the sad loss they had met with; and the was body removed during the afternoon. His death was probably caused by inhaling the steam, as his body was very little disfigured. His left hand uninjured grasped a piece of the newspaper which he held at the time of the accident, and his right hand was badly scalded. His clothing about the neck was discolored with blood, but there appeared to be no external injury which would have caused death. One of his boots was torn off, possibly in removing the body from the ruins, as the foot was not injured.

Rev. Dr. Mason was the pastor of the First Baptist church of Cambridge. He had taken passage on the unfortunate train to go to Beverly, where he was to preach in exchange with the Baptist minister resident there. It is thought that he was killed instantly by the inhalation of steam, as his body was found on the top of the boiler of the locomotive apparently not much bruised. His watch had not stopped when he was found. He was not recognized by any one present but was identified by his name being found in his pocketbook. He was about fifty-one years old and leaves a widow and six children. The brother of Dr. Manson preached in Chelsea, and was not aware at the time of the sad loss which he had sustained.

One of the severest cases of suffering was that of Mr. Edwin F. Sanborn, who seemed to be scalded all over, and the flesh dropped off his hands and arms as he was being removed to the station. He was sensible, but his tongue was so scalded that he could not speak. He was carried to the marine hospital, and after a night of intense agony died.

Mr. J. T. Witcomb, of Boston, was on board the train with a party of friends on their way to Portsmouth. It will be gratifying to his friends to hear that he and his party escaped injury.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

At Gilmanton Iron Works, last week, says the Laconia Democrat, Isaac Robinson made an agreement with John L. Piper, that if the latter would eat six quarts of boiled custard, he would swim in Lougee Pond two miles. On the 19th the custard was duly attended to, and, next morning, Robinson jumped from Nat's Bridge and fulfilled his wager. Before touching bottom he did some extra touches, to balance, he said, Piper's licking the spoon after eating the custard.

The convention of the Congregational clergymen in the State was held on Tuesday at Rochester. Rev. C. A. Downs of Lebanon preached the opening sermon. Mr. Downs was chosen moderator, Rev. G. R. Scott of Newport, scribe, and Rev. A. B. Peabody of Stratham, assistant. Of the hundred and fourteen churches reporting, fifty-six have parsonages. So far as heard from, $175,956 has been contributed to the memorial fund. Three ministers have died during the year. All the churches are reported as prospering.

The medical class at Dartmouth College numbers between thirty and forty members.

CHEYENNE is not a place where much formalism would be looked for, but the following burlesque seems to indicate that prompt action in an emergency is not regarded as one of its striking attributes:—

In Cheyenne, when anything happens, the people consider that a religious duty devolves upon them to hold a meeting and to pass resolutions upon it, and so strong has this habit become that some citizens of that place, whenever a breakfast-bell rings, call a meeting of the family, elect officers, and resolve to go down stairs and eat the meal. The other day a woman fell into Crow creek and sank. A large crowd of men were standing upon the bank at the time, and they instantly proceeded to organize a meeting for the purpose of devising means for rescuing the woman. After a spirited debate, M. A. Arnold was elected chairman; and on taking his seat Mr. Arnold not only thanked the meeting very warmly for the compliment offered him, but he made a long speech, in which he discussed the tariff, the coal product for 1871, and the Alabama claims. A series of resolutions were then offered, and after a prolonged discussion, and the acceptance of several amendments, they were passed. They embraced a protest against the depth of Crow Creek; regrets that all women were not taught to swim, and a resolve to rescue the particular woman who had fallen overboard. A committee of one was appointed to dive for her. He dived, and brought the woman to the surface by the hair. Just then it occured to him that he had not been ordered to bring her to the shore, so he let her sink again, and swam to the bank to report progress, and ask for further instructions. Action was taken on the report, and after an exciting discussion, he was directed to land the woman immediately. He dived again and dragged her out. None of the women in Cheyenne can hold their breath more than an hour at a time, so when this one was recovered she was dead. The meeting said it was sorry, but it was vastly more important that things should be done decently and in order, and according to rule, than that the life of a woman should be saved.

WHAT SHE MEANT.—A Kentucky Congressman went out riding with his sweetheart, and, in his own words:—"We were nearing a small skirt of woods, the horses at their best speed. I had determined in my own mind that when we reached a particular spot I would 'pop' the question, and so I did, but, would you believe me? she said no." Just as the word escaped her lips I purposely ran the sleigh over a stump. Out we went, she to cool her person in the snow, and I to counteract the damage she had given my affections. Her first words after getting back in the sleigh were: "Excuse me, sir, I wished to tell you to no-tice the stump." We often refer to the sleighride, but to this day she believes it was an accident.'"

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT
Requires immediate attention, as neglect often results in an incurable Lung Disease.
BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES will most invariably give instant relief. For BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, CONSUMPTIVE and THROAT DISEASES, they have a soothing effect.
SINGERS and PUBLIC SPEAKERS use them to clear and strengthen the voice.
Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered, which are good for nothing. Be sure to OBTAIN the true

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The
NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS
RAILROAD COMPANY
Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage
Eight Per Cent. Bonds
Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also wel known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and acorned interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by
First National Bank.
Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full detail of the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

NEW FIRM!
INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of
The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co partnership, under the firm name of
MORSE & ILSLEY,
for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE,
WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,
YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.
Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. WHAT THE MICROSCOPE REVEALS.—Lewenboeck tells us of an insect seen with the microscope, of which twenty-seven millions would only equal a mite.

Insects of various kinds may be seen in the cavities of a grain of sand.

Mold is a forest of beautiful trees, with the branches, leaves and fruit.

Butterflies are fully feathered.

Hairs are hollow tubes.

The surface of our bodies is covered with scales like fish; a single grain of sand would cover a hundred and fifty of these scales, and yet a scale covers five hundred pores. Through these narrow openings the sweat forces itself like water through a sieve.

The miter make five hundred steps a minute.

Each drop of stagnant water contains a world of animated beings, swimming with as much liberty as whales in the sea.

Each leaf has a colony of insects grazing on it, like cows on the meadow.

Moral.—Have some care as to the air you breathe, the food you eat, and the water you drink.—Hearth and Home.

$1,000,000!

By authority of a special act of the Legislature of Kentucky, of March 13, 1871, the Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky will give a

GRAND GIFT CONCERT AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	$100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	50,000
One Gift of	$25 000

721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert; and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $448,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the second box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the largest gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert went under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

CHAS. R. PETERS, Manager, Louisville, Ky.,

OFFICE, 129 Main St., Johnson's Block.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot soda without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

At Gilmanton Iron Works, last week, says the Laconia Democrat, Isaac Robinson made an agreement with John L. Piper, that if the latter would eat six quarts of boiled custard, he would swim in Lougee Pond two miles. On the 19th the custard was duly attended to, and, next morning, Robinson jumped from Nat's Bridge and fulfilled his wager. Before touching bottom he did some extra touches, to balance, he said, Piper's licking the spoon after eating the custard.

A house and two barns of David Shaw were burned in Ashland on Wednesday night, together with their contents.

The convention of the Congregational clergymen in the State was held on Tuesday at Rochester. Rev. C. A. Downs of Lebanon preached the opening sermon. Mr. Downs was chosen moderator, Rev. G. R. Scott of Newport, scribe, and Rev. A. B. Peabody of Stratham, assistant. Of the hundred and fourteen churches reporting, fifty-six have parsonages. So far as heard from, $175,956 has been contributed to the memorial fund. Three ministers have died during the year. All the churches are reported as prospering.

The medical class at Dartmouth College numbers between thirty and forty members.

Miss Wolcott, who escaped alive from the Charlestown accident, is so ill that her friends do not dare tell her that her friends were killed. She is not in Boston, as reported.

The first Baptist church in Hopkinton celebrates its centennial on the 30th. an historical discourse and reminiscences of the past will be furnished by former pastors.

"Couldn't, Cos He Sung So."—Leaning idly over a fence, a few days since, we noticed a boy amusing himself in the grass by watching the frolicsome flight of the birds playing around him. At length a beautiful bobolink perched upon the drooping bough of a tree, which extended to within a few yards of the place where the boy sat, and maintained his position, apparently unconscious of danger. The boy seemed astonished at his impudence, and after regarding him steadily for a minute or two, obeying the instinct of the baser part, he picked up a stone and was preparing to throw it. The little arm was reached backwards without alarming the bird, when lo! the throat swelled and forth came nature's plea: "A link—a link—a i-i-n-k, bob-a-link, bob-a-link! a-no-weet, a-no-weet! I know it, I know it! a-link—a-link! don't throw it!" And he didn't. Slowly the arm subsided to its natural position, and the stone dropped.

Anxious to know why this sudden change, we inquired;

"Why didn't you stone him, my boy? You might have killed him and carried him home."

The little fellow looked up as though he suspected our meaning, and with an expression of half shame and half sorrow he replied:

"I couldn't cos he sung so!"

Who will aver that music hath not charms to soothe the savage breast? Melody awakened humanity, and humanity—mercy.

FIRST MORTGAGE JOINT BONDS OF

Three New England Railroads,

Principle and Interest Payable in Gold,

FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX,

Styled the

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

The above list includes all of what are commonly called the first class machines, but the

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

☞ They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

☞ They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

The two celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to them, in their graves, are sleeping the dreamless slumber little which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his mind's eye, a disease that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalids made so by prevailing ills that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two potent allies to cause of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach and liver, respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blessed properties, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, which results in healthy nutrex. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach, no dyspeptic pain.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gelatinous lumps it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that occupied is removed and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented if a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, is the best of further reason, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and the patients they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This is a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; coughing incessantly, and at one time my friends thought I could not live a week, and I was then like a drowning man catching at straws. I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all begin to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was but ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for using the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in addition the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other recommendation than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in stock in thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1871.

THE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

From the Boston Advertiser we extract the following additional particulars of the accident on the Eastern Railroad:—

At East Boston the centre of attraction is the engine-house of the Eastern Railroad, where the engine "Newburyport" and what remains of the shattered car are to be seen in the exact position in which they were at the time of the disaster. The roof of the car, one of the monitor kind, is lying on top of the engine, the forward part of which is resting on a portion of the car-floor and partly on the rear trucks of the car. The cylinders are apparently broken inside, and it was probably from these that the scalding steam escaped and wrought such terrible destruction. The smoke-stack was thrown back upon the boiler, while the cab was crushed by the car-roof, and rested on the tender, which was intact. The trucks of the engine are gone, the driving wheels having leaped over them in the force of the shock. The forward end of the car was thrown apart, but a portion of the frame work remaining, and the paint was scorched and blistered by the heat of the burning cars.

A citizen of Revere thus describes the scene shortly after the disaster: "On arriving at the spot from which the sounds proceeded a shocking sight was presented. The engine of the express train had plunged into the rear car of the accommodation train about three-fourths of the length of the car, the floor of which was entirely demolished, while the sides continued to cling to the roof, the latter resting on the top of the engine. From the midst of this contused mass of wood and iron the screams and groans of the wounded and dying were issuing, partially deadened by the noise of the steam escaping from the boiler, which permeated every part of the ruins, scalding all with whom it came in contact. The passengers who had escaped uninjured, and such citizens as had gathered, immediately set to work to rescue as many as possible from the wreck. A few persons were taken from the windows of the cars, but many were so crowded between the boiler, the broken seats and floor timbers, and the sides and roof of the car, that they could not be reached. In order to get at them the sides were torn from the roof of the car and the latter left on the top of the engine. The dead and wounded were then exposed to view, and could be seen lying and hanging in whatever position they had happened to be caught. Some of the passengers dropped to the ground as soon as the sides of the car against which they were jammed was removed, and one of them, a young man who had been forced into the upper corner of the car, escaped without any injury, except such as he sustained in falling upon the track. Several were crushed between the broken timbers in such a manner that death must have followed immediately, but the number of these was small, death in most cases being caused by the inhalation of steam." The dead were carried into the station, and the wounded were placed in the cars of the express train to be taken to Boston.

From some cause the departure of the train containing the wounded was delayed for a long time, and three of the wounded who were on board died from the effect of their injuries, and were carried into the station. The accommodation train consisted of four cars, and the passengers in the three forward cars receive a severe shock but none of them were severely injured. The concussion, however, shook down the kerosene lamps in the car next to the rear car, and also in the smoking car, and breaking when they struck the floor, the oil ran out, ignited and set the wood-work on fire. This gave additional cause for alarm, as several persons were jammed in between the two cars in such a way that they could not be extricated without a good deal of labor and the lapse of considerable time. It was feared therefore that they could not be got out before the flames would reach them, which would pile horror on horror's head, truly. But fortunately, by the use of jackscrews and other machinery, the cars were raised, separated and torn to pieces sufficiently to permit all to be taken out in time to escape further injuries than those they had already suffered. The fire spread rapidly, and very soon the three cars comprising the train were enveloped in flames, and although the alarm bells were rung and the fire department of Revere were called out, the cars were entirely consumed. The prompt action of several gentlemen who speedily reached the scene of the disaster, and the willingness and energy with which all took hold to rescue the injured, resulted in the saving of lives and great relief to the suffering. The bodies in the station were not mangled, but most of their faces were covered with blood from slight injuries, and the hands were badly scalded, in some cases so severely that the flesh had dropped off. Only one person remains unrecognized; a large man apparently about forty years of age.

The front end of the Pullman car was somewhat damaged, but the occupants of the car received only a severe shock.

William Brown, the engineer of the Pullman train, as he was going to his home on Austin Street, in Charlestown, at about midnight, stated to a police officer of that city, that at the time of the collision he was running his train very slowly. He said that he left Boston five minutes late, and that he lost five minutes more in going to Everett. From this point he ran his train still more slowly, as the night was so dark and the air so thick that he could see but a short distance ahead, and thought it well to use more than ordinary caution. He did not discover the accommodation train until he was close upon it, and seeing that it was too late to avoid running into it he reversed the engine and jumped to the ground. He received no bodily injury except a slight bruise on the nose. The fireman jumped at the same time, and escaped unhurt.

Revere was the scene of many affecting incidents Sunday forenoon. A few individuals at a time were allowed to enter the rooms where the bodies were lying for the purpose of recognition. Some came very much excited, and the sigh of relief when no loved one was found among the dead was often heard. As the bodies were recognized by friends they were taken from the station, wrapped in blankets and conveyed in carriages to their former homes.

The Herald says the rear car of the Beverly train had stopped exactly abreast the depot. Axes and lanterns were brought in a trice. The axes were applied vigorously and soon a rope was applied to the sides of the car and all the remaining framework was pulled asunder. Some were pinned with splinters, some had arms and legs broken, while others were mangled beyond recognition. Many, in fact the majority of the dead, were apparently free from bruises, but the peeling skin and the deathly pallor which overspread the flesh told plainly that steam and scalding water had been frightful and effective agents of death.

Supt. Prescott says that he gave express orders to the conductor of the Bangor express train to run the train slow between Boston and Beverly because the accommodation train was behind time, and that the conductor said, "All right; I'll run slow."

The Post says:—

As the people were hurrying to and fro in the station, the bells ringing and lights flashing here and there, and just as the "clang! clang!" of the gong announced to travellers that the hour had arrived, Superintendent Prescott called the agent, Mr. Lunt, to his side, and said:—

"The Beverly accommodation train was ten minutes late."

"Yes, sir."

"Then tell Brown (the engineer of the express) to look out and not run into it."

And Mr. Lunt did as directed. But not satisfied with that, the Superintendent again called him just as the train started.

"Did you see Brown and tell him?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," was the answer.

From various Boston papers we glean the following incidents:—

All night long wrecking trains were running back and forth between Boston and Revere, and all night long the work of clearing away the debris was proceeded with. Superintendent Prescott, who had been sent for at Somerville, arrived on the spot at an early hour, and taking charge of affairs hurriedly did all in his power to alleviate the sufferings of the wounded and care for the dead.

One tearful-eyed woman asked for her husband. Another was looking for her sister. "George was coming," said a fair, well-dressed young girl to a policeman, "and I am afraid he is—is—there," she finished, her voice choked with sobs, pointing to the depot, where, stark and stiff lay the corpses of the victims.

"What was his name," asked the officer, kindly; and she told him as best she could. "No," he said, "he is not here."

It was a heavy load lifted from one heart; but even as the poor girl turned away, assured that he, at least, was safe, she could not forbear to weep.

One of the wounded victims who was removed to a neighboring house, sat upon a chair and while speaking in an apparently rational manner of the disaster, suddenly dropped to the floor stone dead. The shock had killed him.

Sitting on opposite sides of the aisle in one of the cars were two brothers named Jeffries, residing in Lynn. One was killed outright, and was afterwards recognized among the bodies in the station, by his brother, who was uninjured.

A boy in one of the cars started to go out the rear door, but found himself surrounded by fire. With presence of mind he threw his coat over his head and dashed through the flames, escaping with only his hands burned slightly.

The whistle for down brakes and the collision were almost instantaneous. The crash was distinctly heard all over Revere and Chelsea.

A young man, supposed to be Richardson of Central avenue, Chelsea, was taken from the cars with his leg broken and face scalded very badly, and while being seated on the platform until some one went for a stretcher, he fainted and fell backward and while in this unconscious state some villain rifled his pockets of $100.

Among the passengers was a party of three, consisting of a young wife with her infant in her arms, and her aged mother. The young woman was killed outright, the grandmother lost one of her eyes by the scalding water, while the child escaped with but slight injury.

On a heap of rubbish from the shattered car was seated a colored woman, who appeared very calm and collected. She was seated in the rear car, at the forward part. The train had just stopped at the Revere station, when she heard a scream at the rear end. Turning around, she saw a bright glare, heard a terrible crash, saw a locomotive enter, a gentleman before her throw up his arms and sink through the floor; then darkness, a hot breath of air, and then the front of the car seemed to gape open and a grateful cool breeze followed. Crawling through the opening, she found herself in the open air and unhurt.

A gentleman who was in the smoking-car stated that when the crash came he could not tell whether it was from the front or rear. With others he was thrown from his seat into the centre of the car, and then the people began to run for the door. He was the last one to leave the car, not supposing anything serious had occurred. He immediately returned to obtain a bag he had left in a corner, but on attempting to enter he found the car filled with smoke and was compelled to withdraw.

A boy by the name of Charles Hutchinson was severely though not seriously scalded. He states that he was standing on the rear platform of the last car, and at a station before reaching Chelsea the Pullman train was seen approaching and signalled to stop by waving a lantern from the platform where he was standing. It stopped a short distance from them and they proceeded. When they stepped at Revere he saw a headlight of the other train approaching rapidly around the curve. With a scream he rushed inside the car, a lady near the door exclaiming "My God," and before he had passed half way to the other end he heard the crash, and knew no more till he found himself crawling out of the wreck, and was seized and drawn to the platform.

Some of the passengers had a considerable quantity of valuables and money about their persons. Mr. Ericsson had a gold watch and chain and quite a number of valuables. Mr. T. F. Bancroft had $5000 in one of his pockets.

Rev. Dr. Gannett was on his way to Swampscott to exchange with Rev. Dr. Ware of Baltimore, who has been preaching in Swampscott during the summer. His body was not recognized until about one o'clock, when a young man who was washing the blood from the face of one of the deceased thought he looked like Dr. Gannett, and on examining his watch-pocket the name "E. S. Gannett" was found. His relatives in Boston were immediately informed of the sad loss they had met with; and the body was removed during the afternoon. His death was probably caused by inhaling the steam, as his body was very little disfigured. His left hand uninjured grasped a piece of the newspaper which he held at the time of the accident, and his right hand was badly scalded. His clothing about the neck was discolored with blood, but there appeared to be no external injury which would have caused death. One of his boots was torn off, possibly in removing the body from the ruins, as the foot was not injured.

Rev. Dr. Mason was the pastor of the First Baptist church of Cambridge. He had taken passage on the unfortunate train to go to Beverly, where he was to preach in exchange with the Baptist minister resident there. It is thought that he was killed instantly by the inhalation of steam, as his body was found on the top of the boiler of the locomotive apparently not much bruised. His watch had not stopped when he was found. He was not recognized by any one present but was identified by his name being found in his pocketbook. He was about fifty-one years old and leaves a widow and six children. The brother of Dr. Manson preached in Chelsea, and was not aware at the time of the sad loss which he had sustained.

One of the severest cases of suffering was that of Mr. Edwin F. Sanborn, who seemed to be scalded all over, and the flesh dropped off his hands and arms as he was being removed to the station. He was sensible, but his tongue was so scalded that he could not speak. He was carried to the marine hospital, and after a night of intense agony died.

Mr. J. D. Whitcomb, of Boston, was on board the train with a party of friends on their way to Portsmouth. It will be gratifying to his friends to hear that he and his party escaped injury.

KILLED AND WOUNDED.

The following is a corrected list of the killed:—

Rev. E. S. Gannett, D. D., Boston.
Rev. S. R. Mason, D. D., Cambridgeport.

William A. Lee, Boston.
R. Fitzpatrick, Boston.
Mary A. Cowley, Boston.
John B. Wells, Boston.
Mrs. P. C. Jasper, ——.

Total killed, or who died in a short time after the collision, 25.

The following are the names of the wounded, (mostly slightly scalded,) so far as ascertained:—

Jacob Allen, Ann Rawson, Walter Goodwin, William Stocker, John Bartol, George J. Hills, Edward Williams, Lynn; John B. Bettis, Fred. Browning, Mary A. Call, Salem; Frank Davis, Lizzie Hatch, Charlestown; Ann Foley, Frank Fitzpatrick, Boston; Stephen O. Thayer, Newton; John Buckley, Beverly; Charles Hutchinson, ——; Jefferson C. Rowe, Portsmouth; total, 18.

In addition to those reported, many who were wounded left the scene without giving their names; the list will be much larger when the record is complete.

SENT TO HOSPITALS.

The following are the names of the wounded at the Massachusetts general hospital:—

Miss Annie Foley, tailoress, twenty-years old, a native of Nova Scotia, residing in Boston.

John B. Bettis, forty-six years, residing in Salem.

Miss Lizzie Hatch of Charlestown, twenty-five years old, employed as a hat trimmer.

John Buckley of Beverly, an Irishman, seventy years old, an engineer in a cabinet-factory.

Frederick Browning of Salem, twenty-three years old, clerk at Bayley's carriage salesroom.

Edward Williams, a shoemaker, an Irishman, twenty-three years old; lives in Lynn.

Stephen O. Thayer of Newton, forty years old, a printer, and married.

All the above were injured only by being scalded on the face and hands, and are doing well.

The following were sent to the Boston city hospital:—

Mary A. Crowley, of Boston, a widow, twenty-nine years old, injuries by burning. She died at 6 o'clock on Sunday morning.

John B. Wells, of Boston, clerk, died on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock.

Jeff. C. Rowe, of Portsmouth, twenty-nine years old, baggage master on the Pullman train. His arm was fractured and he is doing well.

George J. Hills, forty-four years old, a shoemaker of Lynn, badly scalded.

Frank Fritzpatrick, a mechanic, of Boston, arm amputated.

Frank Davis, twenty-one years old, a glass-cutter, residing at Charlestown, injuries not ascertained.

Mrs. Mary A. Call, a nurse, residing in Salem, injured internally.

Mr. J. A. Allen, of Lynn, died Monday morning, and Ann Rawson died Sunday night. Another death is reported at the Boston city hospital.

There were three unknown bodies at Revere, Monday morning. One was identified as Mr. John F. Kelley, of East Boston, and another as Mr. Maurice Cornell of Charlestown; one body was still unrecognized, Monday afternoon—that of a woman about 30 years of age, slightly built, with black hair, and neatly dressed in black alpaca.

In view of the awful calamity the citizens and residents of Swampscott were invited to meet at the town hall on Monday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock, to give expression to their feelings of sympathy for the bereaved and the suffering, to discover where the responsibility rests for this new horror, and to take such measures as may be deemed best to promote the security of the travelling public.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Communicated.

THE D. & P. R. R.—The writer had prepared an article on the proposed manner of building this road, embodying the points so clearly put in your issue of Monday. Should this road be built as proposed, it in the opinion of many will inevitably saddle upon the city for generations to come, a heavy debt. That the projectors and corporators named in the act are more than doubtful of its being a paying or self sustaining road is very evident from their refusal to invest a dollar of their own funds in it! They are willing however, to stand ready, should the result be prosperous, to pocket any profits that arise. "Heads we win, tails you lose," seems to be their motto. The document published by the City Council is most loosely drawn and does not offer the slightest security that the money shall be faithfully applied. Certificates of stock are to be issued and endorsed by the city. What is to prevent their being sold at a rate below their face? Or what guaranty is there that the money received for them will not be misapplied? The subscribers to the stock are not required to pay up a dollar; the subscription list must be approved and then the city must affix its endorsement. What prevents the immediate transfer of the stock to irresponsible parties? The corporation certainly can't claim much credit for disinterestedness, and what remedy has the city in case its credit is abused? Why, it can take possession of the road, that is, seize so much as may be left of its own funds! Now, as you say, it would seem to be better as the city is to pay all the bills and take all the risks, that it should build and own the road. This would be better—as showing little common sense—than the other course, though there are grave doubts as to the city's power to do either. I take it the road will be of little benefit to the city unless it can do business enough to be self-sustaining, that nobody believes it will be, is self-evident. The income of the gentlemen who appear as corporators would if current belief is correct, build the road in three years, and yet they are acknowledged to be among our shrewdest business men. Not one of them will take a dollar of stock unless they have the city's guarantee of seven per cent., somewhat more than most of us where houses are to be mortgaged to pay it, can get, and two per cent. more than the city is paying on part of its own bonds.

Messrs. Editors, this whole matter of the city's giving aid to corporation is wrong; if we can as a city, build railroads, we can build ships or cotton mills. Enterprise which offers fair prospects of return will never lack capital and no others are desirable. We infer from the document published by the City Council that this question is not even to be submitted to the vote of the people.

We trust your liberality in offering your columns for the discussion of this question will be availed of and the friends of the road will give reasons for the faith that is in them, other than the senseless cry of "Old Fogy" against those who disagree with them — who are MANY.

THE INTEREST felt in this city in regard to the accident at Revere, Mass., was intense on Sunday, and has only partially abated. Our extra edition, issued Sunday afternoon, containing the first reliable news of the disaster, was quickly exhausted, and we were obliged to run our press late into the evening to supply the demand from Kittery, Newcastle and Rye. Our Monday morning edition was soon disposed of and the Boston papers being meagre, we were again obliged to issue an Extra at 2.30, P. M., containing the latest particulars. This edition went the way of the others and the demand for the evening. Boston papers was beyond the supply. Our thanks for the news for our Sunday editions and for the latest news published in our Extra of Monday are due to Miss C. H. Snow, of the Western Union Telegraph Line, who at great inconvenience remained at her post to relieve the anxiety of those who had fears of the loss of relatives or friends. Thanks, also, to Mr. E. O. Cole of the Internation Line for courtesies.

THE TORNADO of Sunday evening did great damage in Waltham, West Newton, Arlington, Everett, Malden, Nahant, Lynn, Marblehead and along the coast. In this city the rain fell in torrents, and the wind blew a half hurricane for a short time.

THE LADIES of the Episcopal Society of Exeter had a Fair at Weld Hall, Rye Beach, last Wednesday evening, for the benefit of their church. On Thursday evening James P. Bartlett Esq. of this city, read at the same place for a like purpose, Correspondence.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.

In the incidents of heroism developed by the disaster of Saturday evening at Revere, that of Mr. Jeff. C. Rowe, baggage master of the Pullman express train stands most deservedly in a conspicuous position. The signal of danger brought him at once to his post at the brake in the rear of the baggage car, unflinchingly holding it through the terribly warning premonitory signals. Thrown down by the shock of the concussion he was fortunately seated in the doorway of the baggage car, thus avoiding an otherwise inevitable death. The platform of the succeeding car lapped over him. With his legs and right arm terribly crushed, he bore the agony with heroic fortitude for more than an hour before being released. To those who would have strenuously aided to release him at first he said: "If any one is hurt more than I, attend to them first; but get me out as soon as you can."

To Mr. Howard Jackson, the energetic young expressman of Court Square, Mr. R. gave an opinion that it was "awful rough," and at the hospital his bearing through the painful ordeal of amputating his right arm and setting and splintering his broken legs won for him the admiration of the surgeons in charge. During the time consumed in releasing him from his terrible position, Mr. Rowe directed the willing hands in the manner as to which they should best relieve him from the torture imposed by the inert mass pressing upon his mangled limbs. Fears were entertained last night of a fatal termination of his injuries, but the surgeons declared that if any possibility existed of preserving so brave a man, he should be saved. His afflicted wife was present, having been telegraphed for at an early hour. His many friends in Portsmouth, and the public who have full sympathy with the heroism which sacrifices life to duty, will be glad to know that this morning Mr. Rowe was much better and seems likely to recover from his terrible injuries.

Mr. J. B. Bettis of Salem, well known in Portsmouth as a dealer in California Wines, from his long connection with Messrs. Perkins, Stern & Co., and sometime with C. A. Richards & Co., was also injured by scalding about the face and hands but it is hoped his injuries, though painful, are not serious.

The papers and telegraph will have given you many details, and so I will spare the sickening minutiæ which today gives a topic for all thinking minds in this community. M.

THE GREAT UNAPPRECIATED, whose modesty is such that he assumes to regulate all the Boston dailes in addition to conducting the Portsmouth Journal and Chronicle and misconducting the local Democratic organ, and who preferred to loaf about town flourishing a cane and smoking a cigar on Sunday, rather than exert himself towards accommodating the public with the news of the disaster at Revere, characteristically snarls because we did not follow his example, though he unaccountably omits to unbottle his "prominent Republican" to throw at us. This superb exemplification of enterprise and bombast publishes the news of the accident (after we had issued several extra editions containing full particulars) thirty-three hours after the accident was known here, and several hours after the arrival here of the New York Herald having an account of the disaster that would nearly fill the Lyre.

He also displays his usual amount of egotism by intimating that he could manage a railroad—and we think he could, about as successfully as he does a newspaper. There is a Chinese proverb which applies so readily to his case that we quote for his sole benefit. It runs thus: "The dog in the kennel barks at his fleas; the dog that is busy hunting does not feel any."

THE LIGHT seen in a southerly direction on Saturday evening, which was supposed to be from a burning building, was caused by a large bonfire on Rye Beach, near the Ocean House.

THE SATURDAY EVENING "HOPS," at the different Hotels at Rye have been a prominent feature this season and have been largely attended.

THE MENDELSSOHN QUINTETTE CLUB of Boston gave a concert Saturday evening at the House of Albert Batchelder, Little Boar's Head.

PROF. CALDWELL gave a practical lecture upon mesmerism at Weld Hall, Rye Beach last Friday evening, to a good audience.

THE NEW FLAGSTAFF recently erected near the Farragut House, Rye Beach, is a neat ornament to the premises.

LATE ADVICES seem to corroborate the active arming of Russia and the remodelling of the entire army, in expectation of war with Germany, which is preparing to form alliances with Austria and Italy against France and Russia combined. In diplomatic circles in St. Petersburg, Berlin, Vienna and Rome this intention is said to be understood.

ANOTHER RAILROAD SLAUGHTER.—The mail train bound west on the Philadelphia and Erie road collided with the Empire freight train going east, Saturday morning, near Westford, on the middle division of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad. Six persons were killed and a score or more wounded.

CHARLES LINDSEY, aged twenty-one, was drowned at Bristol, Conn., in a heroic effort to save two boys who were thrown from a boat. He swam with one to the shore, but in returning for the other his strength failed, and he sank. The lad was saved.

STEAMER OCEAN WAVE exploded her boiler, Sunday afternoon, at the wharf at Clear Point, Mobile. About 200 excursionists were on board, 50 to 60 being killed or wounded.

Sch Hattie S. Bishop, Webb, old from Philadelphia for this port, Aug. 25th.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successful carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or £200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harrison Durkee, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also wel known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

Information concerning the Company and the Road, and pamphlets containing map and full detail's o the enterprise, can be obtained of the undersigned or any of the Company's advertised agents.

NEW FIRM!

INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE,
WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

WHAT THE MICROSCOPE REVEALS.—Lewenhoeck tells us of an insect seen with the microscope, of which twenty-seven millions would only equal a mite.

Insects of various kinds may be seen in the cavities of a grain of sand.

Mold is a forest of beautiful trees, with the branches, leaves and fruit.

Butterflies are fully feathered.

Hairs are hollow tubes.

The surface of our bodies is covered with scales like fish; a single grain of sand would cover a hundred and fifty of these scales, and yet a scale covers five hundred pores. Through these narrow openings the sweat forces itself like water through a sieve.

The mites make five hundred steps a minute.

Each drop of stagnant water contains a world of animated beings, swimming with as much liberty as whales in the sea.

Each leaf has a colony of insects grazing on it, like cows on the meadow.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring preparations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing curse of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label, name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

Thirty Gifts of $500 each	15,000
Forty Gifts of $400 each	16,000
Forty-five Gifts of $300 each	13,500
Fifty Gifts of $200 each	10,000
446 Gifts of $100 each	44,600
721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have contracted to present a concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the Kentucky Concert, of Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $44,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. Ticket agents are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawl8w16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades at home, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINTS, in the City. Also Dealer in

THE ROCKINGHAM QUARTERLY MEETING (Free Will Baptist,) held a session at South Berwick, commencing Aug. 23d. Quite a portion of the churches are in Rockingham County. A newly organized church in Fremont of 15 members was received into membership at this session. The next Quarterly Meeting will be held with the Pearl Church in this city, the third Wednesday in October.

The New Durham Quarterly Meeting was held at East Rochester at the same time as the Rockingham. The churches are mostly in Strafford County. A large number of ministers were in attendance, and good congregations. The next session is to be held at Strafford, (Crown Point.)

The Congregational and Presbyterian General Association held its annual session at Rochester Village, commencing Aug. 22d, and continuing 3 days. Minister were present from all parts of the State, from other States in New England, and from some of the Western States. A delegate to represent the F. W. Baptist Yearly Meeting of New Hampshire presented the congratulations of that body.

Considerable time was devoted to Reports from the County Conferences of the State Home Missions, &c. On Wednesday evening a meeting was held in the open air. It was near the flag-staff of the Village, and one or two liquor shops were near. From them were heard slight hisses as the exercises proceeded, indicating that the critter was there and might bite. This meeting was presided over by Wm. A. Rand of South Seabrook. He also presided at a praise meeting in the church the next morning. In the afternoon of Thursday, Rev. W. J. Tucker of Manchester preached, and the meeting closed with the Sacrament of the Supper.

The Congregationalists are the most numerous [illegible] bering over 19,000.

NEW PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED.

Old and New for September, of which we have received an advanced copy, is, like some of its contemporaries, unusually rich in poetry. Among the prose articles, besides the serials, may be mentioned, "Some Words about Women," by Martha Perry Lowe; "Immortality," by C. C. Everett; "St. Jerome," by H. G. Spaulding, and contributions by Gail Hamilton, Julia Ward Howe and others.

The October number of Old and New will contain the first part of The Vicar's Daughter, a new novel by George McDonald, to be published as a serial, having been purchased for our exclusive use in America.

The Lady's Friend for September, has a steel plate, "The Haunted House," a very fine moonlight picture. The music is that saddest of all sad songs—"The long, long, weary day," the words in English and in German; and, illustrating the sentiment of the music, "Will He Return to Her?" leads off the literary department. There is a rich variety of stories and poems; The serial by Amanda Douglas—"A Little Money," is in the best style of that popular author; and Miss Muzzey's continued story, "Jealousy," grows intensely interesting. The woodcuts of desirable and seasonable patterns must be acceptable to the ladies; as also the designs for fancy work, and the general interest and information of the editorial department. $2.50 a year. Deacon & Peterson, Philadelphia.

UNPLEASANT VISITORS.—California people are sometimes subjected to unceremonious visits from visitors who are not so pleasant as might be. For instance the Los Angelos Express says that as Mr. Tweedy was sitting upon a log eating his lunch, four large sized grizzlies came rotting down the canon, and one went quietly up behind him, hit him on the head, knocked him off the log, and then bit him severely through the back of the neck and shoulder. The young man played dead, and the bear probably thinking he had finished him, went off a distance, but to be doubly sure, came back and smelt around him again and started off. When the bear had gone a distance of about 50 yards, Tweedy jumped up and mounted his horse, which was standing near by, and rode away. Another man sleeping in a tent, woke up and saw four grizzlies approaching. He did not stop to receive them, but mounted his horse and rode away, leaving them masters of the situation.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no adequate reason save the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Thous near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would now have lived.

Dr Schenck has in his own case proved that, wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his peculiar method of treatment, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy needs no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the lungs have "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It assumes its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the blood. Convalescence is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more dentinent, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest test of the medicines yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and expels the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gallerings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. I feel confident of my responsibility in this section of the country in the fall and winter reason, and all wrong-minded physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if they are not hardly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not be down-spirited, nor must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep the good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deale to do with the cure, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is simply a libel on the skill and patriotism to the Family of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was to the last stage of consumption like a drowning man catching at straws. I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and fifty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., will continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The diseases for which the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. All druggists and dealers.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1871.

THE RAILROAD HORROR.

We glean from Boston exchanges many facts of interest. At the coroner's inquest, John S. Knowland, conductor of the Beverly train, testified that his train started from Boston about 15 minutes before 8 o'clock—30 minutes late. His train was delayed at the Saugus branch junction eight minutes. He sent a man back with a lantern. A train was seen approaching and he signalled it to stop, which it did. He took another engine. At Everett he stopped about one minute, and at Chelsea about one minute and a half or two minutes. Stopped next at North Chelsea, (Revere). Walked forward through the train, and stepped out on the platform. Said "all right," for train to start, and swung the lantern. Just then some one shouted "Here comes a train!" Then came the crash. Before starting was told to depart as quick as possible. Received no instructions regarding the express train. Tail-lights were burning; both white. Did not see Pullman express before it struck. Had the right of the road. The weather was overcast, but clear. Saw the light half a mile off that night. For the last week the road has been at times short of cars on account of camp meetings. On the night of the accident the depot-master, Mr. Lunt, said that the superintendent was anxious for the train to start. Received no caution in relation to a following train that night, but knew the Pullman train would follow in about fifteen minutes. With any ordinary delay the train would not have been likely to overtake him. It is the duty of the rear train to look out for the preceding ones. Had no apprehension of danger. Never heard of Mr. Brown, the engineer, being intoxicated.

A young man named Coggswell, who was in the rear car of the Beverly train, gave up his seat to a young lady who came in the car at Revere. He then walked to the door, saw the express train coming and jumped off. He did not see the young lady afterwards. His politeness probably saved his life.

[illegible] of the Beverly train, and hearing a noise looked around, but immediately realized that he was turning somersaults, rolling over, &c., under the cars. He thinks he went through the bottom of the car, and that the engine of the express train propelled him along over the sleepers until it stopped. He escaped with some severe bruises on his legs, and a slight scald upon the right ear.

Edmund B. Hull, died on Monday at his residence in Swampscott. His injuries were at first considered slight.

Edward Williams, 23 years of age, a shoemaker of Lynn, expired at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Tuesday morning. He was badly scalded, but it is thought the shock to his nervous system was more severe than his internal injuries, and his death is accordingly set down to this cause.

The sufferers remaining in both the Massachusetts and the City Hospitals are still in a very precarious condition, and more deaths are hourly looked for, medical skill availing but little in the crisis of those who were unfortunate enough to inhale the deadly steam.

The only unrecognized body is now lying at Revere. It is that of a woman about thirty years of age, dressed in black.

There are 31 dead and 28 wounded.

The surgeons at the hospital think they can save Mr. Jeff. C. Rowe's leg.

At a large meeting at Swampscott, Monday evening, resolutions calling for more regularity in running trains were passed. Addresses were made by Rev. J. F. W. Ware, Wendell Phillips, S. H. Gookin and others. Mr. P. declared the accident a deliberate, murder for which engineer Brown might be deemed responsible by some. The system of general railroad management throughout the country was at fault. He advocated the adoption of the New Jersey system and suggested that our railways adopt the system of running their trains by telegraph, permitting no train to leave one station until the train ahead has been reported as having passed the next station; and if necessary express trains shall move on separate tracks. Failing in which, railways shall be forbidden to allow any train to leave a central station after the time fixed in the time-table.

Eastern Railroad stock sold at 115, Monday, a depreciation of three dollars and a half per share since Saturday. It is estimated that the damage to the rolling-stock of the road by the Revere accident amounts to $65,000. Suits for personal damages against the company to a large amount have already been filed.

The Boston Advertiser comments as follows:

It is expressing but feebly what all feel, to say that the whole community shudders at the recital of the facts; that all sympathize most deeply with the wounded and maimed survivors; that all mourn most keenly the loss of those, among them the oldest settled minister of Boston, who met their death so fearfully and suddenly, and that all desire thorough examination into the causes of this dreadful calamity.

Nevertheless, among the many duties which the sad occurrence has imposed upon the people, there is none more obvious and none which there is more necessity to urge than that there be no excitement, and that there be no misplaced indignation. Coolness, is required above everything else, whether in caring for the surviving sufferers or in discussing causes. It is extremely natural to lose one's presence of mind at such a time, and to do the wrong thing; it is quite as natural to jump at conclusions and cast the blame where it does not belong. That the "accident," if such we may call it, was the result of criminal carelessness on the part of one or more persons in the employ of the Eastern Railroad Company does not admit of a moment's question; but that it was caused by carelessness on the part of any person who may be named, can only be established by careful weighing of the facts as they shall appear in a legal examination.

Correspondence.

SALEM, MASS., Aug. 28th.

Messrs. Editors:—I will give you a brief statement of my escape from death on the Beverly train, Saturday evening. I was seated in the front part of the rear car, the car that was so completely telescoped. I remember nothing after the crash until I found myself struggling on the floor of the car, with piles of human beings on top of me, groaning and imploring for help. It was with much difficulty that I could breath; there was so much weight upon me I could not move hand or foot, but I suppose those above me were in great agony from scalds and broken limbs which caused them to change their positions so that I was able to extricate myself so far as to rest on one elbow. I then rose a little higher, but encountered the hot steam that was so intense. I was forced to get down again. Just then I heard a word of encouragement from some one outside, saying "all right," which gave me new strength and I [illegible] the window, and some one pulled me out. Then with what strength I had left I went to work to rescue others who were confined within. Two poor creatures, whom I took out and laid on the grass, died after I gave them a drink from a bucket. I never shall forget the ready response of an Irishman who stood looking on, when I asked him if he had not something to spare in his carpet bag for a pillow, in pulling out two pairs of pants and folding them up, and then handing them to me, saying "they are welcome to anything I have.

The whole thing was in my mind a gross piece of carelessness on the part of the managers of the express train, knowing as they must, that they would very soon be upon the Beverly train. Our conductor stopped the train near Somerville. He did not seem to know what to do. Some asked what the trouble was. I heard a reply that we were between two trains. Then the passengers seemed to become uneasy and I noticed one young lady get out; she did not return—a very wise course on her part, it proved.

Yours, J. A. MENDUM.

ON THE MIDNIGHT New York train which left Springfield, Mass., on Sunday night, there was a man on board who desired to get off three miles west of Worcester. He pulled the bell-rope, and soon after the conductor came along to see who it was that gave the engineer a signal. Instead of asking the conductor to be let off at the point desired, the unknown man immediately arose from his seat and stepping out on the platform jumped off The train immediately stopped and backed, and a search was made for the man, but no trace of him could be found, except what was left of a basket of peaches which were found smashed up. It is supposed that the man was thrown on to the other track, in a stunned condition, and was run over by the 9 o'clock express train from the east, and his body caught up by the cowcatcher.

—Superintendent Noyes of the Maine Central testified before the inquest at Bangor that more persons have been killed on the rear car, in this country, than in any other place on trains meeting with accidents.

EMILY SMITH, a Howard Atheneum coryphee, was severely burned by her clothes taking fire during a pyrotechnic display on the stage, Monday evening. She will recover.

GERMANY vs. TAMMANY.—The German democratic executive committee of New York have adopted resolutions declaring themselves opposed to fraud, corruption and dishonesty in public office, and that if the gentlemen accused of malfeasance in office do not at once relieve themselves of the odium and prove themselves innocent of these charges, the German democrats will no longer acknowledge them as leaders or representatives of the democratic party or its principles. At a meeting of the leading German democrats and principal members of the democratic State central committee, recently held at Utica, Ex-Gov. Seymour said that the deeds of Tweed, Hall and Connolly were abhorred of all upright citizens, and that their transactions reflected odium on the whole party.

If the German democrats and copperhead ex-governor of New York are not very careful what they say about Tammany, the Portsmouth copperhead organ will read them out of the party; and then what will become of them?

POLITICAL.

Returns from thirty-five counties in West Virginia give 1264 majority in favor of the call for a constitutional convention. The remaining counties will not materially alter the result.

General Judson Kilpatrick's friends are making strenuous exertions to secure him the republican nomination for governor of New Jersey. The convention meets September 7. According to the law of the State, Governor Randolph cannot be renominated.

B. C. Cook, member of Congress from the 6th district of Illinois, has tendered his resignation. His successor will be elected in November.

THE YELLOW FEVER at Charleston, S. C. is abating. There are a dozen cases.

AGRICULTURAL FAIRS.

New Hampshire State, at Dover, Sept. 26 to 29.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The most astonishing cure of chronic diarrhœa we ever heard of is of Wm. Clark, Frankfort Mills, Waldon Co., Me.; the facts are attested by Ezra Treat, Upton Treat, and M. A. Merrill, either of whom might be addressed for particulars. Mr. Clark was cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Hon. Joseph Farewell, Mayor of Rockland, Me., Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., Bangor, and Mr. [illegible] Ross Bros., Machias, Me., lumber proprietors liberty to use their names in recommending them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WANTED.—The most active and wide-awake Man in this State,—a man who thoroughly means business and can do business, to take the General Agency of New Hampshire for one of the oldest and largest Life Insurance Companies in America. STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders, CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But those are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

AT LAMIA, GREECE, the powder mills were struck by lightning during a severe rainstorm, causing a frightful explosion. The concussion was felt many miles in every direction. Over one hundred persons employed at the mills were killed and wounded, besides many women and children living in the vicinity. The terrific concussion so affrighted the inhabitants as to cause a most complete abandonment of the town. The destruction of property is immense, the loss being estimated at five hundred thousand pounds sterling.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

MISS FANNIE M. DENNETT, who was badly and it was feared fatally hurt by a runaway accident last week, we are pleased to learn is now considered out of danger, and no permanent ill effects are apprehended from the mishap.

—When Mr. Frank Jones rebuilt and enlarged the Rockingham House, he not only did a good thing for Portsmouth, but conferred a favor upon the travelling public. It is one of the best kept houses in New England.—Boston Paper.

Correct. Messrs. Peirce know pretty much all there is to know about keeping a hotel, and use all their knowledge to secure the comfort and convenience of their patrons.

SHIP TYPHOON, Capt. Neilson, has been wrecked and several lives are reported lost. The Typhoon was built here in 1851 by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, for D. & A. Kingsland & Co. of New York, and was one of the largest vessels ever constructed on the Piscataqua, registering 1611 59-95 tons, old measurement. She made the quickest passage on record between this port and Liverpool, making the trip from dock to dock in 13 1-2 days, under Capt. Charles H. Salter; she was struck by lightning while on this passage, and had one man killed. During the rebellion she was sold to parties at Singapore, and has since sailed under the British flag.

Communicated.

Messrs Editors:—Your article in Monday's issue exhibits a proper degree of caution. It is just and proper that the joint resolutions granting aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad should have a full and free discussion. The offer of your columns as a medium for the interchange of ideas and plans, certainly affords opportunity of letting in sufficient light upon the subject to guide the action of the City Council, and give the people information in regard to the manner in which the City is to assume responsibility in adopting the resolutions proposed. No one doubts the desirableness of a railroad to Dover. The rapidly increasing business of our City is indicated by the constant stream of freight which goes up country from the wharves at Northend. Vessels are laying there three and four abreast the whole length of all the wharves. The rattling of coal, clanking of iron, and other heavy articles of merchandise, mingle with the loud puff, puff of the hoisting, and shrill whistle of the shifting engines, never ceases until midnight. The grand water front and harbor facilities of Portsmouth are not equalled by any other place on the Atlantic coast. Nature has given us the means of establishing commercial relations with the whole world. The Piscataqua is famous for its great depth of water, and for never being subject to an ice embargo; vessels never freeze up here.

The harbor is ample in extent and can be entered by the largest ships at any time of the tide, or in stormy weather, without difficulty. To our docks, the way from the ocean is free, open and easy. The whole Western country lays behind our freight depots, taxing the existing roads to their utmost to meet the demands of inland transportation. Additional railroad facilities will give us a corresponding increase of business.

We are nearer the great centers of traffic than any other sea-board city. The cars can go directly alongside of ships and take freight from the gangways of a score of vessels at once; thus saving the time, labor and cost of cartage, storage and reloading. The line of roads offering the greatest despatch and shortest tariff is sure to take the lead in business. An opportunity now offers for us to become a great city; let us grasp it and master the situation. Before the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad was built the store now used as an agricultural warehouse and sales room, was let for $60 per annum, and many others on the same street were not occupied at all. Now all the stores are busy places of trade. We want and must have the proposed railroad, but it is necessary to take hold of the work in a business like manner, and throw every possible safeguard around the management of its business and financial concerns, without crippling its resources or restricting its usefulness. If the plan proposed does not offer sufficient security to the cities and towns which are to assume the responsibility incurred, draw plans that will, and push the matter forward.

The friends and Directors of the road do not want to take any unfair advantage of the people to whom they must look for encouragement and support. The only open question is,—how can the arrangements be made on a sure, effective and equitable basis? P. & D.

NAVAL.—Lieut. Frank Scott, U. S. M. C., is detached from this Station and ordered to Norfolk Navy Yard.

DEDICATION.—The new Uninersalist Chapel at Kittery will be formally dedicated to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon, the services commencing at 2 o'clock.

SHERIFF ROWE has appointed four deputies—A. L. Jenness of Deerfield, Levi B. Tucker of Plaistow, Edward Richardson of Newmarket and Samuel Leavitt of Exeter.

THE TOWN AUTHORITIES of Pittsfield have refused to permit the Fire Department to attend the Muster in this city, which the Pittsfield Times says is creating much hard feeling.

MR. A. J. NAY is delivering to subscribers the popular new work by Lossing, entitled "The Home of Washington." It is handsomely printed on tinted paper and should be in every family. Mr. Nay will continue the canvass of this city for the present.

DEPUTY SHERIFF J. P. MORSE stirred up a hornet's nest some two weeks ago, by attempting to collect a bill owed by Lawrence Cottor, a shoemaker on Water Street, and was roughly handled by Cottor and a Shoals fisherman named Joseph Williams. He reported the affair to the City Marshal, who counselled delay in proceeding against Cottor until Williams was caught. On Monday the latter came in from the Shoals, and soon found himself in the lockup; and he and Cottor had an interview with the Police Judge on Tuesday, when Cottor was fined $10, with $5.76 costs, Williams being sentenced to ten days' hard labor at the County House at Brentwood, and to pay costs, $5.76. The police report that Williams is rather a hard case, but that Cottor is quiet and peaceable except when he goes on an occasional drunk.

MISS LUELLA PEARSON of Lynn, one of the victims of the railroad disaster at Revere, was a niece of Mr. A. Pearson of this city, and possessed a disposition which won the friendship of all who knew her. The youngest child of her parents, (and the only one remaining at home,) she had arrived at early womanhood with the natural amiability of her character unimpaired by the fond partiality shown her by all with whom she was associated in daily life, and was thoroughly unselfish.

The young lady was on her way from Boston to her home in Lynn, and occupied a seat in the fatal rear car of the accommodation train, in company with a young gentleman to whom she was shortly to have been united in marriage. A mutual friend of the youthful pair had a seat next in front of them, and a gay and animated conversation was kept up by the trio as the train crept slowly along. Shortly before the collision the third one of the party arose and leaned against the back of a seat, facing the rear of the car, that he might converse more readily with the others; he heard the short, sharp whistle, saw the blinding light from the engine of the pursuing train, but for an instant only, and was afterward conscious of nothing save a confused sensation of something horrible having occurred, until he was rescued from the shattered wreck, comparatively uninjured. He was forced forward and into the upper corner of the car by the engine, yet was not scalded and but very little bruised. When the side of the crushed car was torn off and he fell to the ground, his first thought was of his late companions, who were nowhere to be seen. Hardly able to reason coherently or to fully realize the horror of what had happened, it is little wonder that his hurried search, amid the frightful confusion which prevailed, should have resulted in his discovering nothing. As soon as possible he notified the friends of his travelling companions of his apprehensions concerning them, and the young lady's parents soon arrived from their home in Lynn. Leaving the weeping mother outside, the father entered the depot where lay the bodies of the dead, hoping against hope that the one darling yet left to their household might not be there—might possibly have been spared; but one glance at the long row of dead bodies—sad proofs that some one had blundered—dispelled the faint hope of the father's heart, and told him that his hearth, too, was one of those made desolate. The heart that had beat high with happy anticipations a few hours before was stilled forever; his child—the pet and pride of the parents,to whom she had ever been a comfort and a joy—was but earth. Near her lay the form of her lover; like her, dead. Their deaths had been swift and sure, the crashing engine and scalding steam having left little time for terror or suffering.

—Mr. Hatch denounced the offense quite too lightly and suffered the author of the atrocious sentiment to escape without the personal castigation he well merited'—Lyre.

We incline to the opinion that Mr. Hatch would have "suffered" more in an attempt at the personal castigation alluded to above, than he did in allowing the author of the "atrocious sentiment" to escape! When it is tried on, may we be there to see.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, to a limited amount, upon a railroad which is well located for business, and which has been already largely constructed with the funds of its Stockholders cannot be otherwise than safe. This security is increased if the Constructing Company is composed of men of high character, and of ample means for successfully carrying thro' any work that they undertake.

The

NEW ORLEANS, MOBILE & TEXAS

RAILROAD COMPANY

Offer for sale a bond which combines these advantages to an unusual degree. The route lies between Mobile, Alabama, and Houston, Texas—passing through New Orleans, the New York of the South. Of the whole line of 475 miles, about two-thirds are already built, and the Stockholders have expended nearly TEN MILLION DOLLARS in the work. The bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon all that part of the line west of New Orleans, which has an enormous traffic assured to it from the start, this being the only rail connection by which the cotton, corn, cattle and other productions of Texas can reach New Orleans.

So important is this road considered to Louisiana, that the State has made very liberal grants in aid of the enterprise, by direct donations, by endorsement of second mortgage bonds, and by subscriptions to the stock of the Company, amounting in all to over eight million dollars.

The First Mortgage

Eight Per Cent. Bonds

Now offered, are limited in amount to $12,500 per mile, and are for $1,000 or $200 each, interest payable January and July, at the rate of 8 per cent., currency, or 7 per cent. Gold, at the option of the holder. Bonds registered if desired.

Among the leading Stockholders of the Company are Hon. E. D. Morgan, Ex-Governor and Ex-U. S. Senator, Hon. John A. Griswold, Ex-Lieutenant Governor, Troy, N. Y.; Hon. Oakes Ames, M. C., Massachusetts; Messrs. Morton, Bliss & Co., L. Von Hoffman & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co., Harvey Dunlap, and others, of New York; Benjamin E. Bates, President Bank of Commerce, Franklin Haven, President Merchants' Bank, Boston, and others, also well known.

The above statement of facts proves the SAFETY of these bonds. Their PROFIT is equally manifested upon examination. They are sold for the present at 90, and accrued interest from July 1st. At this price they afford a certain income for forty-five years, of nearly nine per cent. upon their cost. One thousand dollars invested in these eight per cent. bonds will give the purchaser more than seventy-seven per cent. greater annual interest than the same amount invested in the new Government Five Per Cents, while holders of Government Sixes will find a decided profit in selling them at present high prices, and re-investing in the New Orleans, Mobile and Texas Bonds. "These Bonds are offered for the present at 90, and accrued interest at 8 per cent. currency from July 1 to date of remittance."

Subscriptions will be received in Portsmouth by

First National Bank.

NEW FIRM!

INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE, WINGATE N. ILSLEY.

Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generosity will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size,
Look at the hogs, he knew what was plenty,
His BEER has made of them no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

Morning Chronicle.

SPEECH BY SECRETARY DELANO.—Secretary Delano in his Sandusky speech said the present administration found the public credit impaired by dishonesty and incapacity which prevaded the public service, the public debt rather increasing than diminishing, with a reduction of the receipts from internal taxation. How was the failing credit of the government to be repaired, its current expenses met and reduced in the face of this discouraging condition? This serious and embarrassing question could only be solved by an energetic enforcement of the laws and a faithful application of the moneys collected to the public liabilities. It was done during the first twelve months of the administration, and the receipts from internal revenue were $177,457,738, and during the first fiscal year $185,235,864, notwithstanding the reduction of the amount of receipts from internal revenue sources.

On this basis there would have been $263,235,867. The taxes on spirits during the fiscal year of 1868 of the last administration yielded only $18,000,000. During the first year of the present administration was collected and paid into the Treasury from the same source $65,000,000, and this on a reduction of 75 per cent. of the rate to be collected; thus $78,000,000, exempted from articles previously taxed, has been recovered and its loss counterbalanced by faithfully enforcing the revenue laws and honestly accounting for money collected. Observe further, that in 1868, in the last administration, the expenses of the internal revenue bureau were $8,387,793, while for the fiscal year of this administration the same expenses were reduced to $5,916,410, making the gross reduction of the cost of collecting revenue of $2,471,382. Mr. D. also showed there had been net gains of revenue from customs for the first two years of the present administration of $59,926,000, and an increase of revenue during the same time of $84,994,000, a tolerably handsome saving. To fully see the force of this comparison it should be remembered that the rate of taxation had been reduced by law during the last two years affecting the gross receipts to an extent of $80,000,000. The expenditures from March 1, 1867, to March 1, 1869, were a little over four hundred and fifty million dollars, and from March 1, 1869, to March 1, 1871, a mere over $325,000,000, showing a decrease favorable to the present administration of over $126,000,000. Delano compared with these fruits of republican administration, the Tammany frauds and the corruption of New York, claiming that the latter were but a part of the scheme for the plunder of the national government so soon as the democrats should obtain power at Washington. Concerning the public debt, he said the republican policy was to pay its principal and interest as fast as possible, securing an early liquidation of the whole and sustaining the national credit above reproach. Mr. Delano also highly commended the Indian and foreign policy of the administration, and urged republicans to a harmonious and vigorous campaign.

THE GOVERNMENTS of Great Britain and the United States have chosen Count Luigi Conti, Italian ambassador to Washington, as the third arbitrator under the treaty of Washington upon all questions between those countries which are not comprised in the Alabama claims.

A CHOICE ENTERTAINMENT. — The summer residents and visitors at Little Boar's Head were favored last week with the opportunity to enjoy a rare treat. Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe kindly consented, at the request of friends, to read one of her productions in public. The large dining hall of Mr. Albert Batchelder's house was fitted up for the occasion, and was, it is unnecessary to say, filled to repletion. Mrs. Stowe read an unpublished sketch, of New England life, written in the choicest Yankee dialect, and filled with genial humor, keen delineations of character, and happy hits. Her elocution, though unpretending, was characteristic and left nothing to be desired, and the reading was a source of unqualified pleasure to all the hearers. The entertainment of the evening was prolonged by a most amusing burlesque lecture on the Sewing Machine and Woman's Rights, by Mrs. Allen, a daughter of Mrs. Stowe; and admirable piano music was furnished by Mr. Hoffman, the well-known pianist, and Mrs. Mygatt, a Western visitor. The proceeds of the entertainment, for which all generously volunteered their services, were given to the Episcopal church in Exeter.—Exeter News Letter.

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent Citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $400 out to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. Parsons, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Numbers and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Immediately after drawing the gift information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed Agent and Manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on smaller tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

A GREYPORT LEGEND.

(1767.)

BY BRET HARTE.

They ran through the streets of the seaport town,
They peered from the decks of the ships where they lay,
The cold sea-fog that came whitening down
Was never as cold or white as they.
"Ho, Starbuck and Pluckney and Tentendon!
Run for your shallops, gather your men,
Scatter your boats on the lower bay."

Good cause for fear! In the thick midday
The hulk that lay by the rotten pier,
Filled with the children in happy play,
Parted its moorings and drifted clear.
Drifted clear beyond reach or call,— Thirteen children there were in all,—
All adrift in the lower bay!

Said a hard-faced skipper, "God help us all!
She will not float till the turning tide!"
Said his wife, "My darling will hear my call,
Whether in sea or heaven she bide."
And she lifted a quivering voice and high,
Wild and strange as a sea-bird's cry,
Till they shuddered and wondered at her side!

The fog drove down on each laboring crew,
Veiled each from each and the sky and shore.
There was not a sound but the breath they drew,
And the lap of water and creak of oar;
And they felt the breath of the downs fresh blown
O'er leagues of clover and cold gray stone,
But not from the lips that had gone before.

They come no more. But they tell the tale
That, when fogs are thick on the harbor reef,
The mackerel fishers shorten sail,
For the signal they know will bring relief,—
For the voices of children still at play
In the phantom hulk that drifts away
Through channels whose waters never fall.

It is but a foolish shipman's tale,
A theme for a poet's idle page,
But still when the mists of doubt prevail,
And we lie becalmed by the shores of Age,
We hear from the misty troubled shore
The voice of the children gone before,
Drawing the soul to its anchorage.

—From the September Atlantic.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

Mr. Henry F. A. Avery was killed at Nashua, Monday morning. While unloading lumber he pulled the last stake from the car, when the heavy planks fell upon him, crushing his legs, breaking an arm, and inflicting internal injuries that caused his death in fifteen minutes.

The body of John Bewley, an employe of Soule & Co., in their saw-mill, Northumberland, was found on Saturday morning shockingly mangled among the machinery underneath the building. He went below for some purpose, and was accidentally caught in the gearing.

Professor Hitchcock found some fine amethysts in the neighborhood of the Passaconnaway slide. He considers Waterville the richest place in geology he has ever struck.

On the 19th, at the Twin Mountain House, Mr. Samuel G. Allard, a stage driver, had a leg broken by the fall of baggage from the coach. The same leg was broken two years ago.

The son of Mr. Thaddeus Perkins, who was injured by trunks falling on him from a stage coach at Hampton, is dead.

Miss Hannie Burton of Croydon, aged seventeen, was lost in the woods, being out after gum and overtaken by darkness, on the 20th. Large numbers turned out to make search, but with daylight the missing girl went home, having walked all night.

While at a quarterly meeting in Bartlett lately, Rev. C. H. Kimball of Centre Sandwich had stolen from his premises 100 gallons of vinegar. Moral:—never attend a camp meetings.

PORTLAND AND OGDENSBURG RAILROAD.—The building of the Vermont division of this important road is being pushed forward with great energy, and will speedily be completed. The bonds, in the meantime, are being marketed with more than the success anticipated by the friends of the road, the proceeds thereof furnishing sufficient funds to push forward the work of construction.

The assurance that the road is needed, that it will pay largely upon its cost, coupled with the fact that its financial affairs are entrusted to the hands of the well-known and enterprising house of Fairbanks & Co., whose name and reputation for integrity, business success and standing is nowhere excelled in this country, has given the fullest confidence in the success of the enterprise, and induced many of the most careful capitalists to take hold of these bonds. The success of the scheme seems to be fully assured.—New York Independent.

HELMBOLD REDIVIVUS. — In correction of various rumors in circulation incidental to Dr. Helmbold, the latest being a report of a gunning accident at Long Branch, we are informed that the Doctor never was in better health and spirits. His prospects are bright, and ere long the great advertiser will shine more brilliantly than ever. With Helmbold, there is no such word as fail.—N. Y. Paper.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputable proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines, will rally from fearfully for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no imperatives that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first to go where with them the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the mesenteric tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating point of the disease, in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels, and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more distress, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest blood purifier ever yet given by an indulgent Father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and all in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the patient throws that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air is a thing out, especially in this section of the country in the full and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course are losing their patients. If their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not all down quiet: they must walk about the house as much and as far as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The product must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To obviate future afterauds the possibility of a possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption. My physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparation which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much, I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "and I weighed like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight, when I weighed and received (235) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and Kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses. The Pulmonic Medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. Fresh air, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats abate. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Seaweed Tonic, $1.50 per bottle, or $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also to procure patents in France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms and with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioner with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in advising inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of practical skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1871.

THE FEARFUL DISASTER at Revere has furnished another occasion for the use of expressions of fierce denunciation by sensational newspaper reporters, who thrive on horrors and search the dictionary for adjectives to apply to the case in point, recklessly charging mismanagement in different quarters and prejudging the case now under investigation. Individuals, too, unconnected with the press, indignantly fulminate their intemperate views, guessing at causes, manufacturing details (half unconsciously) without regard to facts and showing a wonderful degree of knowledge of matters with which they have never before supposed themselves to be much acquainted.

It is the business of the few to manage affairs and the privilege of the many to growl. One censures the engineer of the express train, another censures the conductor of the accommodation—and through the catalogue of officials go the self-righteous judges, sparing the feelings of none, though there are men who are needlessly blamed. It is fashionable to deal in exaggerated language, to let the imagination furnish substitutes for facts, and then recklessly make the most untruthful assertions. The motives, the abilities, the character of a person holding a public position are impugned, questioned and maligned. For a time he has no rights that the public seem bound to respect. A storm of ungovernable fury places him at the mercy of the kindred of Judge Lynch, and with almost one accord the careless, unthinking masses cry "murderer," regardless of right or the fitness of the epithet.

These same unthinking masses demand of railroad corporations the greatest accommodations, and growl at slow trains. They urge the use of every available means for swift transportation, and swift transportation causes greater liability to accident. They desire cheap rates for excursions, which being acceded to invoices an extra amount of travel. Every facility is given them; a misconstruction of an order, the mistake or forgetfulness of one man causes an accident and loss of life. And then the same petitioners for accommodation are changed to the fiercest denouncers. It is sickening to read the horrible details of these accidents, occurring in all directions every day, and just as sickening to hear the comments of the masses afterwards. If railroad managers run express trains it is for the accommodation of the public. If trains are run more and more frequently it is because the travelling public will have it so. We are living in an age of speed. Men wish to make money quickly, to travel swiftly, and in so doing are more careless of the consequences, to themselves or their neighbors. If reform is needed, it is best that we all commence it. The travelling public are indirectly responsible for these frequent accidents. What then? Must camp meetings be abandoned, picnics and excursions become things of the past, that the reform may commence? Or, would it be better for each one of us to secure control of his unruly member and not demand impossibilities of those who cater for the public, or even intimate indirectly that there may be profit in enterprise or popularity in endeavoring to accommodate those who unwisely ask it?

We have no apology to offer for the criminal neglect or carelessness which was the direct cause of the frightful accident. A searching investigation is being made by men competent and willing to sift the truth from the evidence offered. No one doubts their intention to act justly. Denunciation is futile. Let the direct responsibility rest where it may, we trust an example will be made that will of itself enforce measures of prudence in the future; but let hasty words be left unsaid and unwise reflections be suppressed.

THE REVERE ACCIDENT.

The coroner's inquest was continued on Wednesday. The engineer of the Beverly train, Wm. O. Brown of Newburyport, testified that he was never allowed to approach within a mile of a train ahead. It takes a half mile to stop a train. Conductor Alfred M. Goodhue of the Pullman express, testified that he left Boston at five minutes past 8 o'clock. Stopped at Prison Point crossing. Hauled up on Mystic River bridge, as the Saugus train that should have left Boston at 7 o'clock was ahead. The weather was not very foggy. Saw no lights from the accommodation train ahead. Could see on straight track about half a mile. Was running about twenty miles an hour at the time. The first notice of the collision was the whistle "Down brakes." Looked at watch a few minutes after the collision and saw the time to be 8.30. Apprehended no special danger from the accommodation train. Was about twenty minutes behind the Beverly train. Did not run at the usual rate of speed. The speed was slackened between Chelsea and Revere at about the curve near the tide bridge. It would require about quarter of a mile to stop the train if the engine was reversed and the brakes applied. Saw no lantern that evening. Our running time was about twenty-five miles an hour. The forward train had the right of the road. If a conductor knows that a preceding train is behind time, it is the forward train's duty to look out for the following train. The Pullman car was lighted by candles. The preceding train should have notified my train by signals. Think if a train is behind time and running on my time, that it is that train's duty to notify me by leaving word at each station and sending back a man with a lantern. The running time of the express train is about fifteen minutes from Boston to Revere. We were probably going at the rate of ten miles an hour when the collision took place.

Mr. Edmund B. Hull, reported dead, is alive.

City Marshal Geo. F. Browning, of Salem, died on Tuesday from excitement, caused by the accident at Revere, where his brother was seriously injured.

POLITICIANS of all parties are greatly interested in the threatened secession of German democrats from Tammany Hall and their affiliation with the Republicans. Indications are strong that the secession will take place and will secure the State to the republicans in the coming election. Germans have been eagerly discussing the matter for several days, and they are almost unanimous in demanding that the New York authorities shall prove their innocence of the recent charges of fraud or else lose the German support. Several German clubs have been in session to talk the matter over, and it is quite probable that a German mass meeting will be called. Tammany leaders are alarmed at the threatened loss of the German vote, and are using all the means in their power to defeat the movement. They are compelling office-holding Germans to sign agreements to have nothing to do with such a movement, and they have offered good positions to influential Germans in the hope of silencing them. The republicans are also working hard to widen the breach and are encouraging some of the weak-kneed Germans with promises of undying friendship. It is reported that some of the discontented Germans who were to lose their places under Tammany have been promised offices as good as those they lose, provided they make a good fight. The great cause of discontent is the charge of immense frauds, and as the matters now stands a breach between Tammany and the German democrats is almost certain. The Germans imperatively demand the publication of all the accounts of the supervisor. If the publication is not made there will be a break, and if publication is made, and if it reveal the extent of the alleged frauds, there will likewise be a break.

AT A MEETING of Republicans at Concord, Wednesday evening, Hon. A. H. Cragin, John M. Hill, Esq., and Edwin B. Haskell of the Boston Herald were appointed a Committee to appraise the property of the Concord Monitor, Independent Democrat and Republican Statesman. A Republican Press Association was formed and a capital fund of $50,000 decided upon. All but $8000 of the amount was subscribed. The three papers will be consolidated on the 1st of October, and be issued from the Statesman building.

The committee have appraised the property as follows:—Monitor and Independent Democrat $18,000; Statesman $24,000. This includes the type, presses, printing machinery, files, office and counting room furniture, tools, newspaper lists, the good will of the entire concerns, and the book and job printing of the establishments.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The most astonishing cure of chronic diarrhœa we ever heard of is of Wm. Clark, Frankfort Mills, Waldon Co., Me.; the facts are attested by Ezra Treat, Upton Treat, and M. A. Merrill, either of whom might be addressed for particulars. Mr. Clark was cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

[illegible] Esq., Mayor of Rockland, Me., Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., Bangor, and Messrs. Pope Bros., Machias, Me., lumber merchants, fully endorsed the Sheridan Cavalry Condition Powders, and have given the proprietors liberty to use their names in recommending them.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Lead enough to make bullets for an army lies on the shelves of dealers who have speculated in some of the metallic hair coloring prepations. Well, they should have confined their purchases to CRISTADORO'S safe and perfect preparation. So much for "running after strange gods." In the meantime, this famous dye has received a tremendous impetus in the market, and can scarcely be manufactured fast enough to meet the enormous demand.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE is the best dressing that can be used after dyeing. 1mjy27

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

THE PROPOSED RAILROAD AID.—The more we examine the resolution offered by Mr. Marvin in aid of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, the more we approve it. If we pursued the vote of last Fall, we should be obliged to raise by loan or taxation, a very large sum of money, but the mode here presented relieves us of that necessity. The city becomes endorser of the certificates of stock, for a series of years; assuring, however, only the payment of dividends. The liability we assume is just that of any guarantor; if the road cannot pay its dividends, we must, according to the terms of our contract. We have no principal sum ever to pay, and have certainly a reasonable prospect of being relieved of the whole or a portion of the dividends either by the earnings of the road or a lease of it to some other road. Any business man would assume the liability proposed by this resolution in preference to the only other alternative, (a direct subscription to the stock or loan of the money,) upon the same security.

The only possible security which we can have, is the Road and its property; and the resolution provides that the City may take a mortgage for the due performance of the conditions of the contract. It seems to us, so far as we are capable of judging, that the resolution very carefully guards the interests of the City. If the affairs of the corporation are not fairly conducted, the fault must lie with the committee to be appointed by the city, for they have substantially the same power as the Directors. At all events, the officers of the Road cannot do much mischief without their privity, and we do not apprehend any danger from this source.

We approve, entirely, the action of the Board of Aldermen inviting public discussion this evening, upon this important subject. We have not the time nor ability to examine this proposed contract in all its details. If it is not as fair a contract as can be devised for the protection of the City, we hope its opponents will then assert their objections—and have them considered. We do not wish to enter into any discussion of this subject, for we do not regard this as the "appointed time," nor are we the especial advocate of this plan. The objections which thus far have been made to it seem to us frivolous, and capable of satisfactory answers; but we shall not uninvited take upon ourselves this task. R. R.

Messrs. Editors:—In the communication in Wednesday's Chronicle, some one, speaking for the friends and directors of the proposed Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, says they do not want to take any unfair advantage of the people to whom they must look for encouragement and support; but submits that if the plan proposed does not offer sufficient security to the cities and towns which are to assume the responsibility incurred, plans should be consummated that will favor the project. It is of the first importance that, if built, it should be built by honest measures from the start. I am no lawyer, but I contend that the directors and City Government have no legal right to build or begin to build a railroad, on people's money that does not belong to them. How then shall the people's money be brought forward and appropriated to this desirable object? The only honest way is by voluntary, individual subscription to the stock. After subscriptions on this plan are obtained to within $50,000 or $100,000 of the amount needed, the City would be no doubt the gainer by making up the balance and giving it to the company outright, better than stand backer for the whole project. I hope every individual of the City Government will vote in this matter as if he were disposing of his own hard earned dollars, for every dollar the city votes for the project is lost, and that not money that we have, but money that we will have to earn in the future. If the directors have faith in the investment, why do they not subscribe? Promises to subscribe after the City has made the thing sure, amount to nothing. S. D.

To-night the Alderman will have before them the most important question that has ever come before them. Have those gentlemen duly considered the question? Are they ready to bind the people of this city for a hundred years to come to pay a large sum yearly for the support of a railroad to Dover? What is the consideration? Who are and will be the managers? What risk do they run, and what advantage may accrue to them? By what route is the road to run, what will be the cost of building, and what will be its revenue when built? If the Aldermen can satisfy themselves on these points, they can do better than I can.

There is no foundation in this scheme on which any gentleman would lend a single dollar of his own. There is no property to mortgage; so that the city is not asked to lend; no individual has, so far as I know, taken or proposes to take a single share of stock except upon the City's guarantee of dividends; so there is no request for the city's credit, for there is nothing to base credit on. It is not even known—there is not even an estimate—except a guess that may be called an estimate—of the cost of building the road. Should the two cities agree, they will guarantee dividends on 5461 shares—five hundred and forty six thousand, one hundred dollars; and that will be the available means. Suppose the road should cost in building and equipping $600,000 or more, where will the additional money come from? Who will take the shares? I hope the managers of the road will not answer all at once.

We are asked to pay $21,483 yearly for the sake of bringing business into the town; but not any business is known to be dependent on the building of the road. Who can tell of a workshop likely to come here in consequence of this road? We are pointed to wharves lined with freight to go over the Concord Road; but we know that the Concord Road sunk itself over and over, before it earned a dollar for its shareholders.

Build the road to Dover, and you will have a small and feeble road contending with a very large and powerful one. The Boston & Maine will not willingly give up its business to the Portsmouth & Dover; and the Boston & Maine controls the travel and the freight to every direction from Dover. The new road can expect but little business except by an arrangement with one of the great lines.

The limits of an article prevent me from more than hinting at these things, and forbid even a hint at many other points that come into my mind, and have a bearing on this question—great questions of economy and prudence, of constitutional and moral right, which the City Councils should consider before they pass this measure. P.

A PORTSMOUTH SCHOONER SUNK. On the 27th, the schooner Chas. D. Hallock of this city, Capt. Geo. Dubbee, left New York loaded with 182 tons of coal from Elizabethport and bound for Portsmouth. All was fair and she was making good time until about four P. M., when she was within about six miles of Faulkner's Island, the light bearing east half north when she was brought up all standing, having struck something not laid down in the charts, but the high winds which prevailed soon drove her off and sail was shortened, which eased her up. The excitement was great among the crew of six and one passenger, when upon examination nothing could be found of the damage, and on trying to find the depth of water in the hold, they were alarmed when "four feet" was announced. The pumps were at once manned but the water continued to gain fifteen inches per hour. The captain then cut away the cabin floor and found that the leak was under her quarter and gaining rapidly. Every exertion was used to get her into shoal water and she rounded to about three-quarters of a mile northeast of Faulkner's Island, the wind blowing a gale; but at half-past eight she water-logged and the captain and crew abandoned her, saving nothing but the clothes on their backs, and in twenty minutes she sank in five fathoms of water. The vessel was built at Stony Brook, L. I., and was over twenty years old, but was in good condition and perfectly seaworthy. She was not insured. It is supposed from the locality where the disaster occurred that she must have struck on the masts of a sunken vessel when in the trough of the heavy sea that was running. Capt. O. N. Brooks, the keeper of the light, rendered them all the assistance possible, and Capt. Frisbee desires us to publicly tender his thanks to Capt. Brooks for his kindness and attention to himself and men. As the crew lost all they had, even their money, Superintendent Scranton passed them on to Boston, over the Shore Line.

THERE won't be too many clams in this city next Wednesday. The Committee of Arrangements should secure 600 bushels at least. We understand that but 300 bushels have been provided, and that amount will feed only half the number of firemen who will be here. To be sure, a chowder will also be served, but the principal incentive offered the gustatory desires of the visitors was the clam-bake, which has been advertised all over the Union. Let not the Muster be a failure for the want of clams.

DR. J. H. THACHER is moving into his newly fitted store at the corner of Market Square. His store on Pleasant Street is to be fitted up anew.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Aloyzius J. Kane of Brooklyn, N. Y., is seriously ill at the Rockingham House.

Col. William Beals, the well known Boston decorator, is in town and is stopping at the National House.

THE AUTHOR of the circular so extensively distributed about our city opposing the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, did dot see fit to favor us with his name or nationality. THE LARGE AND COMMODIOUS STEAMER ESCORT will make trips between Newburyport and Portsmouth, next Wednesday and Thursday, leaving Newburyport at 8 o'clock, A. M., and one o'clock, P. M., and leaving this city at 10 30 and 5.30, P. M. On Friday, a grand excursion to Portland and return is planned by the owner of the Escort. She will leave here at 9.30, A. M., returning early in the evening. Fare for the round trip, $1.

THE MUSTER.

Work on the building being put up in the Court-house yard is progressing rapidly. It is proposed to put in five tables of 200 feet length, each.

Alderman Marvin and J. Frank Shannon have been appointed a Committee to furnish 1000 gallons of chowder at Peirce's Island.

Col. Wm. Beals of Boston has applied to the General Committee for a commission to decorate public buildings; he is also prepared to decorate the residences of citizens who may desire to employ him, and the Committee appointed Mr. Smith to introduce him to our merchants and others.

Torrent Engine Co. No. 2 of Rochester, has entered with 50 men and band. Also, Rough & Ready No. 2 of Pawtucket, R. I., and Rough & Ready, Jr., No. 2, two men. The steamer is 28 inches high and weighs 150 lbs. She will arrive with the Independents, Tuesday evening. The Fire Department will receive them in torchlight procession.

Gov. Langdon Co. No. 5 have presented their steward, Mr. Edwin H. Leslie, with a trumpet.

The number of entries made is 74, with 44 bands.

DEDICATION.—The Universalist Chapel at Kittery will be formally dedicated this (Thursday) afternoon, the services commencing at 2 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Snow of Westbrook Seminary will deliver the dedicatory Address; the Prayer of Consecration will be by Rev. James DeNormandie of this city, and the Address to the Society by Rev. Geo. W. Quimby, editor of the Gospel Banner. Rev. Mr. Tucker of Biddeford, Me., Rev. Massena Goodrich of Pawtucket, R. I., and Rev. Wm. A. Drew of Augusta, Me., will probably participate in the services.

The building is of wood, and of the Gothic style of architecture, 53x35 on the ground, and contains 48 slips, of sufficient capacity to accommodate 250 persons. The interior arrangements are neat and tasteful; the stained glass, set in diamond shape in the windows, produce a fine effect, and altogether it is the best audience room in the town. The pulpit furniture, communion table, clock, bible and hymn-book—presents from friends—are compliments to the taste and liberality of the donors, as well as tokens of approbation of the Society's manifest zeal in the course of christianity. The edifice when, fully completed will present an attractive appearance.

Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell of this city has supplied the desk of the Kittery Society since its organization, May 30th, 1870, and in view of his successful labors his departure from our midst will be deeply regretted by this little charge. But the zeal impaired by his eloquent preaching will prove amply sufficient to overcome any supposed obstacle in the way of the Society's progress. It is expected that a pastor will be settled at an early day.

NEW FIRM! INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE, WINGATE N. ILSLEY. Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

CHEYENNE is not a place where much formalism would be looked for, but the following burlesque seems to indicate that prompt action in an emergency is not regarded as one of its striking attributes:—

In Cheyenne, when anything happens, the people consider that a religious duty devolves upon them to hold a meeting and to pass resolutions upon it, and so strong has this habit become that some citizens of that place, whenever a breakfast-bell rings, call a meeting of the family, elect officers, and resolve to go down stairs and eat the meal. The other day a woman fell in to Crow creek and sank. A large crowd of men were standing upon the bank at the time, and they instantly proceeded to organize a meeting for the purpose of devising means for rescuing the woman. After a spirited debate, M. A. Arnold was elected chairman; and on taking his seat Mr. Arnold not only thanked the meeting very warmly for the compliment offered him, but he made a long speech, in which he discussed the tariff, the real product for 1871, and the Alabama claims. A series of resolutions were then offered, and after a prolonged discussion, and the acceptance of several amendments, they were passed. They embraced a protest against the depth of Crow Creek; regrets that all women were not taught to swim, and a resolve to rescue the particular woman who had fallen overboard. A committee of one was appointed to dive for her. He dived, and brought the woman to the surface by the hair. Just then it occured to him that he had not been ordered to bring her to the shore, so he let her sink again, and swam to the bank to report progress, and ask for further instructions. Action was taken on the report, and after an exciting discussion, he was directed to land the woman immediately. He dived again and dragged her out. None of the women in Cheyenne can hold their breath more than an hour at a time, so when this one was recovered she was dead. The meeting said it was sorry, but it was vastly more important that things should be done decently and in order, and according to rule, than that the life of a woman should be saved.

WHAT SHE MEANT.—A Kentucky Congressman went out riding with his sweetheart, and, in his own words:—"We were nearing a small skirt of woods, the horses at their best speed. I had determined in my own mind that when we reached a particular spot I would 'pop' the question, and so I did, but, would you believe me? she said no." Just as the word escaped her lips I purposely ran the sleigh over a stump. Out we went, she to cool her person in the snow, and I to counteract the damage she had given my affections. Her first words after getting back in the sleigh were: "Excuse me, sir, I wished to tell you to no-tice the stump." We often refer to the sleighride, but to this day she believes it was an accident."

A PRETTY THIEF.—A Portland paper relates that a gentleman going to that city on the train from Boston, a day or two since, was delighted to share his seat with an affectionate, pretty and chatty young feminine, who seated herself in a manner to spread her dress well over him. Much to his regret, his agreeable companion left at the first station, and greatly to his chagrin he discovered shortly after that she had cut open his pocket and taken therefrom his wallet. When a woman spreads herself suspiciously in a railroad car, it is natural to infer that she means to take things.

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who will serve gratuitously at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and twenty business days for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties obtaining Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawWb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

The Chronicle.

EIRENE, a novel by Mary Clemmer Ames, is well written generally, the plot is good and the story interesting. There is some exaggeration in the peculiarities of dialect, as she puts into the mouths of intelligent New England people language which is only heard among the most ignorant in the most out of the way places. Eirene is the daughter of a Vermont farmer by the name of Vale, who is descended from cultivated English parents, but has himself but a desultory education. He has a farm in a beautifully picturesque country, but has not been successful as a farmer, and although his property is mortgaged he desires to give his three children the education which he lacks himself. Eirene as she grows up determines to do something to aid in the education of her younger brother and sister, and she goes to Busyville as a shop girl. Here the richest man of the village, John Mullane, a friend of her father, takes her into employment and into his family. Mrs. Mullane, who has ambitious views for her son Paul, a student at Harvard, dreads the meeting of Paul and Eirene and misuses her. Paul falls in love with Eirene and tries to keep it secret, and is so afraid of his mother that Eirene in disgust dismisses him and goes to New York as a book-keeper. Here, just as the war breaks out, she sees her brother, a soldier, and she herself becomes a nurse, learns to know and love Dr. DePeyster, who is very rich, and at the close of the war marries him. Out of these materials Mrs. Ames has made an exceedingly entertaining novel. It is published by G. P. Putnam & Son of New York.

THE POLITICAL HODGE-PODGE.—The present condition of the various political parties, but more especially those two Republican parties, reminds one of a dish containing a great variety of concomitants for the palate, and called "hodge-podge" by ancestral cooks. The chief merit of hodge-podge is that every palate is tickled by some one, or more, of the various articles which enter into its composition; and so it is with the Republican party today; it is flavored, peppered and salted with a large number of self-sacrificing would be Governors, each of whom tickle the political palate of personal friends. Butler's patriotism, and herculean efforts to crush out slavery are of little or no consequence when brought into competition with the ambition of others, who long for a tilt in the Governor's chair.

Loring's old record sticks to him like wax to a cobbler, and although he has been a dutiful Republican for a long time the party can not forget the time when he backed the anti-slavery tree with the "hunker" hatchet. Rice stands on top of a pile of money bags but isn't popular with the masses—it is not probable that he will deliver the Governor's inaugural next winter. Jewell is hopeful but fears the hero of Dutch Gap, who is squinting hard in the direction of the gilded dome near Boston Common. Washburne is ambitious, yet passive; he is in the hands of his friends, and will obey orders without kicking in the traces.

Dawes, Hoar and Coolidge, are said to be prospecting, but do not pan out much; it is probable that they will be induced to dispose of their claims on liberal terms. Adams is storing up a large amount of sleep, preparatory to the heavy work in store for him. He is reported sound in wind and limbs, and if entered for the November race, some fast, square, honest trotting may be expected. The teetotal proclivities of Butler, and the support promised him by the prohibitionists, may cause a drought in his chances, and his corn may turn out "nubbins." Loring's friends are of the opinion that Ben's cabbages won't head; by the way, the doctor's farm needs rain.

Claflin is all hunky-dory and all he has got to do, if he wishes to veto legislative enactments next year, is to sit quietly on the fence, laugh at the victims of political ambition, and when the proper time arrives order up the Governor's chair, slide into it, twirl his digits at the extremity of his bugle, and enjoy State comforts for another term. The Labor party is taking a nap, but it sleeps with one eye open, and when called upon to draw the chestnuts from the ashes, it may not prove so passive as some predict. If looks now as though some of the politicians are bound to fool with the hull until they get gored. "There's music in the air;" hold me up to the window, mother; the band is playing.—Lynn Little Giant.

—An Indiana girl undertook to break a colt the other day. At last accounts her head was two sizes too large for her bonnet, and she has ordered a set of false teeth.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock; the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into vigorous action.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the world is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is attacked. In the cases of confirmed consumption originate in dyspepsia and functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach, they respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing options, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Pedophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsibly, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now properly effected without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no extrication of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given for an inshaking faith to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to invigorate its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of sputum it prepares them for expectoration, and, lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the ruined throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it should be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are fully diseased, for the reason they get, because they get home they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility is the most cruel and immoral conduct to all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only sixteen pounds heavier than present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, for years I have enjoyed unintermitted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and the cure will follow, of course, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the desponding at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in lots of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a popular bacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Reversus, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of other parties, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"M. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART.

PSYCHOMANCY is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by Hickmann Hamilton, B. A., giving full instruction in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Mediums, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of omens and Dreams, Belgham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchants, Lawyers, Physicians, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. Price by mail, in cloth, $1.25; paper covers, $1; for sale by A. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO., and CLAXES, REASEY & CO., Phila. Agents wanted for this book, Medical Works, Perfumery, Jewelry, &c. JURUBEBA

IT IS NOT A PHYSIC—It is NOT what it is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such. IT IS A SOUTH AMERICAN plant that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy as a POWERFUL ALTERATIVE and UNEQUALLED PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Disease of the

LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, SLUGGISH CIRCULATION OF THE BLOOD, ABSCESSES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

is offered to the public as a great purgator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system; it gives health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 4w au9

In the graveyard at Woodstock there is a white marble headstone over a solitary grave, bearing this inscription:—"Molly, wife of Joseph Russell and John Gray, died March 1774, aged seventy-three years."

A new bell for Phillips Exeter Academy has been cast at Troy, N. Y. It weighs about 500 pounds and bears the following inscription:—"Huc venite pueri, ut viri sitis. Presented by the class of 1870." A liberal rendering of the Latin sentence would be: "Come hither, boys, that you may become men."

LATEST FASHION NOTES.

Short waists are very fashionable.

Polonaises will be worn this Winter.

Swiss muslin aprons are worn with very dark dresses.

Pink and blue as match colors have become fashionable.

Our great grandmother's style of hair-dressing is coming into fashion.

The wearing of jewelry in the street, even bracelets, is said to be coming unfashionable.

For afternoon wear in the house are the sleeveless Zouave jackets of rich dark colors.

Very pretty costumes for Winter morning wear are of gray merino over crimson underskirts, with sleeves and pointed vest of crimson.

Lady's walking suit—The skirt of a black silk dress with low waist and short sleeves: is trimmed with gathered flounces, which are set on with a heading. The overskirt and high basque waist with flowing sleeves are made of striped grenadine, trimmed with silk fringe and silk ruches.

NOTHING STRANGE IN THAT.—The Sacramento Bee recalls to mind that during Lincoln's administration, Brick Pomeroy prayed to God that some Brutus might arise to stab to the heart and rid the world of the hated tyrant. And when that Brutus did arise in the person of Wilkes Booth, and when the bloody deed had been done, the catiff Pomeroy glorified the murderer and defiled the victim. "And this," says the Bee, "is the man now stumping the State of California for Governor Haight!"

We see nothing strange in that. If Wilkes Booth and the Andersonville jailor were back from hell, shrunken and blistered under the wrath of God, each with a handful of Democratic votes from the most debased wretches that crawl on the Barbary Coast, the Democracy would welcome them to the fold, and Governor Haight would wrestle long with his dejected conscience before rejecting their friendly assistance. Oakland News.

—Regularly every week for the last three or four years a telegraphic despatch has told us that the health of Chief Justice Chase is either better or worse. It would probably be asking too much of the Chief Justice to ask him to die and be done with it, but he ought to stop that despatch in some way.—Lou. Courier-Journal.

STORMED AND TAKEN!

The last stronghold of the Hair Poisoners surrenders. CRISTADORO'S flag, bearing on its folds the magic words

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye

floats triumphantly over all the deleterious trash with which the market was not long ago flooded. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

House to Let.
Varietias—H. W. Mason.

GOOD BYE, August—month of heat, disease and accident.

A DELIGHTFUL DELUGE refreshed panting humanity Wednesday evening.

THE NORWEGIAN BARQUE ANNITA, from this city to Quebec, was run into and sunk, on the 25th ult., by steamship Java; of twelve persons aboard the barque only one man was saved.

A GOOD MOVE.—We understand that the Cornet Band will favor our citizens with more volunteer music in the future, their new leader deeming it as popular to practice in the open air as in a close room. The adoption of this course will certainly be advantageous to the band and the public.

A GOOD ONE.—Col. William Beals, the Boston decorator, called at various places in this city, on Thursday, for the purpose of negotiating for the decoration of premises. At the residence of a patriotic and benevolent lady, he was surprised at being tendered a $1 bill, which the lady had sent in expectation that a committeeman had called for a donation for some object of charity.

LITTLE GRACE is a benevolent four-year-old, and seeing an orphan Irish boy looking hungry and dirty, she asked her mother if she could give him a cake "cause he hasn't any good mother." The mother assented, the cake was thankfully received, and then, not satisfied, Gracie appeared again, saying, "mother, may I smile upon him?" Consent being given, she bestowed a gracious smile on the poor lad that testified to her kindness of heart. "For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

THE MUSTER.

The entries of companies intending to participate closed on the 31st—the whole number being 73. The various committees are diligently at work perfecting the arrangements and there is every indication that if the weather is favorable the muster will be the most complete affair of the kind ever seen in New England.

The torchlight procession next Tuesday evening will be a brilliant affair and the splendid music of the American Brass Band of Providence will attract an immense audience. The Pawtucket Company is a fine body of men, many of them being from the first classes of Little Rhody's well-to-do citizens.

The engines of the attending companies will arrive during the evening of the night of the 5th, and be unloaded at Dover street.

Col. William Beals will decorate several dwellings and stores and is soliciting orders for other places.

The number of entries are as follows:—Companies 73; Bands 24; Drum Corps 10; Steamers 31; Hand Engines 32; Hose & Hook & Ladder Co's 10.

[From the Portland Argus.]

KITTERY, Aug. 25, 1871.

To the Editor of Argus.—Referring to an article which appeared in the "Argus" in relation to the removal of Col. Wentworth and others from positions at the navy yard, a correspondent, "Dundee" of the "Press," assuming to speak by authority both for the "Executive Department of the navy yard," and for Mr. Lynch, says the latter gentleman, "not only did not recommend, but knew nothing of the discharges until their appearance in public prints." But he says, "The order came from Washington for reduction, whenever it could be done without detriment to the interests of the government, and, that the Executive Department of the yard at once complied with the demands of the order, and recommended such decharges, as in their estimation would best subserve the interest of the government."

Now while this correspondent appears to understand so well, not only what Mr. Lynch did not know, but also what the "Executive Department of the yard" did know and do in relation to this matter of reduction, we hope he will explain to the public in connection with this subject, how it happens that none but "anti Lynch men" are discharged for purposes of economy. Also, why for the past year this class of men, even including the lowest class of laborers, has been refused employment and proscribed at this navy yard?

Has this been done by the mutual understanding and consent of Mr. Lynch and the "Executive Department of the yard?" If so, has not such a course tended to embarrass and render inefficient the "Executive Department of the yard" for all real purposes of retrenchment or reform?

Has not the cost of the public works at this yard, including the running expenses, more than doubled itself at the interference of Mr. Lynch with the "Executive Department of the yard?"

Finally, when a great public establishment like a navy yard becomes prostituted to such purposes, whether it would not be a relief to the "Executive Department of the yard," if the people should demand a thorough reform?

VERITAS.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK of this city has taken $128,000 of the five per cent. national loan.

THE THUNDER STORM of Wednesday evening was the most terrific ever experienced in Great Falls, completely flooding the streets, and raising the river six feet and a half. The evening train from Boston, on the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, was detained at Great Falls until Thursday morning, owing to washouts on the line above.

WHO ARE AMERICANS.—The following figures compiled from the late census of the United States may be of value to the small Radical journals, which are doing their best to revive the old dead carcass of Know-Nothingism in this country:

French,	4,000,000
English,	6,000,000
Irish,	13,000,000
Spaniards,	3,000,000
Germans,	5,000,000
Africans,	4,000,000
"Indians,"	500,000
Welsh, Italians, etc.,	2,500,000

This table will, we have no doubt, startle many. It will be well for the Radicals to go still further with the inquiry as to the prospect of their making capital out of the religious elements. If it can be presumed that one-half of the free thinkers will go with the Catholic and Episcopal churches, in favor with Democratic liberty, we are at a loss to see how the Radical party is to make capital out of their villainous schemes to array the different nationalities and religious sects against each other.

The above table (we copy the article from the local democratic paper) may well "startle many," showing as it does, that out of a population of 38,555,903, (the total population of the United States) no less than 37,500,000 are foreigners, (for the 500,000 Indians cannot be classed as such,) making the native population out to number but 555,903, not including the Indians. Another arithmetician who has been through the census tables says they "show the native population of the United States to be 32,989,437, while only 5,566,466 are foreign born. That is to say, that the native population is to the foreign as 33 to 5 1-2, or as 6 to 1. That six persons out of every seven in this country are natives of it is a fact which will astonish many who have accustomed their minds to an entirely different view. In New Hampshire the natives outnumber the foreign born in the ratio of ten to one." But even assuming the astonishing table furnished by the Democratic editor to be correct, the "fact" that there are 13,000,000 Irish (many more than there are in all Ireland) in the United States, would be no justification for their attempts to appropriate all religious liberty to their own particular sect; and the editor's attempt to connect the demands of all Republicans and of the best men among the Democrats, that the Catholic Irish shall have precisely the same liberties as persons of other nationalities and religious beliefs—no less and no more—with Know Nothingism, is a rather stale slander, and gains no support even from his "startling" figures.

City Council, Thursday, Aug. 31.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Alderman Marvin reported that the steamer Dearborn had been thoroughly repaired and worked well. The cost does not exceed the estimate.

A relay of sidewalk was granted M. Dixon, Water Street.

The resolution in aid of the construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad was taken up, the Board adjourning to the Common Council room.

Mr. J. S. H. Frink, clerk of the P. & D. Railroad, opened the discussion in favor of the resolution. He thought this the least burdensome way of aiding the construction of the Road. Five per cent. of the valuation of Portsmouth would furnish the guarantee for 3069 shares and five per cent. of the valuation of the cities of Portsmouth and Dover would furnish guarantee for 5141 shares. Mr. Frink's remarks were brief and to the point.

Hon. Frank Jones repudiated the idea of the Road being personally more beneficial to him than to any other person. He appeared in behalf of the city—he had no intention of making money out of it—and had no axe to grind.

Hon. Daniel Marcy, a Director of the Road, said he had advocated the building of it and that he had found no opposition. An anonymous circular had charged the Directors with being schemers. The Senator from District No. 6 had assured him while in the legislature that when the P. & D. Road was finished the Lake Shore Road would be put through. He thought he was too old to experience pecuniary benefit from this Road, but he wanted to help the enterprise of the city.

Hon. Richard Jenness opposed giving aid as proposed. He knew of no proposed route—no plan for the public to consider. No amount had been subscribed. A similar case had never been known in New England. He thought that this was not the proper way to develop the business interests of the city. He did not understand the singular contract drawn. The gentlemen who advocate this plan have vast wealth and not a cent of money have they subscribed. He would ask where would the proposed Road connect. Where would you get the business from? Enough business would not come over the Road to pay for greasing the wheels of the rolling stock. No road would kick its own freight out of its own cars for the benefit of this new Road—a rival corporation. Portland had lod in lending credit to railroads. It loaned its credit by issuing bonds for $1,000,000, took a mortgage and had a proviso to repay two per cent. yearly. In addition, stockholders took $1,000,000. Notwithstanding these precautions, the money loaned had been sunk. Other schemes were carried out by Portland on the same basis, part of the Roads being partially built, for 17 miles or more. Yet this amount was sunk. He did not write the anonymous circular, but could say that the financial statements therein were correct. He did not doubt that the gentlemen in charge of the plan were acting as they thought best for the city's interest. He would not vote other people's money away—he had no right to do so. The tax of Portland was $26 on $1000 and real estate had fallen off 50 per cent. there in six months and two thirds the buildings are not rented. Portland is the model railroad aid city.

Wm. H. Hackett, Esq., read a letter from the City Clerk of Portland showing the increase of valuation and population in that city since 1845.

Mr. Jenness, resuming, said that the passage of the resolution would cost this city six times the amount of its valuation. He would prefer to see a fire sweep from the northerly end of Market Street to the South Mill Bridge rather than have the resolution pass.

A colloquy ensued between Messrs. Hackett and Jenness, which we have no room for.

Charles Robinson, Esq., was surprised at the figuring of the gentleman who had last spoken. The losers by the Concord Railroad had received partial repayment by increased business of the city. We may lose in the outset but we gain largely in the end. If the Road is built to Dover it will open the means of connection to the interior of the State. He was surprised that any real estate owner should oppose it. Towns are built up by the increase of railroad facilities. Portsmouth will gain by sacrifice. He knew in common with Messrs. Sise, Hackett and others that a large amount of business would be given this Road.

John Sise, Esq., thought it absurd that others thought the P. & D. road will not pay. Looking back 100 years was not like looking ahead a century. The tax of this city would not be increased one quarter of one per cent. by guaranteeing these dividends.

O. W. Penhallow, Esq., asked if the "paltry sum" spoken of had been considered. He reckoned the interest on the first instalment to be guaranteed to be forty-four million dollars, for ninety-nine years. A sinking fund would be necessary to counteract the amount of dividends to be paid. We have no right to run our city in debt. When we advance $300,000 we shall be obliged to pay $600,000. The greatest curse to bequeathe children was debt. Portsmouth's excellent credit was kept up by keeping aloof from such schemes as this.

In equity, the city authorities have no right to do this thing. A proper court would decide this course erroneous. Beware how you make promises to pay.

Mr. Mark Spinney said that we needed a new set of men. Moneyed citizens were apt to be too much frightened at risking money. They would take a dollar out of their pocket and then put it back again. If you want to make money put some out or you'll never get any back. Mr. S. then moved out into the hall and addressed the crowd outside, making much merriment.

Gideon H. Rundlett, Esq., thought the promise of business held out by Mr. Sise would hardly be fulfilled. He thought it was impossible to make a great commercial city of Portsmouth. Everything centres in Boston, as Portland has learned to her cost. He would like to see the P. & D. R. R. built if it would pay. He would like to see free bridges and railroads to the beaches. The first thing to consider was would the investment in the proposed Road pay. He doubted if the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad would pay expenses alone. Let business develope itself first—then build the Railroad to accommodate. Let us be cautious before we adopt such a measure as this.

Mr. Penhallow said impatience of growth always defeats itself. The men who have grown rich have done so by commencing a small business, while those who failed had started on credit. He asserted that majorities have not the right in equity to vote away the money of minorities. Portsmouth is growing, though slowly. Every year brings more visitors in the summer.

Mr. Jenness asked Mr. Robinson to account for the existence of nine wholesale groceries here many years ago and to compare it with the present.

Mr. Robinson replied that when Mr. Jenness would inform him how the number of retail groceries of the present time compared with former days, he would answer.

Mr. Mark Spinney returned to the charge—this time advocating free bridges and leaving the bondholders to build the railroad. He then branched off on a tirade on the liquor question, stating that rum built up Market Street in the good old times of prosperity. He was repeatedly called to order by Mayor Fernald.

The Board then returned to their room. It was then voted that a Committee be appointed to confer with the managers of the P. & D. corporation to obtain information as to plans, &c., to report in two weeks, and that the aid resolution be laid on the table; also to see if a lower rate of interest than 7 per cent. would not be acceptable. Aldermen Marvin and Mendum were appointed that Committee.

A communication from the Committee on Fire Department asking for the appropriation of $500 additional for the Muster was accepted.

Alderman Mendum opposed a further appropriation.

Alderman Waldron stated that he was informed that the outside subscriptions had been less than expected.

Assistant Engineer John H. Morrill appeared in behalf of the firemen and stated that the Muster would be twice as extensive as at first expected. Five hundred dollars more were required to feed the 4000 men who were coming. The subscription of $1500 had been raised by citizens.

Alderman Mendum's motion to not allow the request for the appropriation of $500 was negatived—yeas 3—nays 4.

Alderman Giddings moved to appropriate $500 accordingly.

Alderman Marvin stated that but 100 bushels of clams had been provided for 4000 men and five or six times that amount of clams might be necessary.

Aldermen Giddings' motion was defeated—yeas, Aldermen Annable, Waldron, Giddings, Marvin, 4; nays Hatch, Wendell, Mendum, Fernald, 4.

The Mayor was authorized to employ a sufficient number of extra police to serve on the 6th and 7th insts.

Voted, to accept an invitation to take part in the Firemen's parade on the 6th.

Joseph P. Morse was appointed Constable without pay.

Mr. John E. Rider appeared in behalf of the Muster Committee, desiring the appropriation of $500 for the clambake. He thought that sum would carry the Muster through creditably. The Board voted the $500 asked, the former vote being reconsidered, and then adjourned at 11.15.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,
YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River. The facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivalled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Shoals) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equalled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS,
Proprietors.
☞ Steamer HOFFMAN, Capt. Emerson, will make two trips daily (on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays) between Portsmouth and York Harbor, connecting with morning and afternoon trains from Boston, during the season, conveying passengers at reasonable rates and landing them but a few rods from the Hotel. Wyoming,	11

A comparison of the number of homicides in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Missouri, Tennessee and Texas, with the number in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, seems to throw a shade of doubt on the oft repeated assertion of some Northern papers that life is as secure in the South as in the North.

Harper's Weekly is publishing views and descriptions of the palatial residences and magnificent grounds of the members of the New York ring. Princes are not so splendidly housed and kings do not make greater display in their household arrangements than these exponents of republican simplicity. Yet it may be said that they lead an economical sort of life; it does not cost them anything. They get it all as cheaply as a band of Bedouins get the merchandize of a rich caravan.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS in the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

is its duplicate. Letters attesting its wonderful Tonic Aperient and Anti-Bilious qualities swarm in from every source. They can; and the Seltzer Aperient, when undoubtedly pure and genuine, proves the fact.

$1,000,000!

By authority of a special act of the Legislature of Kentucky, of March 13, 1871, the Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky will give a

GRAND GIFT CONCERT AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	$100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	50,000
One Gift of	$25,000

Forty-five Gifts of $300 each	13,500
Fifty Gifts of $200 each	10,000
446 Gifts of $100 each	44,600
721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who will be present to certify to the fairness and correctness of the distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent directed through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in five months and paid $488 000 to ticket-holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties coming from Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $30,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawf6t16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the TAKING A SWIM.—In Ohio, two weeks since, twenty Baptist clergymen who were attending a convention, went down to a secluded spot on the bank of the river, in the afternoon, for the purpose of taking a swim. The brethren removed their clothing and placed it on the railroad track near at hand, because the grass was wet. They then entered the water and enjoyed themselves. Presently an express train came around the curve at the rate of 40 miles an hour, and before any of the swimmers could reach dry land all of their clothing was fluttering from the cowcatcher and speeding on toward Kansas. It was painful—because all the clothing that could be found, after a careful search, was a sun umbrella and a pair of eyeglasses. They do say that when those twenty marched home by the refulgent light of the moon in single file that evening, and keeping close together, with most familiar acquaintance with the Zouave drill, on the part of the man at the head with the umbrella, hardly sufficing to cover them completely. They said they felt conspicuous, somehow; and the situation was made all the more embarrassing because that night all the Dorcas societies and the woman's rights conventions, and the pupils at the female boarding school, seemed to be prancing around the streets and running across the route of the parade. Most of the brethren are now down on immersion and are altogether in favor of the use of water in sprinkling.

LESSONS OF THE SHORT HAY CROP.—Haying is over. We have about one-third as much hay as last year, on an average. Some have a little more while others have less. This decrease in our hay crop may be attributed to several causes. First, for several seasons our fields have produced well and they needed rest. The ancient Jews were required by the great law giver to allow their lands to rest every seventh year. (See Lev. 25th chapter, 5th verse.) Our lands will rest whether we allow them to or not. Second, the summer of 1870 was very dry and the grass roots became almost dead. Farmers generally had large flocks and herds, their pastures failed, and they were obliged to turn their animals upon their grass lands, and from August until winter, and in some cases during winter, these animals were roaming over these fields to subsist upon the stubbles and grass roots. Then followed a hard winter, little snow falling to protect the dry and thin grass roots; and lastly another dry summer and a multitude of grasshoppers. But notwithstanding this, brother farmer's don't be discouraged. We shall be obliged to reduce our stock to that number which we can keep in our pastures from early spring to late autumn and not allow them to run over our grass lands to their injury. We shall be obliged to try this experiment this year, and I think we shall be slow to increase our flocks and herds, or sell a few tons of hay we may have left in the spring to Boston dealers to enrich the fields and gardens of Massachusetts.—Cor. Maine Farmer.

—Sunday-school children are warned against the practice of purchasing prize packages of candy, offered for sale in the cars, lest it should foster a love for gambling. A Western religious paper thinks this question as serious as the coming of the cholera, the Dollinger movement, and the civil service reform. What wonderfully ingenious snares the devil does lay for the trapping of poor, innocent children!—N. Y. Globe.

The Western religious paper need not be alarmed lest the children who purchase prize packages of candy in the cars become gamblers—that is, if they eat their purchases, for in that case they are in much greater danger of becoming premature angels than mature gamblers.

—The Boston Advertiser has rather a cool way of criticising the acting of Miss Dolly Bidwell, who is playing in that city, and who is announced as "the handsomest woman on the American stage." "She owes," says this cynical observer, "a large portion of such success as she attains to the fact that her gown is somewhat though not immodestly low in the neck, and that it is so short in the skirt as to display to great advantage a beautiful pair of striped stockings." Miss Bidwell might retort that this gentlemanly critic went to the theatre to see, not to hear, and saw what he went to see.—Portland Advertiser.

—A Chicago paper says the surest way of preventing hydrophobia in dogs is to supply them well with water, and the safest way to insure them an abundance of this indispensable fluid is to anchor them in about seven feet of water, so that their heads will be from eighteen to twenty-five inches below the surface.

—A St. Louis man who had gambled with ill success syndicated his disappointment by throwing the "bank" out of a window and setting fire to a barrel of whiskey.

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains to functionally do his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes are sympathetically affected. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its harassing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chyllification is now progressing, without its previous torpiditude. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the immature and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of expectoration it expels them. Hypocrisy cannot delude, for in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the glorious degree organed vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Dr. Schenck's experience has proved that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; for if they unnecessarily are in the house they must not sit down quiet: they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, in order to get a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—the dominion of the mind in this has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to cure.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the cure of the most desperate cases in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"I was reduced to a state of extreme emaciation; confined to my bed; and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week. Then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and which gave the perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As the matter began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

Directions for taking the medicines will be found in the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions and Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines neither do nor attempt anything beyond the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens and night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are entirely subdued.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a properly-interim against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an active practice of more than twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Extensions, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the patentability and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART.

PSYCHOMANCY is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by HERMAN HARRISON, B. A., giving full instruction in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Mediums, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of Omens and Dreams, Talisman, Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchants, Lawyers, Physicians, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1871.

THE INQUEST on the railroad accident at Revere, was on Thursday rendered more interesting than usual by the testimony of engineer Brown of the Pullman train. It was given in a plain, straight-forward manner, his voice breaking several times in consequence of his emotions. It is said that during the long time he was kept upon the stand by a rigid cross-examination the silence in the room was almost painful. Did our space permit us we would give the whole of Mr. Brown's testimony, because we regard it as of more importance than that of any who have yet testified in relation to this sad occurrence. It appears from his statement that just after he got the signal from the conductor to start his train out of the Boston depot, Mr. Lunt, the depot-master ran up alongside of the engine and said, "Look out for the Saugus Branch train." To this injunction the response was, "All right." Nothing was said to him about looking out for the Beverly train, and from the time of his starting out of Boston until he saw the tail lights of the fated train he had no anxiety in regard to it, or had any idea other than that the train in question was a long and safe distance ahead of him. He states that in his judgment his speed at the time of his collision was about ten miles an hour. We quote that portion of his testimony which relates to his discovery of the Beverly train and the course pursued by him on observing it. "The first signal of danger I saw after passing the overhead bridge at Revere. There saw two lights right ahead. Immediately reversed my engine and whistled; could not say which I did first. Having done all in my power to stop the train, I made preparations to leave my engine, thinking there would be a collision. When I got within four or five rods I jumped. It threw me on my face, and scratched me a very little. Got up and immediately thought of my fireman. Went up to my engine, and as she was blowing off steam so, I could not see into the cab. As soon as she got rid of steam I looked into the cab; called my fireman's name but got [illegible] side of the train to see if I could find him. Coming back saw him. Asked if he was hurt. He said 'No.' Then went to render all the assistance I could to those who were in the wreck."

THE TAMMANY SCANDAL.—The New York Times has not yet exhausted its arsenal of material for exposing the maladministration of the Tammany ring. Thursday it gave a long column of figures from the controller's accounts, showing the amounts paid for the county printing, advertising and stationery, during the years of 1869 and 1870. The total for printing is $1,401,269 49; that for stationery, $871,373 90; that for advertising, $369,184 91; the aggregate being $2,641,218, 30. The extravagance of these payments is quite obvious, but the offence of the ring is aggravated by the showing that more than two-thirds of the whole ($1,861,506 54) was paid to the New York Printing Company, the Manufacturing Stationers' Company and the Transcript Association, three firms or corporations made up of members of the ring.

The New York Tribune has just exposed another shameful operation of the ring. The last legislature, it appears, passed a bill providing for testing iron works for building. A foundry inspector of the Tammany ring was appointed and received 70 cents per lineal foot for testing all iron work, in addition to which he received a salary of $3000 per annum. When it is considered how extensively iron beams, columns, girders, etc., are now used in building, the profits of this sharp scheme to Tammany will be seen to be very large.

THE KU-KLUX LAWS.—The President is urged to use the extreme powers conferred by what was known as the Ku-Klux laws, and from the representations which are made the need would seem to be urgent. The outrages of the Klan, which closed in a great measure for a time while the examination was going on and while everybody was too busy with the cultivation of the growing crops to attend to other affairs, have been renewed with fresh vigor. The facts in relation to the matter are in the possession of the War Department by reports of its trusted officers, and on facts the action will be based.

A TERRIFIC HURRICANE occurred on the Island of St. Thomas, August 22, in which one hundred and fifty persons were killed or injured, and thousands made houseless. THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF OHIO.—The telegraph reports the withdrawal of Gen. McCook from the canvas in which he has been [illegible] Chillicothe, where he made some remarkable statistical disclosures in regard to the population and financial condition of the United States. The Cincinnati Commercial makes some interesting developments in regard to the General's indisposition, and the malpractice evinced in the administration of peppermint, which was not indicated by the peculiar symptoms of the sufferer. The Commercial says:

The story of the illnes of Gen. George W. McCook, Democratic candidate for Governor of Chilicothe, published in the Commercial of yesterday, has some tincture of improbability. When it is alleged that the hospitality of ex-Senator Allen proved too much for a Democratic candidate for Governor, we must interpose the fact that the ex-Senator is a student, a philosopher, and a chemist. Since his retirement from public life he has assiduously cultivated his mind, and has devoted himself with astonishing perseverance to experiments in chemistry. As a practical and scientific chemist he would know what would be good for the stomach and brain of a Democratic candidate for Governor. The correspondent says McCook attempted to tell a story of a poor cuss with two babies. Evidently he was speaking of the lady in Madison County, who is the mother of eighteen flourishing children. It is impossible that the gallant general was thinking of providing her with a pension, and the inaccuracy of the dispatch is patent. Why his friends should have attempted to administer peppermint, we confess we do not understand. At any rate, the peppermint was not a success as a medicine. We are sure it could not have been administered by authority, or with the advice of ex-Senator Allen. The result of this unfortunate perscription was illness. Complicated with this was a strange, though under the circumstances not unnatural misapplication of statistics. The statement that the population of the United States has increased to the extent of "thirty-eight millions of dollars" is incorrect. As a matter of fact, the population is about thirty-eight millions, and no doubt Gen. McCook, having that in his mind, was about to pay to get rid of that blessing, the national debt, when the influence of the lamentable peppermint confused him and brought him to grief. We venture to recommend candidates for Governor to abstain from peppermint.

—In Marince City, Mich., the other day, a young man was walking out with some young ladies, when he found a small frog, and holding it in the palm of his hand brought it near his mouth, which he opened wide. The juvenile croaker seeing what appeared to be a place of refuge, gave a jump into the cave. The young man looked very red in the face, and the young ladies looked down in the mouth, but the frog has never been seen from that day to this.

A KEEN REPLY.—Legal bullies who ask women impertinent questions in the witness-box ought to get their deserts, as did the solicitor-general the other day in the celebrated Tichborne case in England. The witness was a governess who had formerly been employed in the Tichborne family. Governesses in England are generally regarded as beings who are made to be snubbed and insulted. So the solicitor-general snubbed and insulted this one, while she was testifying to the identity of the claimant to the Tichborne estate with the young heir as she knew him twenty years before. At last she had a chance at him which she did not hesitate to improve. "Was the young man always polite to ladies?" asked the solitor-general. "He was, indeed, polite toward ladies," replied the governess; and with a well understood emphasis she added, "gentlemen, I believe, always are so." The court room burst into a loud laugh, and the solicitor-general turned red in the face.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

M. on Thursday,—for the special accommodation of firemen in uniform; and no other extra trains will be run, the Superintendent regarding it impracticable to do more in addition to the regular traffic.

Communicated.

Messrs. Editors:—No one who was present at the Aldermen's room Thursday evening could fail to be impressed with the courtesy, forbearance and impartiality of the Board. The meeting of citizens invited by the Board, developed two points in reference to the object for which it was called, viz., the consideration of the proposed building of the Dover & Portsmouth Railroad exclusively by the City's credit, which were very significant; one was the notable neglect of the friends of the road, who were largely represented, to present data or plans of any kind in regard to its construction—the vaguest generalities and hopes of its benefit to the business of the City only, were offered as reasons for the plunging of this City into the slough of perpetual debt. It would be very easy to show, were this the proper time, that the resolutions which propose so to, burden the City's future generations, and which were drawn by the Clerk of the proposed road, and neglect most notably proper safeguards even for the custody, security and application of the funds to be raised; this, however, was perhaps to be expected, from a corporation dealing with money not its own, and from which its stockholders could derive, however misapplied, only benefit. It would seem as if this neglect to offer statistics and data of probable business for the road, was of the same safe policy as the demands of the corporators of its being built without risking a dollar of their own money or incurring a particle of responsibility, except the drawing of the seven per cent. perpetual dividends! To be sure, the directors disclaimed all personal interest in the road, the disinterested and modest souls only want the City to guarantee perpetually, seven per cent. semi-annual dividends; that's all.

The other point developed at the meeting was the strong opposition manifested by prominent citizens of both political parties to the building of this road exclusively by the city, a proposition it is believed before unheard of, and a monstrous doctrine. Look at it, the perpetual guarantee of seven per cent. dividends to a Railroad which may not earn enough "to grease the wheels of its locomotives;" its corporators mean it shall, notwithstanding, grease their pockets. Look to it, citizens of Portsmouth, before your children for generations to come are thus bound on the specious and dangerous pretext that it will but slightly increase your taxation; beware of the thin edge of the wedge. The debt once incurred must be paid; the lowest estimate of its cost (to us) is twenty-one thousand dollars per annum; it may and probably would, be twice that. Are our present taxes so light and so cheerfully paid that we can incur this risk? Are you willing to hire money to pay Railroad dividends to roads which can't earn them, to go into the full pockets of these who won't venture a single dollar in the road proposed? Under such circumstances how much is the belief which they express in the Road's success worth? We have got at no distant day, if we would really thrive, to raise a large sum for water; what would our bonds then sell for, if we have gone our length in loaning money to pay railroad dividends? Let every man who owns a house examine this matter for himself. FRANKLIN.

Communicated.

CORRECTION.—In my remarks Friday evening as reported by you, I stated that $21,000 would compound in 100 years to the sum of forty to forty-four millions as a rough calculation. This was based on figures handed to me by another person, which I did not stop to examine, that seven per cent. interest would compound to double in nine years. By reviewing at the suggestion of Hon. M. Bafford, I find it takes a little more than 10 years, giving a result of about twenty millions instead of forty millions dollars, which amount is full large enough for all the purposes contemplated in my argument. A. J. PENHALLOW.

WE were favored with a call on Friday from one of the old "typos" of the Chronicle, who is now residing in the far West. We really know not whether to ascribe it to the bracing and invigorating climate of the Western country or to the fact of serving an apprenticeship as compositor in this office, but must confess to a freshness and general good looks on the part of our visitor not always to be observed in an ex-typo.

THOSE PERSONS who are willing to serve on the Extra Police during the Firemen's Muster on the 6th and 7th, are requested to leave their names at the City Clerk's Office on or before Monday evening.

THE RAINFALL in this city during August amounted to 10 1-2 inches, of which 2 1-4 inches fell Wednesday night.

MR. THOMPSON, the recently elected Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, has resigned.

—An Indianian died of hiccoughing.

—The following story is told in a Wisconsin paper:—

"Mark Twain's celebrated frog story has a rival, and it comes from LaCrosse. It is said that H. A. Taylor, one of the editors of the LaCrosse Leader, went fishing a few days since with a friend. Each caught a fish—Taylor's being nearly double the size of the other. It is not to be doubted that he glorified not a little over the small matter of the difference, until at last his friend offered to bet a keg of lager that the little fish would weigh the most. Taylor eagerly 'betted," but the steelyards decided against him, and he went home a puzzled and a melancholy man. And the mystery continued to worry him, so that, after supper, he unconsciously wandered down by his friend's house, and, while passing, that person suddenly made his appearance in the back yard, and, holding the fish up by the tail, shook several pounds of gravel-stones out of him. It is needless to say that there is a bad crevasse in those two men's friendship, and that they will fish together no more."

NEW FIRM!

INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE, } WINGATE N. ILSLEY. }
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

THE STATE TAX FOR 1871.—The general impression that the State tax for the present year, payable from town on the first of December next, will be only one-half as much as it was last year, inasmuch as the Legislature voted to raise only three hundred thousand dollars, in the place of six hundred thousand the preceding year. We have no doubt but that nearly every member of the Legislature so understood it when voting and so thinks to-day. We confess to a little want of knowledge on the subject, or rather to a neglect to exercise our reason in regard to it. We propose to state the case as it is, and help our readers to understand it.

The tax for the year 1871, payable in December, is already assessed, and was assessed in April last, two months before the meeting of the Legislature and three months before the passage of the resolution raising $300,000. So, as a matter of course, it could not be based on the resolution of 1871, but on that of the preceding year, which provided for $600,000. The tax for 1872, to be assessed in April next and paid in one year from December next, will be on the basis of $300,000.

Now, to make a fair thing of it, people must understand that the Legislature of 1872 took no action that will reduce the income of the treasury, the present year, but did take such action as will increase the expenditures. The tax is to be on the basis of former resolutions, while the expenditures will be on the basis mainly of orders passed and acts performed by the present Legislature. Had the expenditures been on the basis merely of last year's legislation, and the income as at present, the State debt would have diminished four hundred thousand dollars, and that according to Republican policy. But now, inasmuch as the running expenses of the Democratic State Government, this year, will exceed that of the corresponding year of Republican rule, by $40,000 or $50,000, the reduction of the State debt will be that amount less than it would have been under Republican rule. That is, we shall be likely to pay $350,000 of the debt because it was so provided in advance by the Republican legislature of 1870, and we should have paid $50,000 more, had not the last Legislature voted it away.

The Democratic party is not chargeable with the State tax now assessed, and payable in December, nor can it have the credit of reducing the State debt during the year ending in June, 1872, for that very reduction is due to the tax already assessed, and would have been $40,000 or $50,000 more, had Democratic hands been kept out of the Treasury, or rather had the Republican party held the control of the House of Representatives by the election of a few more members last March.

There is to be a future to the tax matter and the payment of the State debt, and we want people to understand it now, that they may lay the responsibility where it belongs.—Manchester Mirror.

BEN. BUTLER AT COLLEGE.—We have a very good story of Hon. Benjamin F. Butler, that has not yet found its way into the newspapers: When a student in college, it was binding on the students to attend the church—a duty which to him was very irksome. On one occasion he heard the preacher (who was also a professor) advancing propositions like the following: "(1) That the elect alone would be saved. (2) That among those who, by the world, were called Christians probably not more than one in a hundred belonged really and truly to the elect. (3) That the others, by reason of their Christian privileges, would suffer more hereafter than the heathen, who had never heard the Gospel at all. Mr. Butler, whose audacity was as conspicuous as his reverence, made a note of these propositions, and on the strength of them drew up a petition to the faculty, soliciting exemption from further attendance at the church, as only preparing for himself a more terrible future. For, said he, the congregation here amounts to six hundred persons, and nine of these are professors. Now, if only one in a hundred is to be saved, it follows that three even of the faculty must be damned. He, (Benjamin F. Butler), being a mere student, could not expect to be saved in preference to a professor. Far be it from him to cherish so presumptuous a hope! Nothing remained for him, but perdition. In this melancholy posture of affairs he was naturally anxious to abstain from anything that might aggravate his future punishment; and, as church attendance had been shown in last Sunday's sermon to have this influence on the non-elect, he trusted that the faculty would for all time coming exempt him from it!

The result of this position, written out in an imposing manner, and formally presented to the faculty, was that Butler received a public reprimand for irreverence, and, but for the influence of one or two friends in the faculty would have been expelled.—Harper's Magazine.

—During the evening service in a New Haven church, recently, the pastor observed a man in a back seat hitching about in an uncomfortable manner, and thinking his conscience troubled him said, "Does the brother want to speak?" The man, rising, said, "No, sir, the brother wants a drink of water," walked to the altar, and took a drink of water and resumed his seat, after which the services proceeded.

—A wolf went into a Dutch church, the other Sunday, and was so much affected, that before he got out he was converted—into a corpse.

—White morning dresses are fashionable.

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and efficient citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and the tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $550,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of G. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children, aged from 5 to 15 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but distributed pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system, for many years, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfebl8

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to try the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINTS, in the City. Also Dealer in GROCERIES AND PROVISIONS, —A Hoosier housewife furnishes this, as the only recipe for making the genuine and world-famous Indiana gingerbread: Git your ginger; melt molasses till it biles over; melt some butter till it's thin; stir it through the molasses candy; multiply by wet sugar; thrash some clover and maryander seed, and grind them together; git a twelve-pound sack of flour on credit; two cups of sour oil of kine; beat somebody out of the eggs; beat the eggs; strain them to substract the shells; line the pan with red flannel, saturate with equal parts of coal tar and strong butter, and pour the mixture in. Bake until it tastes good.

A HORSE STORY.—The Blue Earth City Post says: A good story is told of one of our attorneys. He is something of a horse fancier, and in addition to his team has sundry colts running loose. A short time since some colts broke into a field near the village and damaged the crops. The colts were taken up by the owner of the crops, and advertised to be sold to pay the damage pursuant to law. The owners of all the colts but one applied to the aforesaid attorney for council, and under his advice the colts were replevined, save one which was duly sold. The sheriff's return of the sale came under the attorney's notice, and he was at once struck with the description of the animal sold. He struck a bee-line for that colt, only to find that it was his own, and had been sold to pay the damages inflicted not only by it, but by all the colts and other animals that had been in that lot since spring! The matter was compromised, and our legal friend returned with his colt.

APOMORPHIA.—A substance known as apomorphia, discovered by Dr. Matthiessen and Mr. Wright, a year or two ago, promises, according to Dr. Gee, to be of some importance in a medical point of view. It is obtained by subjecting chloride of morphia for several hours to the action of strong hydrochloric acid at a high temperature. Chloride of apomorphia is the result, from which the base can be separated; but as it is very unstable, the salt has been generally used. The principal chemical differences of apomorphia from morphia consists in having one molecule less of water. It is a white crystalline powder, soluble in 30 parts of cold and much less of warm water, and its special function is its remarkable emetic powers, which act rapidly and certainly. According to Dr. Gee, it always produces favorable results when employed, and by a single dose. As the salt is free from any alcoholic irritant preparation, it can be used hypodermically. A very small dose is 1-5 of a grain by the mouth, or 1-10 by hypodermic injection (which answers the purpose much more rapidly and freely), while the action, unlike that of other emetics, is not accompanied or followed by any ill effects. In general, the vomiting seems to put an end to itself, there being no subsequent nausea. Attention has lately been called to this drug, on account of its important qualities as an emetic, since no other substance, as such, can be administered by subcutaneous injection; and all others are bulky, uncertain, and generally produce distressing nausea and depression.

AMATEUR EDITORS.—An Amateur who was editing a paper in the absence of a regular editor says:—

The last thing I have any distinct recollection of was getting off something on the Mayor of the town. He went by old Sykes, the editor, one evening without nodding, and had no sooner entered the office than I heard:—

"Go for Muggs! give it to him hot! Yank him all to pieces, and leave his shattered soul hanging to the steeple of the court house."

"But he——" I began, when Sykes came close up to me, breathing hard, and says he:—

"Young man, go for Muggs! I hate to part with you, but Smith offers to fill your occupation for a dollar less."

So I sat down to do up Muggs. Sykes was going away and he left me to my judgment. I wrote an article that I thought would please the old man for positiveness, and it went in under a tripple heading. I was just locking up the paste pot in the burglar proof safe to keep it from the rats, and I heard a yelling on the streets, and the office door came in on me. I saw stars, comets, spots on the sun, new moon, and "come to" in the next town, when I sent the following despatch to the old man:—"If you can pay your board bill stay where you are. The press is ruined, the long primer is in Hardy's horse pond. The mailing table, the bank and that new job rack went over the dam last evening. Things ain't as they was. We made a big hit on Muggs and he retaliated powerfully. I have hired out to a quiet old farmer here, and I think I shall pursue the 'get off' business any further. In about two months I got a reply. Here was all that was said:—"Young man, always be positive in your assertions."

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the premature slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever mental vigility remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for diet, will be quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is no idle or selfish presumptuous. To the faith of the invalids made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the friends of the invalid are assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbid secretion of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but none of its dangers, and they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It assumes from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Child-ration is now progressing, without its previous torture. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more distress, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the grand specific, Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, which the patient pour out over yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten the consummation of the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be checked. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, and not get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking a cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Colds are the great enemies, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter months, and all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, and their patients are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they think they are in a consumption, they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's published statement to the Faculty of his own case was in these words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed as if the medicines did not penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, sweats at night (sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, will be in Philadelphia, at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and a physician readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the demanding at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweats disappear, the distressing both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in reams of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters relating to patents. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART, Boston, Jan. 1 1871.—1 yr.

PSYCHOMANCY is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by HERBERT HAMILTON, B. A., giving full instruction in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Medium, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of Omens and Dreams, Brigham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchants, Lawyers, Physicians, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1871.

THE REVERE ACCIDENT.—On Friday, Superintendent Prescott gave important testimony before the coroner's jury. He has been Superintendent 15 years and 11 months. The number of trains daily are more than double what they were ten years ago. About three cars were lost by the recent accident on the Maine Central. Don't think the amount of rolling-stock has kept pace with the increase of travel this year. For the last fortnight the trains have not run on time, owing to the increase of travel occasioned by camp-meetings at Kennebunk and Hamilton, and the muster at Swampscott. The deficiency of running-stock occasioned the delay. The camp-meeting has interfered with the running of the trains for five years Have been obliged to borrow cars perhaps four times. The necessity of borrowing has been occasioned by the camp-meeting. Have often spoken to the president and directors of the need of more cars. Have spoken with the president about employing the telegraph on the road. The corporation has no limit in relation to the amount of business to be undertaken. There is a limit to the facilities of the road. If there was a camp-meeting at every station the road would try to accommodate it. Do not intend to disturb the running time of the regular trains by the extra trains.

The running of a special train is extra hazardous. The weight of an engine is from twenty to thirty tons. Saturday was the day of the breaking up of the muster at Swampscott. The troops were at Lynn at 3:15 ready to depart for Newburyport. The trains carrying them arrived at Newburyport before the departure of the 4:15 train for Boston. The train came from Beverly to Boston with two engines as far as Prison Point. Then the engine that coupled at Beverly left the train and started back for Salem, as it belonged on the Lawrence branch. At Saugus branch it coupled on to the Beverly train. It is a common occurrence for an accommodation train to leave fifteen minutes before an express.

The regular passenger business is 80,000 a week. Last year it was 74,000. Last week the number increased to 142,725. The new arrangement of through trains to Bangor has increased the travel on this road. Have discouraged taking special jobs as many as fifty times this summer, as it would disarrange the business of the road. If the public demand accommodations I feel bound to strain every nerve for their benefit. During the camp meeting the special trains have been delayed in preference to the regular trains. It is the custom of the road to take care of those injured by accidents, regardless of cost.

During the last week tried to borrow cars but could not on account of the great amount of travel on the other roads. Should say that if Mr. Nowland was delayed at Saugus Branch, think it was his duty to signalize coming trains. If the engineer of the Pullman train knew that the Beverly train was delayed, it was his duty to run more carefully. Mr. Nowland, the conductor of the Beverly train, has been suspended by the president of the road.

If either the telegraph or the Westinghaus brake had been employed on the road the accident might have been prevented.

A PETERSBURG, VA., PAPER has a poor opinion of the much vaunted sagacity and statesmanship of Alexander H. Stephens. It says:—If the flood had occurred in the time of Mr. Alexander H. Stephens, we verily believe that during the thirty-ninth day's rain he would have been seen astride of the ridge pole of the Atlanta Sun office, holding a faded umbrella over his head, drawing up his diminutive legs to keep them out of the surrounding surges, and calmly inditing a tencolumn editorial to the people of the late Confederacy, to prove that the shower was null and void and the flood a matter to be resisted at the ballot-box.

The lessees of the Cocheco Park, Dover are laying out their grounds in fine taste, and making every possible arrangement for the State Fair, which begins on the 16th instant. Two of Yale's mammoth tents have been engaged by the directors for the display of miscellaneous articles, and others will be procured as necessity may require. The premiums offered are enormous, amounting to about $15,000. All articles and stock for the fair are to be carried over the railroads free. Hon. J. Stanton Gould is to deliver the address.

CROP REPORTS.—A Washington dispatch says: The July returns of the Statistical Division of the Department of Agriculture, shows a marked increase in the acreage of corn, amounting to fully 3,000,000 acres, of which 2,000,000 are due to the determination of the cotton States to supply themselves. It is assumed that there are of corn 42,000,000 acres, more than half the total average of all tilled crops. The only States failing to show an increase of the average in corn, are New York, New England and the Pacific States. The condition of winter wheat on the 1st of July, was somewhat above the average. Spring variety presented a worse appearance than has been reported for several years at the same time. Ripening winter wheat has been fully a week earlier than usual and a large portion had been cut at the date of returns. Never was there better promise. The hay crop will be a comparatively small one. Potatoes promise an average yield, if they escape the drought and rot in future.

THE REBEL PIRATE SEMMES delivered an address recently before a Catholic institution in Alabama, toward the close of which he made the following assertions, which, we think, loyal Catholics will feel disposed to regret:

And finally, to come down to our Confederate war, did not the Catholic Church, ever true to her mission, side almost to a man, North as well as South, with the weak and the oppressed (meaning the rebellious South)? Did she not struggle in that revolution as her children had struggled of yore at Runnymede, for the principles of Magna Charta? And was not the Pope the only potentate in Europe who had the courage to say a kind word of encouragement to our President?

London Quarterly Review (Am. reprint) for July, from Leonard Scott Pub. Co., No. 140 Fulton Street, N. Y. THE GRAND OPENING of the European & North American Railroad is assigned for October 18th. President Grant, Gen. Sherman and a full representation of the press are expected to take part in the festivities.

—Lightning struck a mosquito in Georgia.

—A Dubuque husband cut off his wife's hair when she was asleep, and purchased a jug of whiskey with it.

—An unpoetical youth described his fiancee's hair as frizzled in front, and fricasseed and scrambled at the back.

—Two arrivals at Portland, Oregon, from China, brought quantities of Chinese granite cut into blocks of large size.

—Seven vessels with yellow-fever on board are detained at quarantine in New York.

—A full-rigged saw-mill passed down the Ohio river on a "flat" recently, with steam up and in successful operation.

—A precocious Ohio boy tried to kill a cat and shot his grandfather with a tenpenny nail.

—Two Virginia farmers fought a duel with a scythe and an axe.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the EXCESSES OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OF OLD AGE, with MANY ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for the above valuable medical treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively on NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE OF EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of in-truction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct28lyr

THE MUSTER.

The Governor and his staff have been invited and will probably attend.

Visiting Engineers will be quartered at Kearsarge Engine House on Court Street.

The Marshals and their aids have been appointed, as follows:—

Chief Marshal, Stephen L. Marston; Assistant Marshal, John H. Morrill, James A. Waterhouse, Charles H. Osgood, Edwin H. Leslie, M. Long, James R. Morrison, Wm. H. Lovell.

Steamer Hehry Tisdale, of Newport, R. I., with 50 men and field music, entered Friday evening, being allowed to enter after the appointed date for closing the list, on account of the indefinite postponement of the proposed muster at Newport not having taken place until a day or two previous.

Engine Co's No. 1, 2, 3 and 6 are decorating the vicinity of their Engine Houses with arches and trimmings.

Extensive preparations for the muster are going on at Peirce's Island, in a manner which indicates that those who have the matter in charge are determined to complete all the proposed arrangements for the reception of their guests in ample season. It will be impossible to perfect many of the details of the programme until after the arrival of nearly all the firemen, but it is wise to anticipate everything that can be arranged beforehand, as by so doing confusion is avoided and the enjoyment of the occasion enhanced.

The place selected as a rendezvous for the visitors cannot be excelled anywhere in New England for anything which might be suggested for the comfort of such a pleasure party. It embraces a large tract of land, is easy of access, and affords beautiful views of river and ocean scenery. On the easterly side of the island, within the ramparts of Fort Independence, there is an area of about three acres, where some two hundred tents are being erected, while one hundred more are located just outside of the main entrance to the fort. These tents are divided into fifteen camps, those stationed inside the fort being named Camps Toppan, Laighton, Jenness, Jones, Morrison, Dearborn, Reding, Adams, Strawberry Bank, Piscataqua and Clamshell Corner; while those outside are called Camps Greenleaf, Bailey, Walker and Simes. All of the foregoing will be in complete order by this (Monday) evening probably, unless the weather should prevent. Messrs. Russell & Odion were busy on Saturday furnishing wood for the great clambake which is to be served up on Thursday. Some twenty cords will be required to heat the heavy bed of rocks which are to bake the clams and the et ceteras which may be thrown in, such as lobsters, green corn and the like. Two horse-teams were hard at work two days of last week in drawing rocks to the spot where workmen are laboring to build the clam-bed,—or rather beds, as two have been laid, one sufficiently capacious to cook one hundred bushels of clams, and the other to hold double that amount.

The island is at present accessible by boats, or at low water by Newcastle Bridge, passing from the further end of the first bridge across to the island on rocks laid for the purpose. It is designed, however, to connect the Island with this city by means of a pontoon bridge made of scows kindly loaned for the occasion by the Commandant of the Navy Yard. This bridge is to be located at the terminus of Gardner Street (which leads off Water Street from what used to be known as South Meeting House Hill) and it is proposed to allow no one to pass over it save those who are provided with a certificate of permission from the managers. This precautionary measure, which may at first seem arbitrary, is necessary to prevent accidents, and ensure order in the Camp. We are informed that Major Lewis of the U. S. M. Corps at this Station has courteously tendered a detachment of marines for the purpose of guard duty in and about the encampment.

A monster Band Concert will be given on Thursday morning by the bands in attendance, under the leadership of Mr. Harlow, leader of Harlow's Marine Band. The locality of this performance has not yet been fully decided upon, but it is probable that it will take place in the lot on Pleasant Street adjoining the Universalist church. This novel musical entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock, A. M., and continue for one hour. It will draw together a large crowd should the weather prove pleasant.

The bells will be rung at sunrise, noon and sunset of Wednesday, and at sunrise and sunset of Thursday; the procession will move on the ringing of the bells at noon, Wednesday.

Of the entries, 50 are from Massachusetts, 9 from Maine, 9 from New Hampshire and 6 from Rhode Island.

A GRAND TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION of the Portsmouth Fire Department will come off to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, and all the residents along the route who desire to add to the eclat of the occasion are requested to illuminate their dwellings. The procession will form on Court Street, right resting on Pleasant, and march through Pleasant, Congress, Vaughan and Deer Streets to the Eastern depot, where Independent S. F. Engine Co. No. 2 of North Providence, R. I., are expected to arrive at 7 o'clock. Resuming the march, the procession will move through Deer, Bridge, Islington, Cabot, Middle, State, Pleasant, and Market Streets—the visitors dining at Parker's Dining Rooms on Ladd Street. It will be a brilliant affair, and we trust every citizen will do his utmost in aid of the festivities.

Communicated.

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.—[Cut this out and preserve it until the question is settled.] Why should men waste time and oppose others in disputation, concerning a "paltry sum" of money? Shall men of ability who feel confident that within a little while after the Road shall be opened it will yield ten per cent. dividends, be allowed to complicate and embarrass our municipal operations by compelling our chosen officers to become managers of a Railroad, or be allowed to compel every small land-holder (be they widow, orphan or what not) to make an incumbrance upon their estates to whatever extent may be found necessary in order to create a permanent fund sufficient to yield $21,000 per annum—to be paid to the stockholders in order to save them the trouble of calling for their dividends at the office of the company? QUERIST.

THE CONCORD RAILROAD have established a nice landing, at the old "cow-pen" dock on the southerly side of their wharf on Market Street. It consists of a floating stage, 30 feet in length, and steps to ascend to the wharf. The dock is easy of access and the landing is a much better one than the old one on the Northerly side of the wharf, which is now blockaded by schooners.

THE ROCKINGHAM ACADEMY, at Hampton Falls, originally established by the Portsmouth Baptist Association, has outgrown its usefulness as an institution for learning, and the building, which stands near the monument of Meshech Weare, the first President of New Hampshire, is now used as a shoe factory. An enlargement of the business is contemplated.

WE UNDERSTAND that the steamer Plymouth Rock which has been running to Long Branch, will be here on the 24th and 25th of this month and make an excursion to the Shoals and Portland. Jas. Fisk, Jr. will join the steamer here, and the celebrated 9th N. Y. Regimental Band will give an open air concert in this city.

WHILE AARON YOUNG, ESQ., was engaged in his official duties as Weigher and Gauger of the Custom House at the Concord Railroad Wharf on Saturday, he was severely injured by the fall of a block which struck him on the leg. Very fortunately no bones were broken.

A PLEASANT DAY'S EXCURSION is to drive to Hampton Beach, dine with Dumas and Baker at Boar's Head, sup with Lougee at the Sea View, Rye Beach, see the moon rise out of the ocean and then drive home with a jolly party. Try it.

THE WIFE of Mr. George Scott attempted suicide by jumping overboard from the Concord Railroad wharf, Saturday afternoon. She was saved by a marine. A few hours afterwards she again jumped over and was again saved.

THE Kearsarge base ball club will play a match game with the Athletics at the plains this afternoon at half past 2 o'clock. It will be one of the most interesting games that has been played in this city this season. As there is a strong rivalry between the two nines each player will play his best for his respective nine. All lovers of base ball should be present.

WE LEARN that Rev. Geo. H. Hepworth has sold his yacht Ada to Messrs. O. & C. Laighton of the Shoals for about the same sum that it cost him, which we believe was $1000.

IT IS RUMORED that a new seaside attraction will be developed another season near Portsmouth, which will eclipse in magnificence anything of the kind on the New England coast.

THE RAILROAD AID DISCUSSION before the Board of Aldermen, last week, seems to have awakened a general interest in the subject. We presume further discussion will be had at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen to be held on the 14th. The City Rooms will not hold all who wish to attend and as every citizen has a right to hear the discussion and be heard, we suggest that some hall be engaged for the purpose.

Hon. Richard Jenness desires us to explain our report of his remarks last Thursday evening. He preferred that a fire should "sweep from the northerly end of Market Street to Court Street," destroying every building between, including his own residence, rather than the City should be burdened by the passage of the resolution before the Board—intending, as we then presumed he did, to convey the idea that the fire would be the least disastrous to the prosperity of Portsmouth. He also does not deem the letter from the City Clerk of Portland to William H. Hackett, Esq., as officially contradicting his statements, and it they do he has the official document of that city to endorse them.

In this connection, desiring to give all parties to the controversy a fair hearing, we copy from the Portland Press of Sept. 2d, the following statements:—

"Portland has never lost a dollar that has been loaned to railroads, neither has the other money invested 'on the same basis' been sunk; on the contrary all the roads but one have been completed and are in operation and the remaining one is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. In connection with this subject we may also say that if it were possible to reverse the action of the city in the promotion of railroad enterprises, not ten votes would be given in favor of the reversal.

The increase in the valuation of real estate for the past year, as shown by the assessor's books, is $276,200. The increase in the number of polls is about 300, showing an increase in population of 1500 within the year. If Mr. Jenness will come to Portland we will convince him by observation that real estate in Portland, notwithstanding the assertions of croakers, has maintained a value equivalent to that of every other article that people deal in; that there is and has been for the last year a steady demand for houses and lots of a certain class and favorably located; and the entry books in the Registry of Deeds show that the number of real estate transfers in Portland for the year ending July 1, 1871, was a little in advance of the corresponding time in 1870 and 1869.

The correction of Mr. Jenness' misstatements is made upon the authority of the records. If Mr. J. will visit Portland he will find that ninety per cent of the stores and dwellings in Portland are tenanted. Now if Mr. Jenness represents the spirit of the money interest of Portsmouth it is easy to understand why she is such a sleepy old town."

THE VETERANS of the 13th N. H. Regiment of Volunteers will have a reunion in this city at Grand Army Hall on the 13th inst. On the 14th, they will dine at the Shoals. The Executive Committee having the matter in charge are Messrs. Matthew T. Betton, Benj. F. Winn and D. Webster Barnabee.

KATE FISHER will appear at the Temple, Tuesday Evening. See Advertisement.

NEW FIRM!

INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE,
WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You requise, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

DEDICATION AT KITTERY.—Notwithstanding the storm of Wednesday night the weather on Thursday was delightful, and many were the interchanges of social congratulation among the Universalists of Kittery, whose wishes were gratified in the lovely weather, as the day was to be marked in their memories by the dedication of their new chapel. At an early hour the members were astir, and by 10 o'clock a sumptuous repast had been provided for at Armory Hall. By the time the hour had arrived for the services to commence, every seat in the chapel was taken and extra accommodations provided.

The exercises consisted of a voluntary by the Choir; Prayer by Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell, the pastor; Reading of Scriptures by Rev. G. W. Quimby; Prayer of Consecration by Rev. James DeNormandie; Hymn by the Choir; Sermon by Rev. J. C. Snow of Westbrook Seminary, who chose for his text the 1st Epistle to Timothy, II:1-6. He defined the faith of Universalism, as a belief in God as the Father of all men, hence in the brotherhood of man; in God as the author and creator of all things, whose nature is love; in the Old and New Testaments, as containing a correct revelation of God's will and purposes; in Jesus Christ as the Son of God and mediator between man and God, and in the final restoration of all souls to eternal happiness. In support of the faith which he had defined, numerous Scripture passages were cited, which to an unprejudiced mind would seem conclusive evidence of the truth embodied in the Universalist faith. At the conclusion of the sermon the Choir rendered a beautiful Dedicatory Hymn, in a manner which reflected much credit upon them and their leader, Mr. S. A. James. At the conclusion of the services the visitors were invited to adjourn to Armory Hall and partake of the repast which was in waiting for them, which invitation was accepted.

Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell lectured to a full house in the evening, from the text Mark XIII:6; and most eloquently unfolded to the his hearers the necessity of a straight-forward course of action in all matters of life, if success was to be expected; particularly desiring his hearers of the Church and Society to bear in mind that a turning back to take up burdens that have been once cast aside, would surely prove a hinderance to its progress. S.

CAMP MEETING NOTES.—The Camp Meeting commenced at Epping on Monday evening, August 28. The weather was not very favorable for such a meeting till Thursday, and the most enthusiastic for such meetings lose their enthusiasm when it rains. Tuesday afternoon it was so wet no service could be held, save in the tents; Wednesday afternoon it poured. Some were reminded of one who in a dry time, in imitation of the prophet Elijah, prayed for rain and it came in great abundance. He prayed again, and said to Heaven, "Lord, I acknowledge I prayed for rain, but I did not mean to get drowned."

It was a terribly drenching rain, and it is not common to see so many persons drenched as were drenched by that rain. Umbrellas were but little protection; nearly all the cloth tents were soaked so that those in them got somewhat wet, and the tents on the northerly side of the slope the water ran through in brooks. One needed to see the people fleeing to the cottages on different parts of the grounds, starting for home in their drenched carriages, or making their way to the depot, to see distress of spirit and misery in aggravated form.

Thursday was pleasant and was the great day for attendance. Sermon in the forenoon by Rev. N. M. Bailey of Salisbury, Mass. It was good. The importance of a good character and life were well set forth. In the afternoon Rev. L. D. Barrows, D. D., preached. He has resided for some years at Sanborton Bridge, now Tilton, but preaches at Haverhill, Mass. He has been very prominent in the Temperance Party movement, but last Spring, as Rev. J. Pike, a Methodist brother, was nominated for Governor, "this altered the case" and he opposed a Temperance Party nomination and went in for Mr. Pike, although a little before Mr. Pike had opposed a Prohibitory Party in politics. TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS is the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $250. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to the fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts, viz:

ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - $100,000
ONE GRAND GIFT OF - - - - 50,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well known and competent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the Concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $468,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Parties desiring Tickets and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Root and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health or the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfsb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. R. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

NEW ENGLAND SECURITIES. FIRST MORTGAGE JOINT BONDS OF Three New England Railroads, Principle and Interest Payable in Gold, FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAX, Styled the VERMONT DIVISION OF THE PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quill, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

They sew a stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected for Sewing.

These celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the installment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,
ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,
By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by the use of these medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-asserting, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. The stomach, if the cause of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize with the stomach," they respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's robustest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts energetically, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now operative. Healthful blood, in abundant quantities, Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gulberings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the patient throws that occupied its remains of and inside new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent a cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet how often they are in the houses they must sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

The following is a conclusive evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all cases. Dr. Schenck's personal statement

"Many years ago I was taken for the disease of consumption: confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines needed are always accompanied with the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Or returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good food at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to obtain Patents for Inventors in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and Infringements attended to on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Invention, and all other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the validity of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in all but one case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

THE NOVELTY CLOTHES WRINGER.

Nothing, except the Sewing Machine, has ever been invented which so much relieves the labor of the household as the Wringer. But its usefulness does not end here. The saving of clothing is of much greater importance. It is often remarked that articles of fine texture, if twice as long when wrung in a Wringer as when wrung by hand. The NOVELTY has Cog-wheels on both ends. * * The oils are allowed to separate at either end. The cogs, besides other advantages which it contains, seem to be indispensable to a practical wringer.—New York Independent.

The Novelty Wringer has become an indisputable institution in thousands of families. And we believe it great and increasing popularity is all merited—for the Novelty evidently possesses all the requisites of a first-class, practical machine. Indeed, after using one for many months in our own family, we are prepared to indorse the Novelty as unsurpassed (the laundress says unequaled,) by any of the several wringers previously tried.—Mother's Rural New York.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1871.

COLUMBUS OUTDONE.—The Boston Advertiser of Sept. 1 contained an article from an occasional correspondent, signing himself "C.," who has made some discoveries throwing the petty ones of Columbus quite in the shade; for whereas the latter only found a continent which had been where he found it for many years, and which anybody else would have found had they gone where the continent was, C. has discovered things which do not exist at all. He writes in glorification of the "Algerines" of South Seabrook, (Byfield) and makes statements concerning them which will occasion astonishment nowhere more than in South Seabrook itself, to whose inhabitants C.'s discoveries concerning them and their surroundings will be news indeed. He says:—

The houses are a short distance apart, and perhaps two miles in extent, standing a good distance from the street, and having the appearance of attractive and convenient country residences. Around and in front of many of them are flower and vegetable gardens in a good state of cultivation, and showing much care and labor. The houses are neat and tidy, some quite small, others large, two-story houses, and well painted. The same number of neat and comfortable houses, I venture to say, could not be found in the State within the same distance, outside of the large towns, and none occupied by a better or more respectable class of people.

We "venture to say" that the correspondent's assertion which we have italicised is an atrocious slander on the people of the country towns in our State, and that it proves him to be either totally ignorant on a subject on which he assumes to be an oracle, or else a deliberate distorter of the truth. He continues:—

Here are two stores, two schoolhouses, one church, partly finished, with apparent accommodation for six or eight hundred people when it is finished. Much dissatisfaction exists with the present pastor, at whose instigation, it is charged, the scandalous stories against the character of the village were published to the world.

The last sentence of the preceding paragraph is neatly worded so as to reflect peculiarly upon the correspondent of every many newspaper articles on the South Seabrookers, lately. Why Mr. Rand should be the target for so much newspaper malice in this connection we cannot conceive, unless there is some personal or political motive behind it all; C.'s reiteration of the charge that Mr. Rand instigated the newspaper articles, in the face of direct assertions to the contrary from the men who wrote them, seems to contain more personal malice than his statement regading the character of the Byfielders does truth.

In C.'s list of the good things in South Seabrook he mentions two schoolhouses and one church; there may now be two schoolhouses there, but if so one of them is not a great while built and the other is "not fit for a second-class pig-pen," as the School Committee said in their last official report; and the church is virtually the work of Mr. Rand, whose exertions raised the money to build it, and who wrought with his own hands in preparing its foundations and in putting it up. The place never had either a church or a regular preacher until Mr. Rand provided both. One paper we wot of, whose editor probably never saw Byfield, in an authoritative article on the place and its people charged Mr. Rand with being often "indiscreet." The assertion was baseless, as all who know Mr. Rand will agree; we never heard of his doing but one "indiscreet" act, and that was went he took for his life's work the improvement of the shunned and neglected Algerines. That was in one sense an "indiscreet" act, as is the self-dedication to his work of any missionary to the heathen—the voluntary acceptance of a life of trials, of hard work and of very little pay.

We further quote the words of the gentleman who has discovered in South Seabrook a new Arcadia:—

A cornet band is supported which has paid $1000 for its instruments. Pianos and parlor organs are also found in many of the houses, and the boys and girls show a taste for music rarely found in remote country villages. I might add much more to the credit of these people and in reply to the malicious representations sent out to injure them.

The correspondent has said more already than will redound to his own "credit" for veracity among the people of Hampton and Rye, or among the Salisbury farmers who every Autumn house their fences lest they be appropriated as firewood by the people of Byfield, or among the people of Portsmouth, Newburyport or even Seabrook Village—for the latter know the whole tenor of his statements to be false, though they may not be pleased at the exposure of such a blot on their civilization as the moral condition of South Seabrook has been, and to a large extent is now. He says there is a cornet band, which is correct; but he says nothing of whose influence led to its foundation. He says "pianos and parlor organs are found in many of the houses," which is not so correct. The entire communication to the Advertiser is best described by its concluding sentence: "The statements published as facts and the coloring given to them are unlike untrue."

That South Seabrook has greatly improved, we are satisfied. Twenty years ago a large percentage of its people lived in hovels which it seemed incredable could be occupied by human beings for generation after generation; now there are many better houses, though hovels—too many of them by far—are yet to be found. Ten years ago all the newspapers in Christendom would have been powerless to arouse the feeling which the Newburyport Herald alone aroused a few months since in South Seabrook. And though the Herald asserts that some of the older residents still maintain that fornication and wood-stealing are all right, it says that a much higher standard of morality is being set up by the rising generation. The so-called Algerines have improved greatly, and those who deny it slander them grossly; but to assert that they are yet up to the average standard of our country villagers is untrue, and the assertion will be indignantly denied by the people of the neighboring towns. Our own opinion is that there is some political scheme at the bottom of the fulsome praise bestowed upon the people of South Seabrook and the bitter denunciations of the man who has done more than all others put together to elevate them—both praise and blame alike underserved—by writers who are severally blessed with more than one man's share of either ignorance or mendacity.

POLITICAL.

Mr. A. T. Denison, who was nominated as a candidate for senator by the democrats of Androscoggin Co., Me., publishes a card in the Lewiston Journal, declining the nomination for the sufficient reason that he is not a democrat, party can be relied upon to carry out sound principles. He remains, he says, now as heretofore, a republican.

THE COMMUNISTS on trial at the court martial in Versailles have been sentenced,—Favre and Lullier to suffer death; and imprisonment at hard labor, deportation and confinement in a fortress, simple deportation, and six months' imprisonment and a fine of five hundred francs are variously imposed upon twelve others.

THE MAN "in the gray suit, with a tall drab hat," who was so efficient in rescuing the passengers at the time of the disaster on the Eastern railroad, was Mr. M. M. Ballou.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to foist off for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

ON

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 286 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book for Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, FROM INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, OF EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Cass Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and where to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct261yr

RAILROAD AID.—Messrs. Editors:—Few men in this city or elsewhere have a just estimate of their own financial abilities. I have; found it out when I was a boy of 9 years. I had long coveted a certain jack-knife exposed for sale in a shop window on Daniel Street, price 75 cts. At last, by dint of rigid economy and total abstinence from candy, I found myself in possession of 85 cts.; and one bright morning I mistook the way to school, (I was a brilliant ornament of the Cabot Street school at the time,) wandered to Daniel Street, and invested 75 cts. in hardware. Before noon I had bored a hole through my best trousers and wellnigh my knee, in a futile attempt to transform a shingle into a schooner, and found out that the only thing I could cut with my new knife was the forefinger of my left hand. Strangely enough, I found myself just far enough around the corner from the Cabot Street school not to be seen from its windows when the pupils in that institution of learning were dismissed at noon, and went home with the rest all right, to dinner. I went to school in the afternoon, received permission to sit with a boy who had a distant desk from mine, "to study arithmetic," and before recess had sold my new knife to him for a piece of shoemaker's wax and a quarter of a dollar which he promised to owe me—a promise he has religiously kept, for he owes it to me now. Before school was dismissed I had reviewed my commercial transactions of the day, concluded that I was not cut out for a successful merchant, and that the best thing I could do with money, when I got any, was to have a good time on it. As soon as school was out I rushed to a store and laid out the 10 cts. I had left after purchasing the knife, in molasses candy.

As a consequence of following up the rule I laid down on the occasion above mentioned, I have never had any money worth mentioning; I have no money worth mentioning now, and I never shall have any money worth mentioning. Being thus unembarassed by present or prospective wealth, and fully conscious of my exact merit as a financier, I consider myself peculiarly fitted to discuss the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad question intelligently and without prejudice. If you have any doubts of my entire fitness for this task, I can easily convince you of it—I take both the Chronicle and the Gazette.

I have read the Railroad resolution, your report of the hearing on the question before the Board of Aldermen, and also "Franklin's" communication on the same subject. From the resolution and report I infer that the real effect of the resolution (if passed) would be to bind the City to pay 7 per cent. on its share of money enough to build the road, in case said road did not pay, and to let the Railroad Corporation have all the profits if it did pay—in other words, the City has all the risk and the Corporation all the profit. This seems to be one-sided. I think it would be good policy for the City to guaranty a smaller percentage than money is worth, say 3 1-2 or 4 per cent., on the sum required to build the road, if it can be built in no other way, as the Corporation would then have a much greater interest in the proper management of the road, and they as well as the City would suffer from its not paying. I fancy that this would divide the risk, and that if the City did have to pay the low interest for a term of years, the general result would still be in its favor, owing to the increase of business which would accrue.

"Franklin" makes a point of "the strong opposition manifested by prominent citizens of both political parties to the building of this road" by the plan proposed in the resolution; but I find by your report that equally prominent men of both political parties—Messrs. Chas. Robinson, Daniel Marcy, Frank Jones, William H. Hackett, J. S. H. Frink and John Sise—manifested an equally strong interest in its support; in addition to which, Mr. Mark Spinney so "spread himself" in the discussion as to support both sides of the question,—a very impartial proceeding.

One gentleman argued that the courts would decide that the city had no right to make the guaranty asked for. Well, then the City could not be made to fulfil its engagement, and it would be a real nice joke to get the Corporators to build the road, and then refuse to pay if the road did the same. It might not be honest, but there are able lawyers among the advocates of the road, and if they are satisfied of the soundness of the proposed security, I am.

Another opponent of the road wished to see free bridges and railroads to the beaches. So should I; but this might be done and the other not left undone. He also thought we should develope business first, and then build the railroad. The proposition to "develope business" without adequate facilities seems to be an extraordinary one; the sole object of the road, so far as the City is concerned, is to offer the facilities that will develope business. The natural facilities—a splendid harbor and a wide extent of settled country inland—we already have; but the artificial facilities are possessed by other cities more distant from the interior of our State, and hence they "develope business" while we as a city are asleep. Portsmouth was once a place of some trade; and had railroads been built from here to the interior at the time they were from other cities, it would still have had some commercial importance. But importers could send their goods from Boston all over the country by rail, while Portsmouth offered no better means of transportation than an old ox-cart; no wonder the city lost what business had been developed during the time the teamster held the position now filled by the locomotive engineer, — the ox-cart couldn't keep up with the locomotive.

One gentleman preferred a growth that is slow and sure; and he said "Portsmouth is growing, though slowly." The more slowly the better, if the growth is to be as the census says the growth of Portsmouth is, downhill,—for we are losing in population. The same gentleman's statement that every year brings more summer visitors seems to oppose the theory that the business should come first, the facilities for carrying it on afterwards; for the crowds of visitors never came till the hotels were built to accommodate them.

Now, Messrs. Editors, I have opposed the other side if I have not sustained my own—which is, that it will pay this City and Dover to take a full half the risk of building the proposed Railroad. You can do as you like with the few lines I have written—print them or burn them—I shall still remain Yours, FINANCIER.

THE LATEST PLAN proposed for securing the construction of the P. & D. R. R. is to put $22,000 out at compound interest for ninty-nine years, and then build the road with the amount. One of the opposers of the Railroad thinks there is a "Lyon" in the way. X.

BASE BALL.—The match at the Plains, Monday afternoon, was a fine one, the clubs being quite evenly matched and the play at the bat and in the field being especially brilliant. The Kearsarge nine won the game, scoring 38 runs to 21 for the Athletics. Mr. James H. Dow umpired the game squarely, keeping the pitchers well down to their business. Of the Athletics, Donnell played well behind the bat, catching being his forte, we conclude. Magill's twisters bothered the Kearsarges on the 7th and 8th innings so much that they added no runs to their score. Burnham distinguished himself at centre field in the 8th, by two beautiful fly catches. Hackett lifted a ball over centre field and made a well earned home run. On the part of the Kearsarge nine, Randall took a liner hot from the bat, at 3d base, making a handsome double play—as did Marden subsequently. Faulkner made a home run on a heavy strike. Of the flies caught, Randall was responsible for three, Cunningham, Marden and Casey one each. The game was one of the best ever played in this city, and we hope a larger audience may ere long witness a second one between these two nines.

A GRAND TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION of the Portsmouth Fire Department is to come off this (Tuesday) evening, and all the residents along the route who desire to add to the eclat of the occasion are requested to illuminate their dwellings. The procession will form on Court Street, right resting on Pleasant, and march through Pleasant to Water, through Water, State, Congress, Vaughan and Deer Streets to the Eastern depot, where Independent S. F. Engine Co. No. 2 of North Providence, R. I., are expected to arrive at 7 o'clock. Resuming the march, the procession will move through Deer, Bridge, Islington, Cabot, Middle, State, Pleasant, and Market Streets—the visitors dining at Parker's Dining Rooms on Ladd Street. It will be a brilliant affair, and we trust every citizen will do his utmost in aid of the festivities.

The Independents will quarter at the engine house of Dearborn S. F. E. Co., on Court Street.

THE MUSTER.

Col. William Beals is engaged in decorating the various public Squares. Market Square flies a banner on which is inscribed "Welcome Firemen." Citizens desiring the services of Col. Beals should notify him speedily, at his office, under the Kearsarge House.

The clam bake will come off Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Besides 300 bushels of clams, 50 bushels of sweet potatoes, 5000 ears of sweet corn and 1600 lobsters are to be "considered" by the visiting firemen.

The Committee of Arrangements desire contributions of flowers from citizens.

The Banks will close to-day, and on Wednesday and Thursday, at noon.

The collation to be served in the Court House yard is to be a huge affair —1800 men can be seated at once.

An extra train on the Concord Railroad will reach here at 9 o'clock, A. M., Wednesday.

It is next to impossible for the Portsmouth Fire Department to be at the depot on Wednesday to receive all the visiting companies, and on their arrival the visitors will be taken in charge by the Assistant Marshals and be conducted to the Court House yard and partake of the collation. At 11 o'clock, a bell signal will notify each division to form in procession.

The first division will form on Pleasant, right resting on Daniel Street. The procession will be headed by City Marshal F. B. Johnson and a platoon of police.

The first division will be commanded by Assistant Marshal Henry J. Morrill, and will consist of the Board of Engineers, visiting Engineers, ex-Engineers, the 3 steamers, 3 hand-engines, and the Hook and Ladder Co. of this city, His Honor the Mayor of Portsmouth, the City Government, His Excellency the Governor of N. H., and other invited guests.

The second division will be in charge of Assistant Marshal James A. Waterhouse, and will form on State, right resting on Pleasant street.

The third division, Charles N. Osgood Assistant Marshal, will form on the same street.

The fourth division, in charge of Assistant Marshal Edwin H. Leslie, will form on Court, right resting on Pleasant street.

The fifth division, under command of Assistant Marshal M. E. Long, will form on Daniel street, right resting on Market Square.

The sixth division, Asst. Marshal Jas. R. Morrison, will form on Congress St., right on the North Church.

The seventh division, in charge of Asst. Marshal Wm. H. Lovell, will form on Market Street, right resting on Market Square.

The procession will move through Congress and Middle Streets to Cass, countermarch thro' Middle to Islington, Bridge and Deer Streets, Railroad Avenue, Elm and North Streets, then countermarch on North Street to Elm, thro' Vaughan, Deer, Market, Congress, Islington, Cabot, State, Pleasant, Water and Gardner Streets, and thence to Peirce's Island.

The chief marshal will be designated by a purple ribbon, assistant marshals by red, the committee of arrangements by pink, and the secretaries by a blue ribbon. Members of the press will be furnished with white ribbons.

After the procession, the engines will be stored in a tent on Stone Church Street until the morning of Thursday.

Two companies of visiting firemen are to put up at the Franklin House. The ward-rooms and Court House will accommodate 300 firemen. The bands are to lodge at the engine houses.

We learn that Odd Fellows' Hall will be thrown open Wednesday and Thursday, for the accommodation of visiting brethren and the public.

A citizen suggests that the millponds be kept full of water Wednesday and Thursday—and a good suggestion it is, too.

THEATRE.—Miss Kate Fisher, supported by the New York Comedy Company, will this evening make her first appearance in our city since her return from Europe, where she has been playing a successful engagement of eight months, achieving a decided hit, and receiving from the press and public extended and favorable notice. She will appear in her great original character in the military drama entitled "The French Spy," introducing her educated horse Wonder; and will also appear in the Comedy of "Our Country Cousin." The Temple will probably be filled to its full capacity to-night.

SHERIFF ROWE has appointed the following additional Deputies:—Nathan B. Tilton, of East Kingston, Charles B. Clark, Kingston, Robert Pike, Epping, and Louis E. Marball, of East Northwood.

AT THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUS held at Armory Hall, Kittery, Saturday Evening, Warrington Paul, Esq., was nominated as a candidate for Representative to be supported by the Republican party in Kittery at the polls on Monday next. The following gentlemen were chosen Town Committee for the year ensuing; John Wentworth, C. L. Hayes, Warrington Paul, Saml. A. James, M. V. B. Stimson, D. M. Shapleigh and M. A. Safford.

THE TIMELY WARNING given in our advertising columns by City Marshal Johnson should be heeded by our citizens. Notwithstanding the fact that ninety-nine of every hundred visitors among us this week will be peaceable and orderly, it must be remembered that one percentum of "scallawags" will be on hand, ready to plunder. Our police authorities will be on the alert and so must every citizen.

AMONG THE SIGNERS of the invitation to Gen. Butler to speak at Clinton, Mass., was Rev. I. F. Waterhouse, formerly of this city, and G. T. Bigelow, the great carpet manufacturer.

NILSSON declares that the most beautiful woman she met in America was a young lady of Portsmouth. Just our experience, exactly.

NEW FIRM!
INSURANCE BUSINESS

The Subscribers having purchased the "Business and Goodwill," of

The Old and Well Established Insurance Company of JOHN S. HARVEY, have this day formed a co-partnership, under the firm name of

MORSE & ILSLEY,

for the purpose of carrying on the Insurance Business in all its branches. They trust, by industry, integrity and good judgment, to merit the approbation of all the old patrons of the office, and to receive a good share of new business.

MR. HARVEY will still take a lively interest in the Companies for which he has so long and faithfully worked, and he is authorized to receive applications for Insurance in said Companies as our Agent.

JOSEPH P. MORSE, WINGATE N. ILSLEY.
Portsmouth, May 1, 1871.

A CARD.

HAVING disposed of my Insurance Business to JOSEPH P. MORSE and WINGATE N. ILSLEY, two gentlemen well known for their integrity and business capacity, I return my thanks to my old and constant patrons and friends, for their many favors, and earnestly recommend my successors, trusting the same generous patronage will be extended to them as to myself. They represent some of the oldest and most reliable Companies in both Fire and Life Insurance in the Country.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.
Look at the host, he once was scant,
His BEER has made of flesh no want,
Go thou and drink likewise.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

On the 18th ult., in Dummer, Mrs. Mary Wheeler fell down stairs, receiving such injuries that she died two days after.

A raid was lately made on all the liquor establishments of Ossipee, resulting in the cleaning out of all except one, whose owner lowered his stock into a well.

Sandown has subscribed $40,000 to the stock of the Nashua and Rochester Railroad.

The net proceeds of the annual festival at Rye of the Episcopal Society of Exeter, are reported to have exceeded the sum of $500.

It gives us pleasure to state that A. P. Blake, Esq., proprietor of the Squamscott House, Exeter, who has been confined to his bed by sickness, the past week, is gaining strength and is in a fair way of recovery.

There must be a beastly element in the population of the very respectable town of Londonderry, or it would not have been possible to tar and feather two women there, mother and daughter. It is no excuse for the cowardly ruffians that the women are not reputable. Either they were guilty of crime, those women, or they were not guilty of it. If they were guilty, they could have been punished legally; if they were not guilty, they should not have been punished in any way.—Boston Traveller.

Charles Witham of Nottingham and George W. Smart of Fremont have been arrested and committed to Exeter jail on charge of entering the house of Sally W. Rand of Raymond, and stealing clothes, &c., therefrom. Witham is said to be a notorious rascal and a deserter from the navy.

On the 28th ult., in Mont Vernon, Mr. John H. Bennett went to his barn and was absent so long that his wife went out and found him dead near a cow he had started to milk. Soon after the wife of Dea. John Bruce went to a tub of water, in preparing to wash. Her husband heard a groan, and turned round to see her fall in death. Apoplexy is supposed to have been the cause in both cases. Mr. Bennett was aged fifty-eight and Mrs. Bruce seventy-five.

Hon. J. H. Ela is rapidly convalescing.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS is the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

is its duplicate. Letters attesting its wonderful Tonic Aperient and Anti-Bilious qualities swarm in from every source. The question has been settled whether artificially medicated waters may not be equal to the which burst sparkling from the earth itself. They can; and the Seltzer Aperient, when undoubtedly pure and genuine, proves the fact.

AT LOUISVILLE, KY.,

On Tuesday, Oct. 31st, 1871,

Under the direction of the best Musical Talent.

100,000

Tickets of Admission, $10 Each, Currency; Half Tickets $5, Quarter Tickets $2.50.

Each Ticket will consist of four quarters, value, $2.50. The holder is entitled to admission to the Concert and to the amount of gift awarded to it or its fraction. Tickets number from 1 to 100,000.

THE CITIZENS' BANK OF KENTUCKY IS TREASURER.

All Moneys arising from the sale of Tickets will be deposited with the Citizens' Bank, subject only to the order of the President and Treasurer of the Library, countersigned by the Business Manager.

During the Concert, the sum of

$550,000 IN GREENBACKS

Will be distributed by lot to the holders of tickets in the following Gifts viz:

One GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	$100,000
One GRAND GIFT OF - - - -	50,000

721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of Incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known business citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to superintend the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or express, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders, from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary the Gifts not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what number draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift of any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn in one day.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 8 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will be put printed lists sent them. Parties forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25 000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. lyrdawfeb16

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the States to the Atlantic.

The road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widely-known business men in the country, who will insure upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent. gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and for durability unrivalled.

They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the finest muslin, in fact they will do every useful work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

The Styles of these celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the instalment principle, as best suits convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newcastle, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to them and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they timely adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faithful he has proved his medicines, that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-evidencing, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. The patient, if in the first stage of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating point and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-purifying, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a giant, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts manfully. The system and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing with marvellous rapidity. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is soon to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach, an appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indigent father to a suffering mankind. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the early sufferings it prepares them for expectoration, and in 1 in a very short time the malady is vanquished. The rotten tissue that it compels is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm, room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and ridingout, especially in this season of the country, is good, but in winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course have killed their patients. Our lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as well as if they were as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure of any disease, of any curability in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Public of his own case was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought I could never survive a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as the lungs to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "when looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only thirty-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He is his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North. He is also in Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and the cure will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses. The three medicines need no other accompaniments than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the desire for it once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in use of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. The Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs, No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Extensions, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

JURUBEBA

IT IS NOT A PHYSIC—It is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such. IT IS A SOUTH AMERICAN plant that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy as a POWERFUL ALTERATIVE and UNEQUALLED PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the

THE NOVELTY CLOTHES WRINGER.

Nothing, except the Sewing Machine, has ever been invented which so much relieves the labor of the household as the Wringer. But its usefulness does not end here. The saving of clothing is of much greater importance. It is often remarked that articles of fine texture, last twice as long when wrung in a Wringer as when wrung by hand. The NOVELTY has Cog-wheels on both ends. * * The rolls are allowed to separate at either end. These, besides other advantages which it contains, seem to be indispensable to a practical wringer.—New York Independent.

The Novelty Wringer has become an indispensable institution in thousands of families. And we believe its great and increasing popularity is fully merited—for the Novelty evidently possesses all the requisites of a first-class, practical machine. Indeed, after using one for many months in our own family, we are prepared to indorse the Novelty as unsurpassed (the laundress says unequaled,) by any of the several wringers previously tried.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

PSYCHOMANCY is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, over the body, and is of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by HERBERT HAMILTON, B. D., giving full instruction in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Mediums, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of Omens and Dreams, Brigham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchant, Lawyer, Physician, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. Price by mail, in cloth, $1.25; paper covers, $1; for sale by J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO., and CLAXTON, REMSEN & CO., Phila. Agents wanted for this book, Medical Works, Pertinatory, Jewelry, &c. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1871.

THE REVERE DISASTER.—The Inquest was resumed on Monday afternoon, and the engineer of the Pullman train recalled. He repeated his statement that he was only told to look out for the Saugus Branch train. He does not think he ran faster than 20 miles an hour between Boston and Revere, and thinks tail lights of cars should have reflectors the same as locomotives. Henry L. Williams, a director, testified that Mr. Prescott had urged frequently the necessity of more rolling stock, and that all the cars have been bought that could be procured. In the last eighteen months, twenty-six passenger cars have been added to the rolling stock, and five Pullman cars. A double track on the Saugus Branch was desired, but the law at present prevents. The Eastern road runs 66 trains per day, and on the day of the accident there were 191. The facilities of the Eastern road are equal to the Boston and Maine. The road intends to apply the telegraph system immediately.

John Thompson, master-machinist on the Eastern Road, testified that the cause of the steam escaping after the collision was the breaking of steam pipes and the safety valve. The damage to the locomotive was $3000, to the whole train $25,000. Thinks the train was running 15 miles an hour when it struck. Engineer Brown's character is excellent. Regards the Westinghaus brake as a vast improvement on the old hand brake; if it had been used, thinks the collision would have been avoided.

Andrew Better, station master at Revere, thought the train was moving 15 miles an hour when it struck.

THE TAMMANY SCANDAL.—There was a large and earnest meeting in New York Monday evening, held in relation to the great and numerous frauds with which the government of that city is charged. Addresses were made and resolutions were adopted calling for a thorough investigation, and a committee was appointed to put into practical effect the spirit of the meeting and to institute legal measures for the recovery of the money wrongfully taken from the city treasury.

The executive committee of the German National Association has issued a circular calling the members of the organization and Germans generally to attend a mass meeting in the Cooper Institute, in reference to the condition of the city financial affairs, and corruption in the city government.

At a meeting of Irish democrats in New York on Sunday, resolutions were adopted calling on Connolly, the Comptroller, to resign.

SUICIDE OF ONE OF BARNUM'S CLOWNS.—On Friday afternoon, about four o'clock, the body of Charles Parker, connected with Barnum's circus in the capacity of clown and ballad singer, was found in a small piece of wood about one mile from Schenectady, N. Y., with his throat cut from ear to ear. In his hand a knife was clasped, which showed that his death was the result of self-destruction. The body was in an advanced state of decomposition, and it is supposed the suicide took place a week before, when the circus exhibited in Schenectady. Intemperance is supposed to have been the cause.

IF ANY ONE wants a perfect illustration of what is commonly called contrariness, we would refer them to a paradoxical feminine known as Gail Hamilton, who battled with her pen for what is called "women's rights" until the cause had attained a measure of popularity, and then turned round and fought as vigorously on the other side, the being at present engaged in writing up the faults of women.

THERE was a Fenian release demonstration in Dublin, on Sunday night, which culminated in a serious riot, in which a large number of officers were severely injured. Twenty-seven of the mob were arrested.

A HURRICANE in the Bahamas, Aug. 22, wrecked five vessels; and twelve vessels were wrecked at Hong Kong on Sunday, by a typhoon.

GIVES IT UP.—The Boston Herald, one of whose editors has had a recent opportunity to get correct information of the political situation in this State from the newspaper men at Concord, closes an article on "New Hampshire politics" in these words:

The general impression of good judges in both parties is that the Republicans, aided by national patronage, will recover the State, and once more hurl the Democrats into outer darkness; but it is impossible to foretell what event will yet influence that question."

THE ROAR OF CANNONS!

Across the Atlantic affects not Uncle Samuel. He attends to his toilet as usual. Spring a few gray hairs on his venerable caput, what does he do? He resorts at once to the only article of its kind in the wide world, which is at the same time SAFE and PERFECT, in other words, to

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

guaranteed harmless by Professor CHILTON and other distinguished chemists, and the most popular dye in America, because it imparts the most natural shades of color with the greatest certainty and in the shortest space of time. This famous article has

SPIKED THE GUNS

of all its would-be rivals, and is now master of the situation. As a dressing after dyeing, use

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST!

THE NEW "DOMESTIC" is the only perfect Sewing Machine ever invented. Simple, durable, convenient, light running, noiseless, and handsome. Call and examine, ask a friend, familiar with other kinds, to come with you and test this machine thoroughly on all kinds of goods; using all sorts of thread without change of tension. You can learn to stitch well in half an hour, and have no sort of trouble with it afterwards. If you buy any other kind you will want to exchange for the "Domestic" as soon as you see one at your neighbors; but I will pay to every person that will exchange a Domestic Sewing Machine for any other kind.

N. B. The new Lock Stitch Button Hole attachment, fitted for every Domestic Sewing Machine, will be ready as soon as possible. It will be simple, durable and cheap. I want a few Agents in New Hampshire and Maine.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Causes and Cure of EXHAUSTED VITALITY, PREMATURE DECLINE IN MAN, NERVOUS AND PHYSICAL DEBILITY, HYPOCHONDRIA, and all other diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, OR THE INDISCRETIONS OR EXCESSES of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 285 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book For Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY, from INFANCY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 400 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $2.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and unable to meet a great portion of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or sent FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the MARRIED OR SINGLE, of EITHER SEX, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced to which no allusion even can be found in any other work in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of instruction on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct281yr

It is next to impossible for the Portsmouth Fire Department to be at the railroad stations to-day to receive all the visiting companies, and on their arrival the visitors will be taken in charge by the Assistant Marshals and be conducted to the Court House yard and partake of the collation. At 12 o'clock, a bell signal will notify each division to form in procession.

The various divisions of the procession, seven in number, each under direction of an Assistant Marshal and Aids, will be formed as follows under the general supervision of Chief Marshal Stephen L. Marston:—

The first division will form on Pleasant, right resting on Daniel Street. The procession will be headed by City Marshal F. B. Johnson and a platoon of police.

The first division will be commanded by Assistant Marshal J. Henry Morrill, and will consist of the Board of Engineers, visiting Engineers, ex-Engineers, the 3 steamers, 3 hand-engines, and the Hook and Ladder Co. of this city, His Honor the Mayor of Portsmouth, the City Government, His Excellency the Governor of N. H., and other invited guests.

The second division will be in charge of Assistant Marshal James A. Waterhouse, and will form on State, right resting on Pleasant street.

The third division, Charles N. Osgood Assistant Marshal, will form on the same street.

The fourth division, in charge of Assistant Marshal Edwin H. Leslie, will form on Court, right resting on Pleasant street.

The fifth division, under command of Assistant Marshal M. E. Long, will form on Daniel street, right resting on Market Square.

The sixth division, Asst. Marshal Jas. R. Morrison, will form on Congress St., right on the North Church.

The seventh division, in charge of Asst. Marshal Wm. H. Lovell, will form on Market Street, right resting on Market Square.

The chief marshal will be designated by a purple ribbon, assistant marshals by red, the committee of arrangements by pink, and the secretaries by a blue ribbon. Members of the press will be furnished with white ribbons.

The procession will move at 1 o'clock precisely, the following being the

Wm. Penn Hose, Salem, Mass.

The procession will move through Congress and Middle Streets to Cass, countermarch thro' Middle to Islington, Bridge and Deer Streets, Railroad Avenue, Elm and North Streets, then countermarch on North Street to Elm, thro' Vaughan, Deer, Market, Congress, Islington, Cabot, State, Pleasant, Water and Gardner Streets, and thence to Peirce's Island.

Immediately on arriving at the Island the Foreman of each Company or some representative, will report at the Headquarters tent to draw their numbers for places at the trial. There will be no formation of division on the second day, but the Engine Companies will form at 8.30 A. M., on Middle street, right resting on Union, in the order in which their numbers are drawn.

After the procession, the hand engines will be stored in a tent on Stone Church Street until the morning of Thursday.

At 8.30 A. M., Thursday, the competing engines will form in procession on Middle Street and proceed to Wibird Street, where the competition will take place for the possession of the following

PRIZES.

One Prize of $100, for the best horizontal play with a steam pressure not exceeding one hundred pounds, for first-class steamers.

One Prize of $150, for the best horizontal play with a steam pressure not exceeding one hundred pounds, for second-class steamers.

One Prize of $100, for the second best horizontal play with a steam pressure not to exceed one hundred pounds, for second-class steamers.

One Prize of $100, for the best horizontal play of hand engines, without reference to size of cylinder.

One Prize of $50, for the second-best play of hand engines without reference to size of cylinder.

Each engine will be allowed ten minutes to make necessary preparations.

The companies comprising the Portsmouth Fire Department will not contend for the prizes.

PLAYING RULES.

Each engine to draft its own water and play through 200 feet of leading hose, and through such pipe and nozzle as they may select.

Five minutes will be allowed each company after setting their engine, and their best stream within that time shall be measured by the judges.

Two minutes will be allowed each company to replace each length of bursted hose.

Each company may choose a judge to assist at its trial only.

Officers of companies must see that their engines are all ready when their number is called by the judges.

Hose will be furnished for the trial, free to all.

No person will be allowed inside the lines at the trial, except those officers conducting it.

Decision of the Judges will not be made public until the close of the trial, when Prizes will be awarded.

The grand Band Concert comes off Thursday morning, at 8 o'clock, A. M., when 500 musicians under direction of Mr. Harlow, leader of the Marine Band, will perform the following programme:

1, Quickstep—Prince Fredrick Carl: Bilse. [This composition is better known as the "Peace Jubilee Quickstep," from its having been performed at that great musical festival.]

2, Freedom's Perfect Land; M. Keller. [This is considered to be Keller's finest production, and is adjudged by leading musicians to be worthy of adoption as the American National Air, a movement to effect that end being now on foot.]

3, N. C. O. Quickstep: Wm. Rietzel.

4, Hail Columbia.

Some idea may be gained of the magnitude of the band which is to perform, from the fact that there will be about 25 base drums and 60 snare drums, with other instruments in proportion. The concert will take place in the lot fronting the South Millpond, near the Universalist Church, as first proposed; and the best possible position that can be taken to hear it, is on the slope of the hill on the South side of the pond. An immense concourse of people can find standing accommodations there, and hear to much better advantage than if nearer the musicians. All the music will be heard there, but any slight discord would be drowned in the flood of harmony before going so far.

Among the decorations about the city, we notice those made on Market Square by J. H. Hutchinson and J. H. Thacher, on Market Street by Jos. H. Foster, Hartley W. Mason, John S. Rand, George Hill, Alfred Stavers, Chas. H. Mendum & Co., on Ladd by Chas. Parker, on Islington by Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Mrs. Halliburton, the proprietors of the Kearsarge and Franklin Houses, Terbune & Berry, Martin Hoyt, at Congress Block, on State by Thayer & Guppy, and at the engine houses on Elm, Court and State Sts.

Mr. Charles Parker has made arrangements to feed about 230 people at a sitting, at his Dining Rooms on Ladd Street, having enlarged his establishment by taking in the adjoining store and chambers and securing the use of Good Templars' Hall. These Rooms will be the general headquarters outside the hotels, to-day, for feeding the multitude, Mr. Parker's accommodations being the most extensive yet made. On Thursday, Col. Wm. S. Hadley will cater to the public at the capacious tent in the Court House yard. Booth s of all sizes are being put up near Market Square, and pedlers of nostrums have already put in an appearance—as have many of the worst classes of bipeds.

Communicated.

THE RAILROAD AID.—Mr. Jenness seems to discover that some of his statements made at the Railroad discussion, need modifying. The statement so repeatedly made that every dollar that the City of Portland had invested in Railroads had been lost, he adheres to. We heard this with surprise, and at the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Hackett asked Mr. J. if he might ask him a question, to which he assented. Mr. Hackett then inquired, "Do you mean to be understood as saying that all the money loaned by the City to Railroads in Portland has been lost?" "Yes," was the emphatic reply, "Every dollar, every dollar!" Mr. Hackett then read a letter from the Portland City Clerk, addressed to a merchant in this City, which stated among other things that two millions had been loaned to the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railroad, of which all but $787,000 had been repaid; and taking up Mr. Jenness' "official document" of that City, pointed out the figures where in the list of the City liabilities, it appears that of this loan there was remaining unpaid but 786,000. There is no doubt that Mr. Jenness has overlooked in the perusal of his document, this fact relative to the loan to the Grand Trunk, and his assertion is as wide of the mark, as was the insinuation that Mr. J. B. Brown was induced to favor a loan to the P. & O. R. R. because he could sell the corporation land for a depot at a large price from the fact. Mr. J. said he only gave it as a rumor; but was it fair and proper to repeat a scandal of that sort with the qualification that "perhaps it was not so, he didn't know?" Let us have facts if we are to discuss the question.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.—From the financial article of the Boston Herald we clip the following:—

"The lamentable disaster on the Eastern Railroad which has filled every heart with sadness the past week, has a financial bearing of interest to the large number of its stockholders who are in a measure dependent on their dividends. It is roughly estimated that the loss to the corporation will be from $300,000 to $500,000 by the accident, the law putting a penalty of $5000 for each person killed, and many of the wounded would recover a much larger sum before the jury, besides $50,000 to $75,000 damage to rolling stock. We find that the capital of the Eastern Railroad is $4,262,600; Eastern Railroad in N. H., $492,500; Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway R. R., $770,000; total, $5,525,100. On this a dividend of 4 per cent is $221,-004; so that two dividends would be required to make up the deficiency, and we do not see in what other way it can be done, as the road has no "surplus fund" and cannot issue new stock for such a purpose without a special act of the Legislature. The latter two-named companies are only to receive the same dividends as shall be paid to the shareholders of the Eastern."

JOHN PEARSON, JR., has been at it again—sending the results of his cooking about town,—and remembered his old friends. His Newburyport Cream and Spice Biscuit finds a ready market in Portsmouth, and may be had at nearly all the groceries.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—We learn that Boatswain John W. Simmons has been ordered to duty in the Bureau of Yards and Docks.

Orders were issued at the several musters at the Navy Yard on Tuesday noon, suspending work at this Station during the two days of the Firemen's Muster, Sept. 6 and 7.

Hon. George M. Robeson, Secretary of the Navy, and Isaiah Hanscom, Esq., Chief of Bureau of Construction and Repairs, will arrive in this city on Saturday afternoon and proceed at once to the Navy Yard, where they will be received with the customary salute.

THE PORTSMOUTH FIRE DEPARTMENT turned out with full ranks, Tuesday evening, to receive the Independent Company No. 2 of North Providence, R. I. The Cornet Band furnished the music. There was an immense crowd of spectators, over whose delighted countenances the torch lights gleamed brightly. The Independents are a fine looking body of men, and received a royal welcome.

STEAMER STANFORD, Capt. J. K. Pearce, is to run between this city and the Shoals to-day and Thursday, leaving Rollin's Wharf at 11 A. M., returning at 4 P. M. Fare 50 cts. each way. She will make also a moonlight excursion each evening, leaving the wharf at 7 o'clock. Fare 50 cts., for the trip. She can carry 2000 people, and a band of music is engaged.

SKIFF & GAYLORD'S MINSTRELS will appear at the Temple this and to-morrow evenings, and of course the house will be crowded on both occasions. They gave a nice entertainment here a short time ago, which was pronounced by our citizens the best of the kind for many months. Their programme is new and the performances are unexceptable.

PERSONAL.—Rev. D. W. Murphy of Keene, formerly of St. Mary's Church in this city, is on a brief visit to his former parishioners, who regretted the change which necessitated his removal to another sphere of duty.

HOTELS.

MARSHALL HOUSE,
YORK BEACH. This new and commodious SUMMER HOTEL is situated in one of the most beautiful localities on the coast, at the mouth of York River; the facilities for Bathing, on sandy beaches, in surf or still water,—for Fishing, or for Boating on a beautiful river, are unrivaled; the sea view (taking in Boon Island and the Islands) is unsurpassed, and the river and inland scenery not equaled by that surrounding any other hotel along the whole coast. With a good table, moderate charges, and strict attention and courtesy to all, we intend to merit and hope to receive a fair share of public patronage. The hotel will be open to the public, June 20th. N. G. MARSHALL & SONS, Proprietors.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

The Cheshire Republican says the hornpouts of Goose Pond, the source of Keene's water supply, have been dying by the bushel and have been removed and buried by the Water Board. The dead fish are observed to be almost always minus a tail, and some with more or less of the body missing, with the spinal bones protruding. In a few cases the side of the fish shows a piece missing and appears to have been the point attacked by the disease. A general squeamishness as to drinking the water has been felt, but the recent rains have diminished the difficulty.

The new shoe factory in Keene is nearly completed, and when fully occupied will give employment to about 200 persons. The capital stock is $50,000, and was subscribed by the liberal citizens of Keene.

The pleasure travel to the lakes and mountains over the Montreal road is now much heavier for the time of year than has ever before been known on that route.

Concord is considering a project for introducing water from Long Pond, at a cost of $175,000.

Wolfeborough has an apple tree which has committed the absurdity of showing blossoms by the side of matured fruit. Mr. Levi Horn owns it.

An Exeter man has a cat that eats, and steals to eat, cucumbers, potatoes and beans on the vines and in the hills.

On the 28th ult., between Berlin Falls and Gorham, Deputy State Constable Chauncy C. Dean of Massachusetts was riding out with his wife, when a bolt gave away and the horses ran with the wheels, the body of the carriage going over a rocky bank thirty feet high and being badly broken. Mr. D. had his right hand sprained and the lady her left elbow dislocated and dangerous hurts inflicted on an eye.

Mr. Meserve of Rochester has opened the cooning season by shooting a twenty-five pounder in Farmington.

A deer's horn, heavy as stone, has been found in a Dublin rye field, having been there close upon a century.

The Dover Unitarians are to spend $1000 in frescoing their church.

At South Sunapee, a few days since, as Mr. Asahel Lear and Mr. C. A. Maxfield were going to their work they observed a cloud of singular-looking insects in the air. Their wings came off, and they fell to the ground in such numbers as to completely cover it. Soon as they fell they began to dig holes in the ground and disappear. Their wings looked like scales, and blew like dust before the wind. The insect resembled the ant in some respects. Its body was divided into three parts, its head, its corslet, which was very small, and its abdomen, which was as broad as long, and larger than the ant. They possessed great strength, digging into the hard earth and removing pebbles several times their size with astonishing rapidity. Their bite was poisonous.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

The KING of MINERAL SPRINGS is the German Seltzer; and

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

is its duplicate. Letters attesting its wonderful Tonic Aperient and Anti-Bilious qualities swarm in from every source. The question has been settled whether artificially medicated waters may not be equal to those which burst sparkling from the earth itself. They can; and the Seltzer Aperient, when undoubtedly pure and genuine, proves the fact.

Forty-five Gifts of $300 each	13,500
Fifty Gifts of $200 each	10,000
440 Gifts of $100 each	44,000
721 Prizes in all	$550,000

After paying the expenses of the enterprise and making the distribution of the Gifts, the balance of the proceeds arising from the sale of tickets will be appropriated to the establishment of a

FREE LIBRARY IN LOUISVILLE, TO BE CALLED THE

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF KENTUCKY.

The Concert and Distribution will take place under the immediate supervision of the Trustees named in the act of incorporation.

The trustees will be assisted by prominent, well-known and eminent citizens of Kentucky, who have consented to be present at the concert and to witness the drawing and distribution of gifts.

The holders of tickets to which gifts are awarded will be paid on presentation of them or their fraction, at the office in Louisville, the second day after drawing, and every business day for six months thereafter, and may be sent direct or through any Bank or Express Co., for collection. All orders accompanied by Drafts, Post Office Money Orders, or Greenbacks, will be promptly attended to and tickets returned by mail, registered or expressed, as desired.

Tickets are like Greenbacks—good only to the holder.

Buyers will note that there are only One Hundred Thousand Tickets, instead of Two Hundred Thousand, as in the San Francisco Gift Concert, and that there is $50,000 more distributed. I sold that and made the awards in four months and paid $488,000 to ticket holders from November 2nd to 15th, 1870, and turned over $12,000 to the Secretary due tickets not presented.

It will be particularly noticed that it is a matter of impossibility for any one to know what numbers draw gifts, as it is not known what the gift or any number drawn from the first wheel will be, until the sealed box, with amount of the gift plainly printed, is taken from the other wheel and opened in full view of the audience. Therefore the larger gifts may not come out until towards last, or in the middle of the drawing. The $100,000 gift in the San Francisco Gift Concert under the management of C. R. PETERS, was the 200th number drawn, and was awarded and paid to a gentleman in New Orleans. 721 Gifts is all that can be drawn at this Concert.

☞ The Number and Gifts are drawn by blind children from 5 to 14 years of age.

The Drawing will be extensively published, and parties ordering Tickets will have printed lists sent them. Agents forming Clubs and desiring information will please address this office.

11 Tickets for $100; 28 Tickets, $255; 56 Tickets, $500; 113 Tickets, $1000.

The undersigned, late principal business manager of the very successful Mercantile Library Gift Concert at San Francisco, California, has been appointed agent and manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The drawing will take place in public, and everything will be done to satisfy buyers of tickets that their interests will be as well protected as if they personally superintended the entire affair.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

There will be two glass wheels. One wheel will contain 100,000 numbers, plainly printed on leather tags. The other wheel will contain 721 boxes, each containing a gift. One tag or number will be drawn from the 100,000 wheel, and the first box drawn from the second or 721 box wheel will contain a gift, neatly printed and sealed up, and the gift so drawn from the second wheel will be the gift of the tag first drawn, whether $100, $1000, or $100,000.

14,364 Tickets Disposed of in July.

To insure ticket holders, the public are assured that if only 25,000 tickets are sold only 25,000 numbers go in the large wheel, the 721 gifts awarded, but diminished pro rata. In case 50,000 tickets only are sold, only numbers 1 to 50,000 go in the large wheel, and the 721 gifts diminished one-half; and in case only 85,000 tickets are sold the entire 721 gifts will be paid in full—it being intended that no unsold tickets shall participate.

The Manager has already paid into the Citizen's Bank $50,000 towards defraying the expenses, and does not depend on sales of tickets to pay his expenses of Printing, Advertising, &c. The public are invited to the utmost scrutiny as to the reliability of the entire affair.

Persons desirous of acting as agents for the sale of tickets in any city in United States or Canadas, address

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, passessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdawfeb15

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have had them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at very low wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the STRICT ADHERENCE TO ORDERS.—Old Captain Tartar, who was in command of the Betsy, many years ago in the Pacific, was a most uncomfortable man, who governed his subordinates on the knock-down-and-drag-out system. He was even more hated by his officers than by Jack in the forecastle.

One day he and his second mate had been at high words, and after the storm had blown over, the "old man" was going below, as was his regular custom, for an afternoon nap.

"Brown!" he called an officer, purposely dropping the handle to his name to humiliate and exasperate him. "Do you know how to kill a hog?"

"Yes, sir, I suppose I can manage to muckle one."

"Well, kill that hog!" pointing out a particular one in the herd.

And down went the captain to his siesta.

Mr. Brown called a couple of hands forward and ordered them to catch the porker and drag him along to the cook's chopping block.

"Carpenter!" said he. Bring me your broad-axe."

With two blows the pig was decapitated, and the head and body thrown down separately in the scuppers. "Old man didn't say anything about dressing the pork," growled Mr. Brown, as he went aft again.

Some two hours later Captain T. made his appearance. He looked to see the pork hanging by the gambril, neatly cleaned, but couldn't see it.

"Brown, did you kill that hog?"

"Yes, sir. There he is."

The captain looked, and turned upon Mr. Brown, livid with wrath.

"What do you mean by such work as that?"

"I obeyed orders, sir. You asked me if I could kill a hog. I told you I thought I could. It he isn't dead yet I'll try him another pull!"

—What is a syndicate? This is the conundrum now going the rounds of the newspaper press throughout the country. A New York journal replies: "Why, a syndicate seems to be something like a feller that calls for a single room in a hotel—it puts up a loan."

—A conceited young parson once said: "This morning I preached to a congregation of asses!" "I thought of that," retorted a lady, "when you called them your beloved brethren!"

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Exhausted Vitality, Premature Decline in Man, Nervous and Physical Debility, Hypochondria, and all other diseases arising from the Errors of Youth, or the Indiscretions or Excesses of mature years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 235 pages, bound in cloth.

A Book for Every Woman,

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN; AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN TREATED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY AND PATHOLOGICALLY from INSANOY TO OLD AGE, with elegant ILLUSTRATIVE ENGRAVINGS. 350 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $3.00.

A Book for Everybody.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and timely treatises, and also to meet a great need of the present age, the author has just published a new book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. cloth. Price $1, or SENT FREE on receipt of $3 for the other two books, postpage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published There is nothing whatever that the Married or Single, of Either Sex, can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained, and many of the most important and most interesting character are introduced to which no allusion can be found in any other works in our language. All the NEW DISCOVERIES of the author, whose experience is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any man, are given in full. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of information on vital matters, concerning which lamentable ignorance exists. The important subjects presented are treated with delicacy, ability and care, and, as an appendix, many useful prescriptions for prevailing complaints are added."—Coos Republican, Lancaster, N. H.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of our race for these invaluable productions. It seems to be his aim to induce men and women to avoid the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how and when to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, Maine, Sept. 7, 1869.

Either book sent by mail on receipt of price.

N. B. The Author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to mere business details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or to Dr. W. H. PARKER, the Medical Assistant of the Author, and his Business Agent, who, as well as the Author himself, may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill, secrecy and experience. oct26lyr

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Sarnioga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widly-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent., gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputable preventives of disease. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines, can be strengthened for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The history of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-acting, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the great two wagons on which the invalid in need of the elixir of life is assisted. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the mesenteric tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the curious result, and, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllinus Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Digestion is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the critical period. Nature—ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man, Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs in the form of gatherings. It prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and nourishment, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course have killed more of their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they think they are not, although their must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure is next to certain death; hopefulness is the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is half the battle. The following statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system, and loosen and ripen the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and I soon found I became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I now gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery, "added the Doctor, "then weighing like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed perfect robust health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the liver sometimes need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions to accompany them. They create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the diet be plain and simple. Once more good blood at once follows, the cough lessens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are cured.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a specific bacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup, $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Also, Reissues, Extensions, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to ascertain the patentability of new Patents of invention, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of patents furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved the inventor.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. E. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART, Boston, Feb. 1 1871.—1 yr

JURUBEBA

IT IS NOT A PHYSIC—It is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such. IT IS A SOUTH AMERICAN plant that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy as a POWERFUL ALTERATIVE and UNEQUALLED PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the

LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, SLUGGISH CIRCULATION OF THE BLOOD, ABSCESSES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

is offered to the public as a great invigorator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system; it gives health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 4ws5

JURUBEBA

THE NOVELTY CLOTHES WRINGER.

Nothing, except the Sewing Machine, has ever been invented which so much relieves the labor of the household as the Wringer. But its usefulness does not end here. The saving of clothing is of much greater importance. It is often remarked that articles of fine texture, last twice as long when wrung in a Wringer as when wrung by hand. The NOVELTY has Cog-wheels on both ends. The rolls are allowed to separate at either end. These, besides other advantages which it contains, seem to be indispensable to a practical wringer.—New York Independent.

The Novelty Wringer has become an indispensable institution in thousands of families. And we believe its great and increasing popularity is fully merited—for the Novelty evidently possesses all the requisites of a first-class, practical machine. Indeed, after using one for many months in our own family, we are prepared to indorse the Novelty as unsurpassed (the launderess says unequaled) by any of the several wringers previously tried.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

CAMP-MEETING NOTES.—Singing is one of the important features of a Camp-meeting. In connection with the public services at the stand, in all the social meetings, and often in the course of the day and evening in the tents, about as much time is passed in this as in any one thing.

Dinner is an important hour. On the days of great attendance, one needs only to see hundreds crowding up to the victualing tent, almost running over each other, each anxious to get in immediately, and then many outside gazing through the bars at those eating, to see the perfection of ill-manners; and not unfrequently a lack of good breeding appears inside, in that there is fast eating of great quantities, plateful after plateful being eagerly devoured.

The assembly on the Sabbath was very large, although not so great as on Thursday. Sermon in the forenoon by Rev. C. A. Plummer of Maine. The subject was, the reasons for attaching great importance to faith. The reasons were plain, strong, and well discussed. In the afternoon Rev. D. C. Babcock of Nashua preached. A year ago last Spring he was among the foremost in favor of a Prohibitory party in politics. I was with him one day, when he said if that Party should result in the defeat of the Republican Party he did not care; but in the last caucus his brother Pike was nominated; then, as in the fable, it was his ox that was like to be gored, and that altered the case. He opposed the Prohibitory Party's making any nomination. J. F.

THE N. Y. TRIBUNE says the first positive action against the Tammany ring will be made in the supreme court chambers before Judge George G. Barnard. It is understood that application will be made for an injunction restraining the controller and others—first, from collecting the taxes; second, from issuing any more bonds of the city and county; third, from transferring any more real estate. Other points will probably be involved and the suit receive additional importance from side issues, but unquestionably the most important step yet taken against the ring will be developed in this initial effort at legal inquiry into the frauds which have been exposed.

POLITICAL.

Governor Leslie of Kentucky was inaugurated Tuesday. Judge Robertson, the chief justice, administered the oath, and immediately after resigned his office.

The reports from the Wyoming election are very meagre, but it is thought the result will show a republican gain.

The Wilmington (Delaware) city election shows a handsome republican gain of 650, throwing the democratic city council overboard.

THE BOSTON AND CHICAGO Base Ball clubs played a remarkable game at Boston on Tuesday. The Chicagos scored 1 run in each of the first three innings, and the Bostons made 6 on the fifth inning—the game at the close standing 6 to 3, in favor of the Red Stockings. Boston is jubilant in consequence.

FOUR of the female incendiaries of the Paris Commune have been sentenced to suffer death, one to imprisonment in a fortress and one to ten years' solitary imprisonment.

A PARTY OF VIGILANTES in Bloomfield, Mo., on Sunday drove an outlaw named Hanna into a house whence his friends fired, killing four of the attacking party.

PHILIP RUPERT was shot dead and two other men were wounded in a fight at a republican meeting at Chico, Cal., on Saturday night.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.

This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

THE ROAR OF CANNONS!

Across the Atlantic affects not Uncle Samuel. He attends to his toilet as usual. Spying a few gray hairs on his venerable caput, what does he do? He resorts at once to the only article of its kind in the wide world, which is at the same time SAFE and PERFECT, in other words, to

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

guaranteed harmless by Professor CHILTON and other distinguished chemists, and the most popular dye in America, because it imparts the most natural shades of color with the greatest certainty and in the shortest space of time. This famous article has

SPIKED THE GUNS

of all its would-be rivals, and is now master of the situation. As a dressing after dyeing, use

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But those are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is
Refreshing, cool and mellow!
You require, my boy, some filling out,
You're thin, and meagre-looking;
Lager would give you the proper size.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE FIREMEN'S MUSTER.

Tuesday evening, at sunset, a fog rolled in from the sea and excited apprehensions of a wet day for the muster and a "damper" for the clam-bake; but Wednesday morning was clear and bright, the early part of the forenoon warm and the latter part warmer, and by the time the firemen began to form in column by divisions of companies, many suffering mortals emphatically declared that the day was hot. But there was not enough wind to raise a dust, and all things considered it would be hard work to manufacture a day better suited for the occasion then was nesday.

The grand Muster of the firemen fairly commenced on Tuesday evening, with the arrival of the Independent No. 2, of North Providence, R. I.; the advent of the first visiting company being signalized by a torchlight procession of the Portsmouth Department. During the night many engines arrived by the various freight trains, and among others the Deluge No. 3, of Bath, Me., with a company of 60 men and a band. This company formed ranks and marched through the principal streets, rousing many sleepers at the unaccustomed hour of 3 o'clock, A. M. As they passed our office we observed that the firemen were marching in perfect order and as steadily as though an admiring crowd witnessed their movements, while the judiciously-selected music of the band—a smooth march in which the corset carried the burden half through, when it was taken up by the full band—rang out on the still night air with most beautiful effect. Shortly afterward the tune was changed to "When we were marching through Georgia," which was equally well rendered; and we heard many complimentary remarks, Wednesday morning, concerning the fine music of the then unknown performers. That band's leader knows how to select appropriate pieces for a night march, and the members can perform his selections creditably.

In obedience to the order of Mayor Fernald, who personally visited the liquor saloons on Tuesday evening, nearly all of the most respectable dealers closed their bars. Others who failed to obey the order, will it is said be promptly prosecuted after the muster is over. When the order was first issued but few supporters of the Mayor could be found—the extreme temperance men deeming it an impracticable measure and that the closing of the bars should have been decided on and announced at an earlier date, or not at all. Dealers openly declared that they would sell intoxicating drinks openly, and there were general apprehensions of difficulty. The Mayor assumed the responsibility without consulting the Aldermen, who were said to be unanimously opposed to interdicting the sale of liquors. Ale was not included in the list of liquors the sale of which was prohibited. The action of the Mayor shows one thing every conclusively, and that is that he is a man of pluck.

At sunrise, engines (both steamers and hand tubs) and hose carriages could be seen drawn up at the sides of the streets in almost every direction, with anxious members of their respective companies, in bright uniforms, engaged in polishing a bit of brass work here or wiping off mud or dust there, that the machine might make a creditable appearance in the grand procession. Each train brought other engines and companies, and by nine o'clock a large crowd of holiday-makers had gathered near the mammoth victualing shed on Court Street, (to which the visiting companies were conducted as they arrived,) to hear the music and see the sights; while the streets throughout the city showed more life, in the large numbers of well dressed pedestrians with eager anticipation expressed on their faces, than we usually see even on the Glorious Fourth.

Owing to the delay in the arrival of the two extra trains from Boston, the procession was not formed until half past 3 o'clock. The delayed trains brought 2500 firemen, (arrivinghere at 2.10 and 2.20,) after which the visitors were collated. The signal for the march was given at 5 minutes before 4 o'clock. Among the notables in the procession we noticed Gov. Weston and Staff, Mayor Fernald and the City Government. The procession passed the Academy in 27 1-2 minutes, being about two miles in extent. There were 28 Bands on the march, 14 drum corps and 70 companies. A number of engines delayed on the way here did not arrive in season to be placed in position. Crowds waited patiently at all street corners to see the imposing display, and filled every available nook on the sidewalk and the streets. The fine music by the bands surfeited the most ardent lover of sweet sounds. The firemen as a body showed a marked improvement over those of the olden time, being fittiug representatives of what the true firemen should be, intelligent, and manly and inspiring the respect of the vast number of persons who critically watched their conduct. The thousands of visitors who arrived by rail were increased by vast multitudes from the interior in all conceivable varieties of conveyances. The crowd in attendance, we estimate at about 20,000. We give the

A favorite feature of the procession was a drum corps consisting of ten fifes, three tenor drums and one bass drum.

On account of the lateness of the hour it was found necessary to shorten the route of the procession considerably, and at half past 5 o'clock the march commenced across the pontoon bridge to Peirce's Island. It was a scene long to be remembered. The long stream of firemen and bands clad in colors of red, white and blue seemed almost endless. The bands kept up their music on the main land and on the Island, while the various companies were filing to their respective encampments, and when they broke ranks, cheer upon cheer resounded through the air, hats and caps sailed aloft and a series of grand and lofty tumbling ensued which were ludicrous to behold.

The clam-bake was ready and waiting, smoking hot; and it needed no second word of command to send the eager visitors to the immense heaps where lay piled 300 bushels clams, 1300 lobsters, 6000 ears of corn and 25 barrels of sweet potatoes. The canvass covering the dainties was quickly tugged away from the edge of the beds and buckets were speedily filled. Then men rushed frantically about for lemonade and their share of the 1300 lbs. of pilot bread, 500 loaves of brown bread, 250 lbs. of butter, 90 gallons of pickles and 80 gallons vinegar.

At this time the scene was a gay one, and the scenery beautiful. The grand view of the river and harbor, the sunset casting a rosy hue over the assemblage and the music satisfied all; the delay was forgotten and the first day was pronounced a grand success. Some 6000 people helped themselves to the clams which were done to a T and were got away with with a relish. Twenty per cent. of the bake was either wasted or left — and as darkness gathered apace, the bands and thousands of visitors again returned to the main land.

A remarkable feature of the day was the almost perfect order which prevailed. We saw but comparatively few persons drunk and heard of no quarrels—although there were many who vented their enthusiasm noisily. Many of the oyster saloons closed early, and more than one citizen who had complained at Mayor Fernald's order closing the bars, felt thankful that they were relieved from danger of riot, which whiskey so easily encourages.

During the evening and far into the night the streets were thronged by restless thousands on a tour of inspection, and the various bands seemed engaged in serenading as long as they could breathe at the rate of the number of miles an hour necessary to force music out of the cart-wheel bugles they carried over their shoulders. At midnight, the moon was heartily welcomed and made the night more passable to those who wished not to sleep but prefered to roam.

We noticed Messrs. Walter Dignam and Chas. H. Tompson among the splendid corps of musicians who accompanied the Concord Band and that creditable company, the Kearsarge.

Several Companies arrived too late to take part in the procession, and their names do not appear.

The grand Band Concert comes off this (Thursday) morning, at 8 o'clock, when 500 musicians under direction of Mr. Harlow, leader of the Marine Band, will perform the following programme:

1, Quickstep—Prince Fredrick Carl: Bilse. [This composition is better known as the "Peace Jubilee Quickstep," from its having been performed at that great musical festival.]

2, Freedom's Perfect Land; M. Keller. [This is considered to be Keller's finest production, and is adjudged by leading musicians to be worthy of adoption as the American National Air, a movement to effect that end being now on foot.]

3, N. C. O. Quickstep: Wm. Rietzel.

4, Hail Columbia.

The concert will be given in the vacant lot near the Universalist church, and we advise all who wish to enjoy it to perfection to take position on the slope on the other side of the Millpond.

The playing to-day is to be done through 250 feet of Metropolitan Rubber Lined Linen 2 1-2 inch Hose—seamless. It is furnished by Melendy, Dexter & Co., of Boston. The Salem Steamer has had 50 feet of this Hose in use for a year, next the engine, and it is still in good condition. Chief Engineer P. H. Raymond of the Cambridge Fire Department recommends it highly and states that it is superior to any tubular hose he has yet seen and thinks it should be generally adopted for fire purposes. He tested it under a pressure of more than 200 pounds to the square inch, and prefers it for general service to all other hose in use on the ground of its economy and convenience. The Cambridge Fire Department has it in use.

Mr. Andrew J. McIntire has tested the steam guages of the various engines.

At half past 8 o'clock, the competing engines will form in procession on Middle Street and proceed to Wibird Street, where the competition will take place for the possession of the following

PRIZES.

One Prize of $100, for the best horizontal play with a steam pressure not exceeding one hundred pounds, for first-class steamers.

One Prize of $150, for the best horizontal play with a steam pressure not exceeding one hundred pounds, for second-class steamers.

One Prize of $100, for the second best horizontal play with a steam pressure not to exceed one hundred pounds, for second-class steamers.

One Prize of $100, for the best horizontal play of hand engines, without reference to size of cylinder.

One Prize of $50, for the second-best play of hand engines without reference to size of cylinder.

Each engine will be allowed ten minutes to make necessary preparations.

The companies comprising the Portsmouth Fire Department will not contend for the prizes.

PLAYING RULES.

Each engine to draft its own water and play through 200 feet of leading hose, and through such pipe and nozzle as they may select.

Five minutes will be allowed each company after setting their engine, and their best stream within that time shall be measured by the judges.

Two minutes will be allowed each company to replace each length of bursted hose.

Each company may choose a judge to assist at its trial only.

Officers of companies must see that their engines are all ready when their number is called by the judges.

Hose will be furnished for the trial, free to all.

No person will be allowed inside the lines at the trial, except those officers conducting it.

Decision of the Judges will not be made public until the close of the trial, when Prizes will be awarded.

The Engines will play in the following order:

THE HAVERHILL CORNET BAND, Rufus Williams, Leader, were the guests of Mr. William Chandler, at his residence on High Street, Wednesday evening, and after giving a concert of nearly an hour's duration, much to the delight of the thousands who gathered to hear it, proceeded to Mr. Chandler's establishment, the Custom House Exchange, which was clothed in darkness, and played several tunes in honor of the proprietor who was the first to close his doors in obedience to the order of the Mayor. Not one drop of liquor has been sold or given to any person on the premises since.

The Band next gave us a serenade that warmed the hearts of all the Chronicle employees, who are desirous of tendering their thanks for the compliment, as we claim it to be, for the Haverhill Cornet Band is one of the best in New England, and its accomplished Leader showed his brilliancy of execution in a series of variations that drew the hearty plaudits of the enthusiastic listeners, followed by a rousing round of cheers for the Portsmouth firemen and the Portsmouth citizens generally.

STEAMER STAMFORD, Capt. Pearce, will make three excursions to the shoals to-day, leaving Rollins Wharf at 11 o'clock A. M. and 2 and 7 P. M. A full band of music will be on board. Fare for the day trip, 50 cts. each way; for the evening, 50 cts. for the round trip.

A MEETING of the Piscataqua Agricultural Society will be held at the office of the President, on Market Street, Saturday evening, 9th inst.

DON'T FORGET the Escort's Excursion to Portland on Friday,—fare one dollar.

Morning Chronicle.

THE TWO POLITICIANS.—On a raw, foggy night, recently, two Hoboken politicians reeled out of Meehan's Hole-in-the-Wall, near the City Hall. One was a burly, near-sighted man, encased in a heavy overcoat with fur gloves on his hands. The other was a sinewy, active man, and, although his head was full, he kept his balance on his pins, while his arms were as stiff and rigid as ball clubs.

"Steady, now, Bob," said the slim man, as the heavy weight clung to his arm on their way across Washington street.

"All right, Jack; easy's the word. But I say' old boy, that last round of brown stout has made me rather blind and staggery.

As they turned down Second towards Bloomfield, the declivity proved almost too much for them.

"Careful, my boy; steady on the left; united we stand, divided we fall, easy now, Bob."

"Easy 'tis, Jack; slack up a little as we round the corner, my tulip."

At this juncture the double-deck load was too much for Jack; while staggering round the corner, they seperated, Bob clinging to the reliable old pump, the handle of which he grasped firmly in his gloved hands. (Since the water famine, the pump has been kept filled to the spout.) Bending over the handle, Bob ejaculated:

"Come, Jack, straighten up a bit, old boy, at the same time raising the handle. Down went the handle again, with Bob clinging to it, and out gushed about half a gallon of water.

"That's right, Jack," said Bob, throwing one arm around the pump thinking he was supporting his friend, "throw it up, my boy: you'll feel better after it."

—The Charitan (Iowa) Patriot says: "We learn that some days ago Mr. J. Allen, residing in Washington township, went to the stable after nightfall to feed his team. He proceeded to a barrel to get some corn, and while stooping to do so he felt something strike him on the nose. He paid no attention to the matter, however, thinking that some of the men on the farm had thrown something at him in jest. He fed his team and started for the house, his nose having become by this time very painful, and he experiencing strange sensations throughout his system. Becoming alarmed, he stated what had happened, and fell senseless. On looking about the corn barrel after a light had been procured, a rattlesnake was found coiled up in or near the barrel, and there was no longer any doubt that Mr. Allen had been bitten by it. A man whose name we are sorry we could not learn, fearing that medical aid could not be procured in time to be of any avail, and having heard that the poison of snake bite could be extracted by the application of the lips to the wound and sucking of the blood, he resolved on this dangerous operation. He succeeded in extracting the poison from Mr. Allen's wound with no evil results, save a slight feeling of sickness, which soon passed away. Mr. Allen we learn has entirely recovered.

—We give the particulars of what was reported to be the death of a man from the effects of a fall. A man named McDonald, a wagon-maker at Shepardsville, and who lived on the opposite side of Salt River, started to walk across the bridge at that point, which is very high, with a rock bottom beneath. In crossing the bridge he stumbled and fell between the ties, but fortunately managed to grasp the tie with his hands, and there hung dangling with one hundred feet of sheer fall beneath him. He was utterly unable to regain the top of the bridge, and hung with a death grasp until his cries brought assistance from the end of the bridge. They lifted him from his perilous position and led him off the bridge. Upon reaching the shore he sat down for a few moments, and seemed somewhat overcome by the terrible danger through which he had passed. When asked if he was hurt he replied that his leg was hurt a little, and that he would go home and put some liniment on it. He got up, walked a few steps, and fell to the ground and expired. It was first reported that he died from the effects of injuries to his breast received in the fall, but such it seems, is not the case. The physicians, who carefully examined the body, say that there was no bruise or wound sufficient to disable him, much less cause death, and are of opinion that his death was caused by sheer fright.—Louisville Ledger.

A SWISS DAVID.—Not long since a Swiss shepherd boy, fourteen years old, was tending a flock of sheep among the hills in the canton Grisons, when a bear made a raid upon the flock and seized two of the finest sheep. The courageous little fellow attempted to drive the bear off by beating him with a stick, but brute turned upon him, and he was forced to run for his life. The bear was gaining rapidly upon him, and there was seemingly no escape. Suddenly the lad bethought himself of a narrow ravine, three hundred feet deep, close by, across which he thought he could leap, while he hoped the bear would not notice it and fall to the bottom. Dashing on, half wild with excitement and dread, he reached the edge of the precipice, the bear close at his heels. The chasm was upward of six feet wide, but the lad cleared it by a desperate bound, and landed safely on the opposite side. The bear, as he hoped, did not see the ravine, and fell headlong to the bottom, where, bruised and bleeding, and unable to rise, the shepherd lad found him, and having no weapon with him, succeeded in killing the animal by dashing out his brains with heavy stones.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY!

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs. 1yrdaw6|b|d

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

—IF SO, USE THE—

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT.

It is Cheaper, Handsomer and more durable than the best of other Paints. One Thousand Gallons of it were sold in this City, in the year 1870, and not one complaint has come from those who have used it; but all speak in its favor; it is mixed ready for application, and is much easier put on than any other Paint, making a smooth, glossy surface for years, that can be cleaned with hot suds without injuring it. It is excellent for walls inside, in the place of paper.

I shall keep this season a large stock of Chemical Paints of all shades on hand, to accommodate customers with any amount, without delay in ordering it. Those who want to use the Chemical Paints and have found them misrepresented by those who deal in Lead and Oil, are invited to call and examine my Paints that have been on Buildings two years, and you will find them as fresh as if laid but one month.

I am prepared to do Painting by Contract, or by the day, using the Chemical Paint, or furnishing good experienced workmen by the day at reasonable wages. B. NORTON, only Agent for selling the PEEPING AT THE GIRLS.—A short time ago a few Cincinnatians were on a hunting trip in Indiana. One night they found it convenient to put up at a small country tavern, where the accommodations were rather limited—so much so as to compel them all to bunk in one moderate sized room next to the roof. This being the best they could do, they accepted the conditions without much murmuring, being effectually tired out with their day's tramp, and retired early after supper.

About 10 o'clock they were awakened out of a sound slumber by great gayety and laughter proceeding from the room adjoining, occupied by the landlord's three buxom daughters. It was evident that, as they were retiring for the night, they were having a high old frolic.

The hunters were all young men, and it was very tantalizing to have so much "gal" fun going on with only a door intervening. At length one of the hunters whispered to the others:

"See here, boys, there's a knot-hole in the door, and we can see all that's going on. Heaps of fun there, you bet."

They all looked, and sure enough there was a good-sized knot-hole, showing the light within the room to be very bright indeed. A bold hunter crept cautiously out of bed and applied his eye to the knot-hole, but was astonished to see it disappear. Then stepping back a pace or two there was the knot-hole again.

"What did you see?" inquired one of the hunters, who was in bed, with eager curiosity.

"Didn't see anything," was the reply; "they either took the hole away or plugged it up."

Then another hunter tried it with like effect. As he stooped to take a glance at unconscious maidenhood on a frolic the knot-hole disappared again. All hands become greatly puzzled, until one of them cried out:

"See there, boys; look at the roof!"

They looked, and the mystery was solved. There was a knot-hole in the board roofing through which the moon was shining, the light falling upon the door so as to produce the delusion described. The hunters slept better after the discovery.

—A Woonsocket inebriate was thrown uninjured from the track by a cowcatcher, but continued to doze, unconscious of the shock.

SCIENTIFIC AND POPULAR MEDICAL WORKS

—ON—

MANHOOD, WOMANHOOD AND NERVOUS DISEASES,

PUBLISHED BY THE

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston,

(Opposite Revere House.)

DR. W. H. PARKER, Assistant Physician.

Medical knowledge for everybody. 250,000 copies sold in two years.

A Book for every Man.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. A Medical Treatise on the Cause and Cure of Enhanced Vitality, Premature Decline in Man, Nervous and Physical Debility, Hypochondria, and all other diseases arising from the Errors of Youth, or the Indiscretions or Excesses of maturer years. This is indeed a book for every man. Price only $1.00. 235 pages, bound in cloth, gilt back and side.

A Book for Every Woman.

Entitled SEXUAL PHYSIOLOGY OF WOMAN, AND HER DISEASES; or, WOMAN CLEARED OF PHYSIOLOGICALLY ABSTRUSE OBSCURITY, from INSANOUS OR EXCESSIVE or MARITAL SUFFERING. Illustrative Engravings. 300 pages, bound in beautiful French cloth. Price $1.00, or two books for $1.50.

A Book for Every Man.

Flattered by the reception of, and great demand for, the above valuable and popular books, and also to meet a great want of the present age, the author has just published a few book, treating exclusively of NERVOUS AND MENTAL DISEASES. 150 pp. Sent free, in a sealed envelope, or SENT FREE on receipt of $1.00 for the other two books, postage paid.

These are, beyond all comparison, the most extraordinary works on Physiology ever published. There is nothing else like them. Every Married or Single, of Either Sex, Married or Single, Married or wish to know, but what is usually explained, and many matters of the most important and interesting character are introduced which should be known, even can be found in any other work in our language. All the New Discoveries in the medical science, whose experience is such as to be of great benefit to the lot of any human being, are fully. No person should be without these valuable books.

"VALUABLE BOOKS.—We have received the valuable medical works, published by the Peabody Medical Institute. These books are of actual merit, and should find a place in every intelligent family. They are not the cheap order of abominable trash, published by irresponsible parties, and purchased to gratify coarse tastes, but are written by a responsible professional gentleman of eminence, as a source of information on vital matters, concerning which a culpable ignorance exists. The important subjects treated are treated with delicacy, ability, and care, and, as an appendix, many useful hints are given on the prevailing complaints are added. Republican, Lancaster, N. H., Nov. 24, 1870.

"The author of these books is one of the most learned and popular physicians of the day, and is entitled to the gratitude of the race for these invaluable productions. He seems to be his aim to induce men and women to shun the cause of those diseases to which they are subject, and he tells them just how to do it."—Chronicle, Farmington, N. H.

Either book will be sent on receipt of price.

N. B. The author of the above-named medical works is the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, and is so constantly employed in consultation with invalids from all parts of the country, that he has no time to attend to private practice details. Therefore all letters should be addressed to the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, and they will be sure to reach the Author, and his Business Partner, who is not the Author himself, but who is well versed on all diseases requiring skill in the profession.

VERMONT DIVISION

OF THE

PORTLAND & OGDENSBURG

TRUNK R. R. LINE.

We urge upon capitalists and all having money to invest, the most careful investigation of these securities, believing them to combine more safety and profit than any Railroad Bond now in the market. The Portland and Ogdensburg Railroad line will be the shortest route by more than fifty miles from the Lakes to the Atlantic.

The Road will have local business enough to pay all its running expenses and to insure the prompt and regular payment of interest on its small bonded debt. It will be the greatest pleasure thoroughfare in the Eastern States, uniting by the shortest route Saratoga and Lakes George and Champlain with the White Mountains, Lakes Memphremagog and Willoughby, Mount Mansfield and the celebrated Mineral Springs of Northern Vermont.

The Road is under the management of some of the most experienced, successful, and widely-known business men in the country, who will insist upon the closest economy and honesty in the administration of its affairs.

The managers of the Road have themselves invested largely in its capital stock, the cash subscriptions being nearly sufficient to complete the Road ready for iron, (thus showing their appreciation of the importance and value of this enterprise.) For convenience of investors the bonds (coupon or registered) are of the following denominations:—

$1000, $500, and $100,

and the interest, six per cent. gold, is payable semi-annually in Boston on the 1st of May and 1st of November. These bonds are offered, until further notice, at 90, and accrued interest in currency.

The above list includes all machines that are commonly called the first class machines, but the

NEW FAMILY SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Has proved itself the best for all classes and kinds of operators and work.

All that persons need to do to satisfy themselves of this fact is to enquire of those who have used them the most.

They Hem, Braid, Tuck, Quilt, Cord, Embroider, Fringes, Ruffle, Fell, Puff, Gather, Fagot, Trim, Bind.

They are light running, easy to learn and keep in order and durability unsurpassed.

They will stitch equally well the heaviest beaver or the thinnest muslin, in fact they will do every work that mechanical skill has yet perfected in the Sewing art.

The celebrated Machines are Sold for Cash or on the instalment principle, to suit the convenience of the purchaser, at the Regular Agency for Portsmouth, Kittery, York, Eliot, Newburyport, Rye, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Greenland and Seabrook.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. These near and dear to them, and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted

Dr. JOSEPH H. SCHENCK'S SIMPLE TREATMENT,

and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faithful the world has made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is so simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-asserting, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. In nine cases in ten, the consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are expected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now properly performed, and its premonitory features. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is soon to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no cracking of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indigenous herb to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to fasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gleborings it prepares them for expectoration, and lot in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten tissue that it occupied is removed and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be avoided or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the full and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well—take exercise, do what they can with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To dispute of other and much evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, is to be certainly in error; others, is similar. Dr. Schenck's personal statement of the result of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and was given up by physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public; they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would cough up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in health ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only forty-five pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed unintermitted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Philadelphia. At his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the medicines may be to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other recommendations than the simple instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of morning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When the appetite is good, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good food at once follows, the sound refreshing the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these natural symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation: while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylactic against consumption, if not as a cure. Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50, a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All models required by Agency to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"Regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JURUBEBA

IT IS NOT A PHYSIC—It is NOT what is popularly called a BITTERS, nor is it intended as such. IT IS A SOUTH AMERICAN plant that has been used for many years by the medical faculty of those countries with wonderful efficacy as a POWERFUL ALTERATIVE and UNEQUALLED PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD and is a Sure and Perfect Remedy for all Diseases of the

LIVER AND SPLEEN, ENLARGEMENT OR OBSTRUCTION OF INTESTINES, URINARY, UTERINE OR ABDOMINAL ORGANS, POVERTY OR A WANT OF BLOOD, INTERMITTENT OR REMITTENT FEVERS, INFLAMMATION OF THE LIVER, DROPSY, SLUGGISH CIRCULATION OF THE BLOOD, ABCESSES, TUMORS, JAUNDICE, SCROFULA, DYSPEPSIA, AGUE AND FEVER, OR THEIR CONCOMITANTS.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

is offered to the public as a great invigorator and remedy for all impurities of the blood, or for organic weakness with their attendant evils. For the foregoing complaints is confidently recommended to every family as a household remedy, and should be freely taken in all derangements of the system; it gives health, vigor and tone to all the vital forces, and animates and fortifies all weak and lymphatic temperaments. 4w s5

JURUBEBA

THE NOVELTY CLOTHES WRINGER.

Nothing, except the Sewing Machine, has ever been invented which so much relieves the labor of the household as the Wringer. But its usefulness does not end here. The saving of clothing is of much greater importance. It is often remarked that articles of fine texture, last twice as long when wrung in a Wringer as when wrung by hand. The NOVELTY has Cog-wheels on both ends. * * The rolls are allowed to separate at either end. These, besides other advantages which it contains, seem to be indispensable to a practical wringer.—New York Independent.

The Novelty Wringer has become an indispensable institution in thousands of families. And we believe its great and increasing popularity is fully merited—for the Novelty evidently possesses all the requisites of a first-class, practical machine. Indeed, after using one for many months in our own family, we are prepared to indorse the Novelty as unsurpassed (the hundred dress says unequalled,) by any of the several wringers previously tried.—Moore's Rural New Yorker, Rochester.

PSYCHOMANCY is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by HERBERT HAMILTON, B. A., giving full instruction in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become a Mesmerist or Writing Medium; Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of omens and Dreams, Brigham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchants, Lawyers, Physicians, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. Price by mail, in cloth, $1.25; paper covers, $1; for sale J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO., and CLAXES, RENSES & CO., Phila. Agents wanted for this book. Medical Works, Perfumery, Jewelry, &c. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1871.

GREAT REPUBLICAN VICTORY!

CALIFORNIA REDEEMED.

The California State election is claimed by both parties. The vote is close and not very full. The city officers in San Francisco are divided between the two parties, the democrats having the larger share. About one-fourth of the negro vote went for the democrats.

LATER.

Booth, Republican, carries San Francisco by 1000 majority. The Democratic city ticket is defeated. Booth's majority in the State is between 2000 and 3000. At the last election, the Democratic majority was 7987.

POLITICAL.

The democratic candidate for governor of Iowa has begun his stump speaking. The contest in New Jersey between the Walsh and Kilpatrick factions waxes warm.

The republicans claim the election in Wyoming as a victory. They have two majority in the senate and the democrats a majority of two in the house.

Washburn and Doolittle, the republican and democratic candidates for governor of Wisconsin, have agreed to have a joint discussion of the questions of the day in each congressional district.

TAMMANY.—The Boston Advertiser has a despatch from New York, in which it is said that "public expectations, in regard to the action of John Foley against the ring, the initial step in which was to have been taken in the supreme court before Judge Barnard, was disappointed. Many persons attended the court to await the issue of the application, but word was brought that Judge Barnard was ill and could not hear the application. The announcement of his illness provoked various comments in the courtroom and city hall. It was generally thought that the ring was sicker than the judge, and the adjournment of the court was really a manœuvre on the part of the ring to give time to recover from the surprise they experienced on learning the tactics which their enemy proposed to play in making the first determined assault. 'To delay hearing this cause at once,' remarked a professional gentleman, 'will be the ruin of Barnard and all who advise him. No legal chicanery which defers this action will be submitted to by the people; it will injure Tammany and the democratic party in the country irretrievably.' The general feeling among the Tammany officials about the court-house in regard to the expected proceedings of Mr. Foley is contemptuous, and others than partisans look upon them as useless.

JUDGE BARNARD of New York city has issued an order restraining the city from issuing bonds and taking out of their hands to a large extent control over the disbursement of the city funds. It is considered a death blow to the Tammany Ring.

DEXTER'S TIME BEATEN.—The race at Cold Spring, Wis., Sept. 6, between Goldsmith Maid and Lucy, was one of the most remarkable in trotting annals, Goldsmith Maid making the fastest single heat and also the best three heats on record. The race was witnessed by about 4000 persons, who were fairly carried away with excitement. Time—2:20 1-2, 2:17, 2:20 1-4. In the second heat the watches of the Judges didn't agree, one making it 2:16 1-2, another 2:16 3-4 and another 2:17. The last time was adopted to dispel any doubts which might result from complication.

THE SECOND DAY of the New England Agricultural Fair at Lowell was a very successful one. Over fifteen thousand people were on the grounds. There were two races in the afternoon, and a farmer's meeting in Jackson Hall in the evening. The Fair closes to-day.

THE GLOBE WOOLEN MILLS in Utica, New York, were burned Wednesday involving a loss of a quarter of a million and throwing 330 hands out of employment.

A MERCHANT of Mississippi has been committed to jail without bail for refusing to give the name, title and objects of a secret organization to which he belonged.

STEAMER LEADER, from Dantzic to Amsterdam, has been wrecked. Twenty-five lives were lost.

SIXTY-NINE LIVES have been lost by an explosion in a coal mine in Lancashire, England.

THE LOUISIANA GOVERNORS do not seem capable of governing themselves. During the absence of Governor Warmouth, Lieutenant and Acting Governor Dunn pardoned a convict and notified the governor of his action. A spicy correspondence ensued. The Governor disapproves of the action of the Lieutenant Governor in taking charge of the executive office, repudiates his acts, and continues:

"Harry Hewes, whose pardoned you inform me you have granted, will be immediately re-arrested and committed until the sentence imposed upon him by the court is carried out, your interposition being regarded as wholly uncalled for."

Lieutenant Governor Dunn replying says:

"In the future, as in the past, I shall fearlessly assume and conscientiously perform the duties devolving upon me under the constitution. The ordinary courtesies that obtain among gentlemen and State officials should have induced you always to have notified me of your intended absence from the State, but your neglect in this particular, while very damaging to you as a gentleman, in no sort relieves me from the obligations imposed upon me by the constitution in your absence, nor invalidates any act performed by me as Acting Governor. Harry Hewes, in my judgment, has been legally pardoned. If your Excellency will not consider it officious to express an opinion, I would respectfully suggest that you are acting outside of the constitution and laws whenever you attempt without additional offences to deprive him of his liberty, and such an attempt on your part will justly subject you to rebuke from the sovereign people of Louisiana. In conclusion permit me respectfully to decline accepting your Excellency as my exemplar either in modesty, courtesy, propriety, or official duty."

The legislative committee of New Hampshire visited the Merrimack county almshouse at North Boscawen, Wednesday, and found the sleeping accommodations deplorably insufficient, the farm a barren tract of land, and the cemetery a Potter's field.

MEXICANS attacked bark Harvest Home off the bar of Santa Anna on August 27, and on the same night the bark Brothers was captured.

THE HALLENBECK MINE at Wilkesbarre, Penn., was abandoned on Saturday, and caved in the same day.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The most astonishing cure of chronic diarrhœa we ever heard of is of Wm. Clark, Frankfort Mills, Waldon Co., Me.; the facts are attested by Ezra Treat, Upton Treat, and M. A. Merrill, either of whom might be addressed for particulars. Mr. Clark was cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Hon. Joseph Farewell, Mayor of Rockland, Me., Isaac M. Bragg, Esq., Bangor, and Messrs. Pope Bros., Machias, Me., lumber merchants, fully endorsed the Sheridan Cavalry Condition Powders, and have given the proprietors liberty to use their names in recommending them.

BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE.
This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces IMMEDIATELY a splendid Black or Natural Brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, and beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all Druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, N.Y.

THE ROAR OF CANNONS!
Across the Atlantic affects not Uncle Samuel. He attends to his toilet as usual. Spying a few gray hairs on his venerable caput, what does he do? He resorts at once to the only article of its kind in the wide world, which is at the same time SAFE and PERFECT, in other words to
Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,
guaranteed harmless by Professor CHILTON and other distinguished chemists, and the most popular dye in America, because it imparts the most natural shades of color with the greatest certainty and in the shortest space of time. This famous article has
SPIKED THE GUNS
of all its would-be rivals, and is now master of the situation. As a dressing after dyeing, use
CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE

Wilted Down.
Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to sustain his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of indigestion. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All the types of biliousness yield to its persistent use. It is a regulating medicine of the highest order; and its effect upon the secretions, when irregular, is most salutary.

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors, who recommend under the name of "Bitters," fiery compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label name and stamp, and sold in bottles only.

A PLACE FOR THE LEAN!
Say, old boy, where shall we meet?
Why, at Garrety's, on Daniel Street,
He's such a jolly fellow;
His LAGER is always fresh and prime,
It never wants a "head" and is

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

THE FIREMEN'S MUSTER.

Thursday morning was clear and cool, and the firemen were astir early. When they left Peirce's Island they made a bonfire of the tables and the refuse of the camp and marched off by the light of it, but they left many clams untouched. The concert by the combined bands came off between 9 and 10 o'clock, A. M., and was not up to general expectation, although those who did take part brought out some fine music. Many of the bands were marching about the city during the time, and a fresh northwest breeze prevented a distinct hearing by many who had selected western and southern locations at which to listen. The usual amount of jealousy that had been displayed among the musicians also detracted from the pleasure of the occasion. The concert attracted an audience of several thousand people, who did not fail to respond by liberal applause.

At its conclusion, a grand rush was made to the vicinity of Lincoln Hill where the trials of engines was to come off—the various companies and engines being already in line. Spectators to the number of about 10,000 assembled to witness the trial, which commenced at 10 minutes before 10 o'clock and continued until after 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The multitude were packed in closely to the place of trial, (Wibird Street,) and many of them had their curiosity rewarded by frequent wetting down. The engines were drawn up in line according to their respective numbers and the line extended from Wibird though Hawthorn and Union Streets to Cabot. The adjoining fields were occupied by ladies and gentlemen and teams—the whole presenting a lively and beautiful sight.

The arrangements for playing were very good. Near the upper end of Wibird street two plank tanks had been sunk on opposite sides of the street—that for the steamers on the left, having a capacity of 2600 gallons, and that on the right for the hand-engines a capacity of 1560 gallons. The tanks were each filled with water from Marston's pond, situated back over the hill 1400 feet away, steam engine Dearborn being used to force the water over the slight rise near the pond. Two hundred feet from the engines were placed the wooden platforms for the hose-men, and further on, at an appropriate distance, were on either side the long horizontal platforms of boards, by playing on which the length of the streams could be accurately measured.

The following were the judges for steamers:

A. F. Thurston, Joseph H. Glines, John Walsh, Jr., S. S. Fletcher, James Ayers, and A. J. McIntire.

For Hand Engines—Francis W. Ham, Edward J. Moulton, Andrew J. Langdon, Ira C. Seymour, W. J. Sampson and Willard Sears.

We append a list of the 46 engines competing, and distance played by each.

The three winning steamers are all from the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, of Manchester; as are also the two next highest on the list, giving this make five best steamers. Of the two hand tub winners, the first is a Hunneman machine, and the second a Jeffers tub.

It will be noticed that the best play was made by the Eben Simpson of Biddeford, a 2d class Steamer.

The 1st prize of $100 for best 1st class Steamer was awarded to the City of Haverhill; the 1st prize of $150 for 2d class Steamers was award to Eben Simpson of Biddeford, and the 2d prize of $50 was awarded to Steamer E. A.
